Tammany Boss Saves Leadership; Walker Withdraws as a Candidate

HOLD OFFICE YEAR

Understood Walker Will Be Candidate for Office in Elections in 1933

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Surrogate John P. O'Brien is the Democratic nominee for mayor of New York—handpicked by bosses of Tammany Hall who lead 23,000 district leaders through all the motions of a nominating convention in Madison Square Garden, palace of make believe.

The nomination meant:

That John P. O'Brien, Tammany boss, had saved his leadership by a desperate move, which called for throwing James J. Walker overboard as a candidate, although Walker released the bosses from any promise to renominate him for the good of the party.

That efforts to renominate Walker for a "vindication" election were doomed, at least for one year: O'Brien probably will face only a Republican candidate November 8.

That Acting Mayor Joseph V. McVee, who succeeded Walker when the latter resigned under fire, probably will return to his old position as president of the board of aldermen after January 1—at least until November, 1933.

O'Brien was nominated "in accordance with the letter of the law" which required among other things, calling the roll of the 23,000 district delegates representing the Democratic voters in the five boroughs of New York City.

Most of the delegates were packed into the great sports and show palace last night, ignorant of what was to come, some ignorant of what had gone before. O'Brien sat in a box, where he "just happened in" and remained to be a spectator—or with his acceptance speech in his pocket.

Curry let it be known before the roll call was completed that he "thought" the nominee would be

MEDICAL EXAMINER CALLED BY DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Dr. Burt S. Stevens, 52, noted San Francisco surgeon and member of the state board of medical examiners, died at St. Francis hospital today after all resources of medical science had been invoked to save him.

His respiratory muscles paralyzed after a throat infection.

Dr. Stevens graduated from Northwestern university's medical school in 1908 and had been practicing here since 1911. He was formerly a member of Stanford university's medical faculty, was on the staff of St. Francis hospital and was an appointee of Governor Rolph to the state medical board.

HOOVER CLAIMS NATION'S FATE UP TO WOMEN

President Broadcasts From Cabinet Room; Appeals for Support

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(UP)—President Hoover, in an address to the women of the country today declared that the fate of the United States rests in their hands.

The President, speaking in a broadcast from the cabinet room, said the issues of the campaign will affect men and women equally and that women in some fields would have even a wider interest than men in the issues at stake.

The chief executive stressed the equality of women with men in all phases of the nation's life and declared that in some issues "you take a larger view than many of the men."

He said "Courage, high hope and faith builded the America of yesterday," and that these qualities would be required on Nov. 8 to build "the greater America of tomorrow."

Mr. Hoover told the women that the three great tasks before the nation are:

1. The fight on the depression must be carried on over a long front.
2. Correction of economic weaknesses and wrongs and protection in the future against their recurrence.
3. Advancement of a policy protecting the nation's social structure for a wider opportunity and assuring securing of the home.

The president declared that women would be voting on all these issues. He said that a century from now there would still be an America, but that the sort of America it will be "depends on you women at this crucial moment."

The president stressed equality among men and women, pointed out that some 10,000,000 women were working, and urged them to go to the polls in support of the administration on election day.

His address included a brief recapitulation of the trials through which the country has gone in the last three years and the part which the administration under his guidance has taken in seeking to solve unemployment and distress.

STATE OF OKLAHOMA WINS OVER MINERS

McALESTER, Okla., Oct. 7.—(UP)—The state of Oklahoma held the first victory today in a campaign against striking union coal miners.

A plan of the strikers to fill the state penitentiary and every regional jail with prisoners in the hope that picket lines then would not be molested was foiled by prompt court action.

More than 100 miners who had been arrested for picketing the Little Bolen shaft were taken from the state penitentiary late yesterday and arraigned before peace justice A. C. Sewell.

The men were charged with violating a district court injunction forbidding massed picketing. Practically all made bonds of $250 each.

MILLS CARRIES HIS FIGHT TO OAKLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills carried his campaign for the re-election of President Hoover to Oakland today after warning San Francisco voters that adoption of democratic principles would delay business recovery.

Speaking before a crowd that broke into applause at inopportune moments, Mills last night attacked the tariff policy advocated by Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic nominee, in his speech here two weeks ago.

When Mills mentioned Governor Roosevelt's tariff policy, his 3000 listeners broke into applause.

"I'm glad to see so many Democrats here; it gives me a chance to convert them," he smilingly commented.

MARTIN INSULL OCCUPIES JAIL IN BARRIE, ONT.

Once Powerful Multi-millionaire Surrenders on Larceny Charge

BARRIE, Ont., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Martin J. Insull, once powerful Chicago multi-millionaire and operating chief of the two-billion dollar Insull Utilities, occupied a jail today with vagrants, bootleggers and petty robbers.

He was held as a fugitive from justice awaiting extradition to Chicago on charge of embezzlement and larceny. Insull, a weary old man, surrendered to authorities at 9:30 p. m. last night, on advice of counsel.

After a pre-arranged meeting at the home of Judge Dudley Holmes, of Simcoe county, Insull was taken to the Barrie jail, an old fortress, known to the half-world as a "tough" place. He must remain there for at least eight days, the judge ruled in convening a court in the front parlor of his home.

Judge Holmes set hearing for Oct. 14. If extradition papers have not arrived by that time, Insull will be remanded to jail for another eight days.

Just 25 minutes after the court order was handed down, Insull entered a small barren cell on the second floor of the Barrie jail—the same floor from which a condemned man was taken to the gallows last year.

Insull's cell contains a cot with a thin mattress, no linen, and a pail for washing. Prisoners are forbidden to smoke or possess tobacco.

PRISON GUARDS FACING CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY

Will Be Arraigned Today in Connection With Plot to Bomb

DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Two Jackson prison guards, two long term convicts, and the sweetheart of one of the prisoners were charged today on charges of conspiracy to escape growing out of the bomb plot designed to effect a wholesale prison delivery at the Michigan state prison.

Prosecutor Harry S. Toy said he would request warrants for Archie C. French and Kenneth Watson, guards; Edward Cross and James Hall, alias Overstreet, the inmates, and Agnes Schoonmaker, 27, sweetheart of Hall, arraigning the five before Judge Leo Schaffer this morning.

GARRISON MAY QUIT PUBLIC WORKS POST

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Possibility of the resignation of Col. Walter E. Garrison, director of the state department of public works, and James L. Herz, his deputy director, was expressed in a conference today following a conference between Governor Rolph and the two officials.

The governor, just returned from a tour of the Mother Lode district, was frankly aroused over action of the public works department in permitting one of its employees, Grant Merrill of Woodford, to take a three months leave of absence from duty so that he might run as an independent candidate for state senator in the ninth district against A. L. Perovich of Jackson, whom the governor regards as friendly to his administration.

FALL JUBILEE AIDS BUSINESS IN SANTA ANA

Merchants Report Definite Increase in First Day of Big Festival

"SUCCESS" HAS already been stamped on the Santa Ana Merchants Fall Buying Jubilee and merchants of the city today were making plans to take the biggest crowd and the biggest day in the way of business the city has seen for some time on the final day of the jubilee tomorrow.

Merchants reported a definite increase in their business during the first day and part of the second day of the first sales event sponsored by the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce. Several of the larger stores were forced to hire from three to four more clerks to care for the added business.

Large crowds were on the street last night and today, as well as yesterday, testifying to the drawing power of the features of the jubilee and the values offered by local merchants.

One of the most attractive features of the jubilee will be the public wedding which will be staged on the stage of the Fox Broadway theater at 8:45 o'clock tonight when Judge Kenneth E. Morrison unites Miss Fern Schorle and Lester Bots Santa Ana couple, in marriage. Lew Fountain, theater, is in charge of arrangements for the wedding. A list of gift orders from local merchants will be read during the ceremony. Previous to the wedding march which will be played on the pipe organ in the theater. Kenneth Workman will sing "I

TEMPTATION CASE TO RESUME NEXT WEEK

SAN JOSE, Cal., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Efforts to have George D. Templeton Jr., 20-year-old ex-collegian, declared insane by the same jury that yesterday found him guilty of murdering his wealthy aunt, will be resumed next week.

The defendant was driven insane when he heard his mother criticize his father for the family's financial difficulties, causing him to stab to death Mrs. William Rider Babcock and seriously wound her husband, his attorneys contended. Babcock was his father's former partner in a Manila exporting business.

After the jury of seven women and five men heard the youth's mother tell the story of his life at the opening of the sanity hearing late yesterday, Judge R. R. Syer adjourned court.

Two Bandits Are Foiled In Robbery

Driver Fails to Carry His Cash for First Time in Many Months

TWO UNMASKED bandits held up H. L. Letsett, truck driver for the California Dairies here, near Culver's Corner, on Highway No. 101, at 2:30 a. m. today, but because Letsett had a premonition that he was going to be robbed, the bandits failed to get even a dollar.

Letsett reported to the police that he was returning from Laguna Beach. Ordinarily he carries a sum of money with him, payments for products which he returns to the local office. But last night, before leaving Laguna Beach he mailed the money into the office and when the holdup occurred, there was no money with him.

The bandits operated in a sedan, driving alongside his truck as he was coming back to Santa Ana. One of the men hopped from the sedan to the back of the truck and pulling a pistol, ordered Letsett to pull to the side of the road and stop.

After complying, the other bandit came to the car and the two ransacked Letsett's pockets.

"Where is the money you generally carry back to Santa Ana?" one of the men asked.

"I had an idea I was going to be stuck up, so I mailed it in," Letsett answered.

Convinced that he was telling the truth, the bandits told him to proceed on his way. Both bandits were courteous throughout the holdup, Letsett said. Both were well dressed and both cool in their operations.

Letsett saved the company's money because on the night before when he returned to the company's plant here, and was coming out the money, he noticed two men loitering around the place. Due to the lateness of the hour and their actions, he became suspicious, finally deciding that he probably would be held up.

He took up the case with the police yesterday and figuring the holdup would take place at the company's plant, when Letsett returned from Laguna Beach, two police officers were stationed there all night. The holdup occurring before the plant was reached frustrated the police plans to make the capture.

Stands Next to Mayor; Pocket Picked

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(UP)—While standing within three feet of Mayor John C. Porter, and surrounded by high city officials and police, Herman H. Breit, president of the Cahuenga Chamber of Commerce, had his pocket picked of $50, he told police today.

Breit, with Mayor Porter and others, was attending dedication ceremonies of the Van Nuys city hall.

"I was surrounded by high officials, and stood not three feet from the mayor," said Breit. "Consequently I have no suspects."

It was recalled that Mayor Porter has refused to attend motion picture premieres because his pocket was picked the last time he attended such an affair.

R. F. C. LOANS IN AUGUST TOTAL 111 MILLIONS

Clerk of House Gives Out Figures Over Protest of Chairman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(UP)—New reconstruction finance corporation loans aggregating $111,596,613.90 were authorized in August, it was revealed today in the report of the corporation made public by Clerk of the House South Trimble.

Previously authorized loans were increased during August by $10,681,010, the report said, making an aggregate of $122,277,643.90.

The report was made public by Trimble over protest of the finance corporation, Chairman Atlee Pomerene of the corporation on Sept. 23 protested to Trimble that publication was interfering with operation of the relief project and should be stopped.

Trimble issued a printed statement explaining his position and saying "the corporation has protested my recent action permitting inspection of their first monthly reports by letter of its chairman, Honorable Atlee Pomerene, submitting a brief by their general counsel, Norton G. Bode."

"The law does not give me any discretion to withhold these reports," Trimble concluded.

ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP U. S. SOLON'S SON

DETROIT, Oct. 7.—(UP)—An attempt to kidnap the 12-year-old son of Congressman Clarence J. McLeod was revealed last night as police ordered a search for two negroes who broke into McLeod's home and overpowered the maid, searching for the boy.

Doretha Stinson, the maid, was alone at the home yesterday when she received a telephone call from a man who threatened to kidnap the boy. Within a few minutes the negroes appeared and forced their way into the home seizing the maid to prevent an outcry. The woman fainted from fright. She was found lying unconscious upon the floor by Mrs. McLeod on her return from a shopping trip.

A hurried police search disclosed that Clarence Jr. had stopped enroute home from school to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Posselt.

CONTEST ON ESTATE IS LAUNCHED TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(UP)—A contest over the $210,000 estate of the late Mrs. Nellie M. Bilhorn, of Chicago, was filed in superior court today by her brother, George B. McCaughna.

Mrs. Bilhorn died May 25. In a will dated six days before her death, she left the bulk of the estate to her husband, Peter M. Bilhorn, but provided that two brothers, George and John B. McCaughna should hold interest in Los Angeles property. A previous will, dated 25 years ago, left everything to her husband. The latter will is under attack.

BANK DEBITS ARE BOOSTED OVER AUGUST

Employment Up 19 Percent Over Preceding Month According to Survey

GOOD FALL SEASON

Nation-wide Conditions Are Encouraging; Light Industries Most Active

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—Tangible proof of the upward swing of business comes with the reports of major commercial and industrial activities, many of which show gains over preceding months that indicate progress.

Building permits increased 69 per cent over the August figure; postal receipts showed a small gain, entirely due, doubtless, to increase of rates. Bank deposits increased over August, contrary to last year, when September fell below August. Stock exchange transactions were lower than in August.

Employment stepped up 19.3 points over August and is 9 points higher than September a year ago. This reflected general activity in most major groups, of which motion pictures is outstanding, with large productions underway. Apparel, millinery and furniture are enjoying good fall seasons, with local factories busy and volume of business very satisfactory.

Retail and wholesale trade showed a slight increase in August over July.

Agricultural conditions kept steady, in spite of some falling off of market prices. Water commerce showed a general up-trend.

Conditions in reporting western states are generally steady with most sections feeling slight improvement in business and encouragement over the employment, agricultural and livestock conditions.

Nation-wide conditions are encouraging, more because they indicate that business is holding its own rather than that there is any marked improvement in the indicators.

Among these negative improvements is the fact that carloadings, while below last year, show a smaller rate of decline; electrical consumption is closer to last year's rate than for many months; steel operations have shown an increase as compared with a decrease at this time in 1931.

Bank demand deposits show a very satisfactory increase, when a

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 7.—(To the Editor of The Register: I been flying, train-riding, automobilizing, horseback and buggy riding over Texas for thirty-three years and I've never seen a tenth of it. The lakes of Switzerland would be buffalo wallows in Texas. It is located between Mexico and the United States to keep Mexico from annexing the United States. It's so far to town that the cowboys started in to vote for "Teddy" and arrived in time to register for "Franklin." Its "Valhalla" is the town of Uvalde, its pope is John Nance Garner. Its sole industry is internal politics. It's so big that no one Governor can handle it; they have to have a man and his wife. It's the only State where a Republican has to have a passport to enter.

year ago they were still on the to-bogean. Although the total is over a billion dollars below 1931, the trend is upward. Similarly bank investments have shown an increase in the past few weeks, more than half of which has been in other than Government securities.

Perhaps the most favorable sign is to be found in the pronounced pick-up in activity in the light industries. Textiles and wearing apparel have shown greater activity than for two years past. It is the theory of economists that this increase in the manufacture of necessities is the first step in economic recovery, to be followed by improvement in the basic industrial lines.

Foreign conditions are much brighter as indicated by a general rise in commodity prices, increased confidence in the American gold standard, as evidenced by a return flow of gold from European centers, and the success of the British Empire in refunding its ten million dollar war loan.

WALKER LOSES CHANCE TO RUN FOR OLD POST

O'Brien. A reporter questioned O'Brien. He knew nothing about it. Another questioned him:

"How long's your acceptance speech?"

"About four minutes."

A few moments later, the majority choice of his party, stood up with friends for pictures, and when asked for comment, replied:

"This has come to me so suddenly, I can't say a thing."

And a few moments later:

"I suppose I'll have to carry on."

Walker, threatened with ouster in removal hearings before Governor Roosevelt, had resigned "to seek vindication."

Curry had promised Walker his chance for "vindication." He proceeded to oppose Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith at Albany in the fight over the gubernatorial nomination given Herbert H. Lehman. A fight for Walker appeared destined to dethrone Curry at Tammany Hall, which is dependent upon its 120,000 city jobs. It would have been politically expedient to forget Walker, if those jobs were threatened.

Last night, the radiogram message was read to the assembled representatives of the Democratic party from the playboy, Broadway Jimmie Walker, en route to America on the Europa:

"I can not see how I could campaign without rectifying the reasons for my resignation and without doing the public of the hearing conducted by the governor of our state."

"This in my opinion would do the Democratic party no good."

"I am not one of those who thinks he is bigger than his party."

Rather than jeopardize the hopes of democracy in the nation which I feel my candidacy might do, I request that my name be withheld from the convention and this decision is based solely upon my willingness to put the interests of the party above my personal desires."

Walker, aboard ship, had said that he received a message from Curry and John H. McCooey, Brooklyn boss and ally of Tammany, asking:

"Will you accept the nomination for mayor?"

In another personal radiogram to Curry, Walker had referred to his own "extremely poor physical condition" and said "I know you will consider desirable names."

Walker thus was pictured as sacrificing his rights to "vindication" to the greater good of his national party.

Skeptics, long conversant with Tammany Hall history, drew another picture.

Curry, the skeptic said, had ordered Walker to resign when it became apparent he would be ousted, to save Tammany Hall. He promised the "vindication" with Walker's poor health the hole card ace.

A drizzling rain last night. They had obtained the warrant for the arrest from the supreme court of Ontario late in the afternoon.

Arriving here, Hampton immediately delivered the warrant to Provincial District Inspector J. H. Putnam. The Canadian officer joined the Americans in a secret conference.

Several hours later came the word for Hampton to go to Judge Holmes' home, the secret rendezvous arranged by Insull's attorneys. He and Sergeant Blaise drove to the designated place immediately.

The house was dark, shuttered and silent. Repeated ringing of the doorbell brought no response, then, after a wait of several minutes, the judge appeared. Long nosed, bald and dressed in a drab lounging robe, the judge immediately took charge of the situation. He refused admittance to several newspapermen who had followed the official car.

"I'm running this show," he snapped when asked if he had the legal right to close a public hearing to the press.

Insull was within. Others in the group were J. C. McRuer, councillor; S. S. Miller of Toronto, one of Insull's attorneys; Jack Boys of Barrie, another Insull lawyer; Mr. and Mrs. Barker of Highland Park, Ill., friends of the Insulls; Hampton and Blaise.

The warrant was read quickly when Insull appeared, the court declared in order, and the decision made to remain Insull to jail pending extradition.

Then the small procession left the judge's house for the jail, five blocks distant.

Meanwhile, Cook county officials and the state of Illinois were busy trying to speed Insull's return to Chicago. The state formally requested Secretary of State Stimson for extradition. That procedure was duplicated for Samuel Insull, brother of Martin and also under indictment. The latter was in Paris for some time, but has not been reported seen since Wednesday morning when he and his son Samuel, Jr., left their Paris hotel secretly. Cables from Paris said the hotel manager was not expecting Insull to return. Mrs. Insull remained at the hotel with the family baggage. It was considered likely in Paris that he had gone either to Portugal or Luxembourg.

ATTACK ROOSEVELT IN OMAHA ADDRESS

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Vice President Charles Curtis attacked a statement of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt concerning the beginning of farm troubles in a campaign speech here last night.

Curtis said the nation's farm troubles, instead of starting under the Harding administration as charged by Roosevelt, began during the Wilson administration.

"Deflation of farmers really began in 1919 in the drastic, unreasonable deflation by the federal reserve board under direction of Woodrow Wilson," the vice president told a large crowd of listeners.

Picnics and Reunions

NOVA SCOTIA

The regular Nova Scotia picnic will be held all day tomorrow at Bixby park, Long Beach. It was announced today by the Nova Scotia society.

WESTMINSTER

Sixth grade boys of Westminster school played a game Tuesday with the boys of the Alamosa school. The local boys were defeated by a score of 15-8.

Mrs. Lily Price received word from members of her family who have gone north with a view of locating that they had stopped over at Oakdale, where they were visiting relatives. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stanley and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price and son.

STUDENTS REFUSE MILITARY TRAINING

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Refusal of two youths to take prescribed military training at University of Maryland, threatened today to precipitate a court fight.

Ennis Coale and Wayne Leese, the "conscientious objectors," planned to attend classes, despite the administration's announcement they would not be given credit. F. K. Hazzard, secretary to the president said instructors had been told to "ignore" the presence of the two students.

Love You Truly. The ceremony will be broadcast over KREG.

Early Show

Because of the time the wedding will consume, the regular show will start at 6:45 instead of 7 o'clock tonight. Doors will open at 6:30 p. m.

Three captures of the Mysterious Mr. Raffles had been made up until noon today. Mrs. A. A. Rice captured the elusive man yesterday morning. The second identification came when Bob Law, 315 South Birch street, caught Raffles in the act of making a purchase in the Vandermast store late yesterday afternoon.

The first capture today came when Jimmie Terrill, 312 West Walnut street, identified Raffles while he was making a purchase from the Lawrence tobacco stand on the corner of Birch and Fourth streets.

Music on Streets

D. C. Clafoni and a brass sextette provided the music in the streets of the city today for the Jubilee and Sol Gonzales and the Spanish Troubadours will be heard in a series of Spanish songs and instrumental selections. The same arrangement will be used tomorrow.

The famous Santa Ana American Legion drum and bugle corps will parade in the streets of the city tonight, bringing a note of martial music in the Jubilee celebration.

Store balloons bearing valuable certificates were released from the roofs of store buildings this morning and hundreds more will be sent into the air tomorrow morning, some of them to be retrieved at many distant points.

Proof that people are buying and the success of the Jubilee was evidenced last night in a peculiar manner. Merchants of the city had decided not to keep their stores open during the nights of the Jubilee. In the meantime, the Montgomery-Ward store had inadvertently advertised that their store would be open last night. Later, it was decided to close with the rest of the stores, so the store was closed at 6 p. m.

Around 7 o'clock the manager of the store, J. E. Madden, received a telephone call telling him he had better come down and open up the store as there were nearly 300 women waiting and wanting to get in the store. He rushed down to the store, opened the doors and 700 sales were made between 7 and 10 p. m.

Will Open New Silk Store Here

Charles Chamberlain, formerly silk and piece goods buyer for the Rankin Dry Goods company and late manager for the Santa Ana Dry Goods company, and Ernest Wostenkueller, of Avalon, Catalina Island, but formerly manager for the late E. S. Gilbert Dry Goods company here about five years ago, will open a quality silk and piece goods store at 303 North Main street in the room formerly occupied by the Shafer Music Co.

They expect to open Saturday, October 22, under the firm name of the Chamberlain company.

ed the others in the plot, will not be charged with conspiracy. Toy said, but will be used as a state's witness.

Complete details of the plot were disclosed at the investigation yesterday when Deputy Warden E. K. Riley told officials he had known of the escape plot for three weeks but had waited for the prisoners to make the first move. His information came from "stool pigeons" within the prison, he said.

"My information was that the convicts in the conspiracy planned to make their break when the men lined up in front of the twine plant to march for lunch. They were going to start by throwing dynamite bombs at the guards in the yard, then rush for the northeast corner of the wall," Riley said.

Riley pointed out that the wall was 25 feet high, 12 feet wide at the bottom and three at the top, and expressed the opinion that "a pound of dynamite would be sufficient to blast a hole in the wall."

With the hole in the wall offering an avenue of escape, Riley said, the prisoners were to rush away in an automobile planted outside the walls by the guard, French.

Police said the two guards made a complete confession late last night, blaming the need of money for their participation in the plot. They receive $110 a month at the prison.

R. F. C. LOANS IN AUGUST TOTAL 111 MILLIONS

tions made public today the aggregate of $122,277,641 was divided as follows:

The number of new loans totaled 110 and during the August period the corporation received 1151 loan applications. The corporation made $13,821,699 available for relief work during August.

Repayments to the corporation during the month of August totaled $8,241,799.47. The corporation allocated $10,000,000 during August to the secretary of agriculture.

The statement of loans authorized in August included:

Arizona—Phoenix, Valley Bank and Trust company, $250,000.

National bank, $75,000; Huntington Park, Huntington Park National bank, $10,000; Long Beach, Seaside National bank (receiver), $165,000, 5 per cent; Marysville, Decker-Jewett bank, $40,000; Madera, First National bank, $27,500; Pasadena, Citizens, Commercial, Trust and Savings bank, $225,000; Salinas, Monterey County Trust and Savings bank, $130,000; Santa Ana, Farmers and Merchants Savings bank, $84,000.

GOVERNMENT IN STUDY OF PLAN TO AID FARMER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(UP)—State and agriculture department officials, it was learned today, are studying possible ways of putting into effect the plan suggested by President Hoover at Des Moines to trade war debts for stimulated foreign markets for American farm products.

Many difficulties are seen. These arise out of the desire of farmers in the debtor nations to protect their own home markets and out of the almost certain protest of third countries should debtor nations give American products a preferred status.

Government economists suggested the following two ways in which such a trade might be carried out:

1—By an agreement under which a foreign country would reduce or remove its tariff on American farm products for a year in return for cancellation of its annual debt payment.

2—By agreement of a foreign government to subsidize American agricultural imports for a year. For example the British government might agree to pay to Lancaster Cotton mills 10 cents for each dollar's worth of cotton imported from the United States and credit this subsidy against the war debt.

Economists hold that the first type of agreement must necessarily cover more than one year or else confusion would result among importers and exporters because of shifting tariff rates.

Both types of agreements appear to be open to other difficulties. First, the domestic producer in a debtor country would object to any interference with his home market. Hence, it appears that any agreement would necessarily be confined to farm products which were not grown in the debtor country.

Even so, economists hold, third states having most favored nation commerce agreements with debtor countries would be apt to protest should the United States be given a more favored position.

To private economists it appears that the proposed arrangement for settling war debts would

GERMAN POLITICAL LEADER TO SPEAK

CLAREMONT, Oct. 7.—Dr. Julius Curtius, foreign minister of Germany from 1929 until last October, and leading statesman in world affairs, will discuss questions of German foreign and domestic policy in an address at Bridges auditorium, Claremont next Monday evening at 8 p. m. Only a few days following his address, Dr. Curtius will meet Secretary Stimson at Carnegie hall, New York, where both statesmen will speak on international affairs.

Dr. Curtius succeeded Dr. Stresemann as minister of foreign affairs, and had a large part in putting the Dawes and Young plans through the Reichstag. He also proposed the Customs Union between Germany and Austria, which was finally adversely decided by the World court.

The installation dinner of Santa Ana Junior College Engineering club as a unit of the American Association of Engineers will be held tonight in the Jaycee cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock. Installation ceremonies will be conducted by Frank Hogue, president of the Long Beach senior chapter, and W. O. Hogeborn, director of the fourth division of A. A. E., comprising the western states, will present the charter. Victor A. Endersby, prominent Los Angeles engineer, as the main speaker of the evening, will address the group on "The Engineer's Place in the Future." A number of prominent men have been invited to be the special guests of the engineers.

Local Briefs

Dedicated to Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Henderson, the first issue of the Willard Echo, junior high school publication, was distributed to members of the student body yesterday. The publication is issued every other Thursday.

Paul C. Whelan, 43, of Huntington Beach, and Alice B. Peterson, 35, of Long Beach, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

JUDGE DENIES DIVORCE; URGES RECONCILIATION

Because he believes that there is hope for a reconciliation, Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday refused to grant Mrs. Laura Cooper a decree of divorce from her husband, Wilbur Cooper, of Fullerton. Judge Allen, after pointing out their duty toward each other and to the three-year-old child of the couple, continued the case until January 13 with the expressed hope that "while they are purchasing presents for their child, the mother and father will reconcile their differences."

Mrs. Cooper sought a decree on the grounds of cruelty and alleged that her husband had treated her in a cold and indifferent manner, had slapped her on one occasion and refused to take her out to places of amusement. She also alleged that her husband remained away from home several nights each week.

Upon cross examination by A. L. Launer, attorney for her husband, Mrs. Cooper admitted that her husband is a member of the life saving crew of the Southern California Edison company and forced to practice with that group two or three nights each week and is a member of a club that requires attendance one night weekly.

In refusing to grant a decree of divorce yesterday Judge Allen said that in all his experience on the bench the case was a new experience. He said that both parties admitted their love for each other and for the child and he believed that with time for reflection a reconciliation was possible. Pending final disposition of the case custody of the child was awarded the mother with the father being permitted to have the baby every other week-end.

DELEGATIONS FROM OUTSIDE AT REVIVAL

Delegations from Long Beach Brethren church, the First Baptist church of Orange, the Christian church of Orange, the Methodist church of Wintersburg and the Calvary church of Santa Ana, filled two great sections of the tabernacle last night at the John Brown service. During the song service Mrs. John Candler, of Long Beach, sang a solo, and just before Evangelist Brown delivered his sermon the Rev. Frank Lindgren and his wife, of Santa Ana, sang a duet, "Drifting."

The text for the evangelist's sermon was taken from the fourth chapter of John, the story of the woman of Samaria at Jacob's well, and the speaker developed a most interesting sermon on "The Two Thirsts."

"There are two thirsts, one for the things of today, and a fine inquiry room service was held at the close of the sermon.

"CAPPY RICKS" TO OPEN PLAY SEASON

The Claremont Community Players announce "Cappy Ricks" as the opening play of the season. It will be presented two weeks end, October 7 and 8, and 14 and 15, with matinees on Saturdays. "Cappy Ricks" is the first play of a series of eight productions which will be given at the Little Theater during the 1932-33 season.

"Cappy Ricks" is a play adapted by Edward E. Ross, from the popular novel by Peter B. Kyne. Mary Bladell Harris, director of the Community Players, is in charge of the general production, while Fred Orin Harris, technical director of the Players, is designing and building the sets and organizing the stage crew.

POLICE NOTES

Paul Gregg, 30, service station operator at 422 South Claudina street, Anaheim, was arrested early today by Ed Marlon, constable of Anaheim township and lodged in the county jail. He is booked for non-support.

Mary Rodriguez, 29, of 2020 Maple street, Los Angeles, was arrested by the Anaheim police department at 2 a. m. today and booked at the county jail on a charge of possession of liquor and drunkenness.

Santiago Ramirez, 30, foreman of an orange packing plant, and who resides at Stanton, was arrested by sheriff's officers last night on a charge of simple assault. He is alleged to have threatened his wife.

Charles O'Malley, 40, a chicken picker, he told jailers was booked at the jail last night on a drunk charge. He was brought in by sheriff's officers.

2 Youths Confess Gasoline Stolen To Clean Clothes

When Noble DePriest, 19, and William Stokes, 21, determined that they would keep their clothes clean at any cost, they fled to reckon with the Orange police department, and as a result the two young men are serving 30-day sentences in the county jail.

DePriest and Stokes were arrested at the Orange city yard last night by Officer Homer Davis, who said they were stealing gasoline from cars parked there. In Judge Swayze's court this morning, the prisoners claimed that they had been living in a makeshift cabin in Santiago creek following their arrival from Missouri and wanted the gasoline in order to wash their clothes.

A police watch was established at the city yard following complaints that gasoline had been stolen from a number of machines there.

RALSTON MAKES STATEMENT ON MCKINNEY RACE

Pointing out that B. Z. McKinney, Democratic candidate for congress from the nineteenth district, is now recognized by dry forces of the district as their champion in the fight for retention of the eighteenth amendment and its enforcement acts, the Orange County Prohibition Board of Strategy, through Grover C. Ralston, secretary, today declared the dry vote will insure McKinney's election.

The Prohibition Board of Strategy for Southern California was first to endorse McKinney; next the Riverside County Board of Strategy and then the Orange County Board of Strategy added their endorsements to the Democratic candidate. The San Bernardino county board's endorsement is expected at any time, it is reported.

In line with these endorsements, dry organizations and church people through the district have gone to work for McKinney's election, as a non-partisan issue, with the result that thousands of registered Republicans will be brought into the McKinney column November 8, the board's statement predicted.

FINED $500 EACH ON LIQUOR COUNTS

Y. Uchida and J. Uchida, husband and wife, residents of Stanton, pleaded guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today and received heavy fines on liquor charges.

They were arrested several days ago in a countywide raid conducted by federal agents and the sheriff's office.

Y. Uchida was fined $500, of which he paid $250 and is to pay the balance on January 1, 1933, and his wife was given a six months jail sentence suspended on condition she pay a fine of $500, $250 of which was paid, the balance due on January 1.

Giannini Changes Time of S. A. Visit

Due to an unexpected change in his itinerary, A. P. Giannini, president of the Bank of America, will not be in Santa Ana today as previously planned. It was announced at the Santa Ana branch of the bank of America that the Giannini party had gone direct to the Imperial Valley to visit branch banks there and would visit the Santa Ana branch on the return trip which is scheduled for the early part of middle of next week.

Giannini is making a goodwill tour of all branch banks in the Bank of America system for the purpose of studying business conditions and to become better acquainted with the problems of the various branches.

FACULTY WILL AID STUDENT CHEST FUNDS

Faculty members at Santa Ana High school and Junior college will reserve 40 per cent of their 1932-33 donations for a student relief fund, and will contribute the other 60 per cent, or approximately $1600, to the community chest, D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school and president of the junior college, announced today.

Of the opinion that students desire opportunities to work rather than direct charity, the faculty, according to Hammond, must maintain a reserve fund to take care of "border-line" cases which it feels require immediate attention.

Under the present plan more than $1000 will be reserved to aid needy students, and at the same time an increase of $400 will be donated to the community chest, which received around $1150 last year.

The average high school and junior college student, Hammond believes, is so sensitive about asking for aid that he would rather go hungry before requesting donations. Through the relief fund, it is explained, a student feels that he can save his self-respect by working.

Numerous jobs were handled by the students during 1931-32.

PROPOSALS FOR RELIEF WORK ARE SUBMITTED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 7.—(UP)—The 1932 session of the California state legislature will not be without facts with which to attack the knotty problem of unemployment.

The state unemployment commission, headed by Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, has just completed a summary of testimony offered at a series of hearings throughout the state, in which more than 200 interested persons expressed their views on this subject.

"These included public officials, trade union officers, economists from several colleges and universities, business and professional men, and spokesmen of unemployed workers," says the publication.

Recommendations

Outstanding recommendations for unemployment prevention and relief were:

1. Reduce the hours of labor in order to distribute unemployment among a larger number of persons and give work to those displaced by labor-saving machines.

2. Adopt a planned program of public works to be released during periods of depression.

3. Establish some form of unemployment reserve and compensation to provide an incentive to industry to regularize employment and to furnish a substitute for present methods of relief giving.

4. Provide state aid to counties and municipalities for unemployment relief.

Of 78 persons who discussed unemployment insurance, 70 favored it in some form. Various systems were advocated by the speakers, contributory and non-contributory; separate reserves for individual plants, and pooled reserves for a group of plants and industries.

Proposals Made

Here are some of the various proposals for legislative action, which may or may not reach the 1933 legislature in the form of bills. Creating a state building fund to permit citizens to borrow for home building under conditions similar to those now granted ex-service men.

Extending the state labor camp program. Exemption from taxation for 10 years all private building construction started during the next three years, as a means of stimulating industry.

Creating a state economic council to assist in stabilizing employment.

Authorizing the department of industrial relations to promote the regularization of employment.

Prohibiting taking a fee from any person sent to a public construction job or public works. Requiring registration of all unemployed.

DEATH CALL EXPLANATION ANSWERED BY OF S. A. CHEST AUGUSTA BANGS WORK IS MADE

Mrs. Augusta Crane Bangs, 79, resident of Santa Ana and Orange county for the past 21 years, died at the home of her son near Anaheim yesterday after an extended illness.

Mrs. Bangs, with her late husband, had lived on a ranch where what is now Bishop and Orange avenues for 21 years until the last three years, when Mrs. Bangs had been living with her son.

She is survived by two children, Mrs. Louis B. Stearns, of Pauline, and Edward C. Bangs, of Anaheim; one sister, Mrs. Emma Maguire of Los Angeles, and one brother, Joseph M. Crane, of New York.

Funeral services will be held from the Harrell and Brown funeral home at 116 West Seventh street tomorrow at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church officiating. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

A clear-cut explanation of how the $53,000 sought in the Community Chest campaign will be used in relief and welfare work in Santa Ana, was made public today by W. J. Tway, chest president, in two charts which have been prepared and which are shown on this page, and in an explanation of the charts.

Of the total of $53,000 sought in the campaign, 52 per cent is being asked for immediate relief and welfare work. Thirty per cent of the entire fund, or $15,775 will go for the provision of food, shelter and other necessities of those who through lack of employment have been unable to provide for themselves and their families. Such welfare and relief as is being handled by agencies like the Salvation Army and Veterans Relief, have been allocated 22 per cent or $11,571.

Prevention and rehabilitation activities have been allowed 43 per cent of the total fund which is being raised through the chest. The work to be done in these fields is said to be of such a nature as to be an important factor in the entire community plan for social service and has a direct bearing on the present needs of Santa Ana people. The five per cent balance shown in the total goal is set up to cover all Community Chest year around operations and campaign expenses, and is approximately 40 per cent less than the costs for last year.

The agency and service chart brings out the manner in which social service agencies are working together through the co-operation with and coordination by the Community Chest, in an effort to provide for all of the main welfare needs at a minimum of cost and in a way to prevent duplication and overlapping, Tway said.

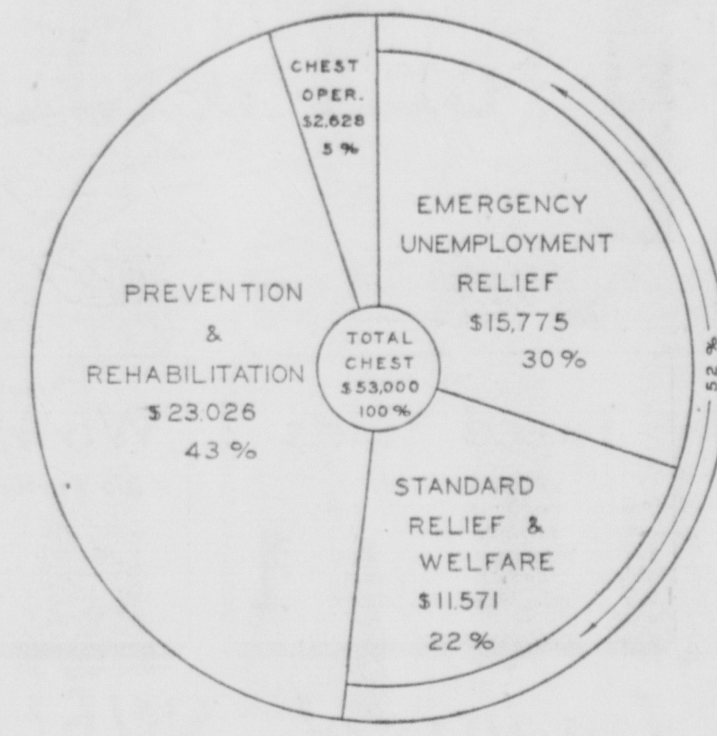

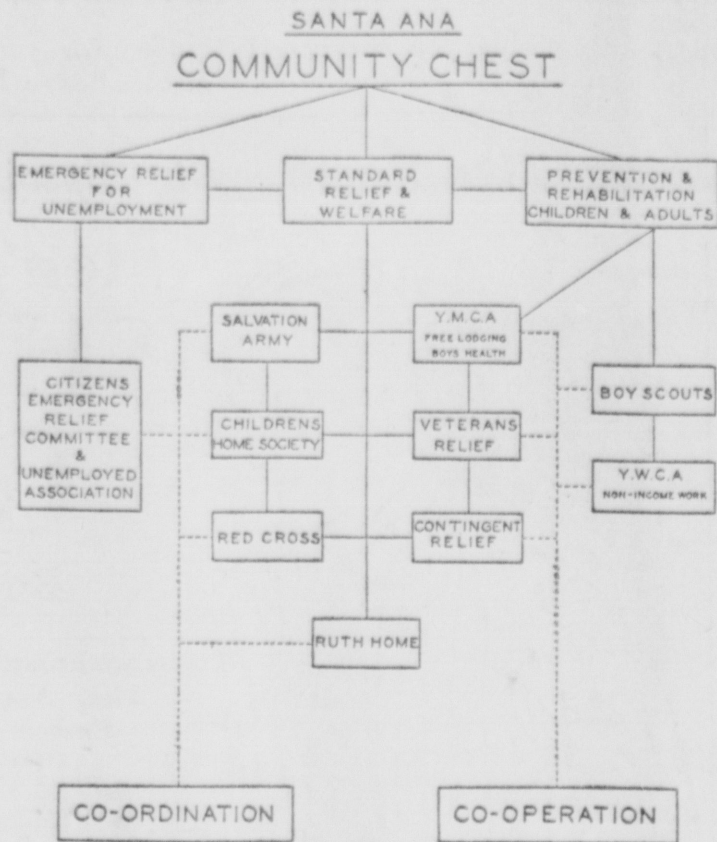

Welfare activities essential to the present needs here are grouped under three heads in the chart, for it is said that the proper way to determine the place of a given agency in the community is by the service being rendered rather than the name under which it operates.

The study of the work of the agencies for the last year and their programs for the coming months, shows that many of them are serving in more than one field and that all of them are fitting their activities into a well-rounded community program.

"A few years back it might have been difficult to picture the so-called character building agencies serving in the direct welfare field, but now it has become an accepted part of their function to help in this field in places where other agencies could not as well do the job," Tway said.

CHARTS SHOW CHEST WORK

The two charts below show in graphic form the purposes for which the welfare and relief funds raised in this year's Community Chest are to be used. They are based upon a budget and service study of the nine social service agencies and have been prepared through the courtesy of W. J. Tway. The round chart at the bottom shows how the money for relief and welfare will be expended.

ARREST MOTORIST ON LIQUOR CHARGE

After the car he was said to have been driving crashed into another machine, parked at the side of the street, Porfirio Soto, 33, of San Juan Capistrano, was arrested by City Officers C. V. Adams and J. W. Foster last night and lodged in the county jail, booked on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Amendment Texts To Be Sent Out

County Clerk J. M. Backs today received notice from the state bureau of printing that on October 4, 43,280 copies of proposed constitutional amendments that will appear on the ballot for the general election in November had been shipped to Orange county for distribution.

Backs said today that he expected the shipment to arrive in Santa Ana early next week and that a copy would be mailed to every registered voter along with the sample ballot. Copies of the amendments and discussion of both sides of each proposal also will be available at Backs' office.

The funeral service for the six months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Selphino Duran whose death occurred September 24, was held Monday from the home. Interment followed in the Huntington Beach cemetery.

FARM BUREAU MAKES READY FOR ELECTION

Directors of the Orange County Farm Bureau yesterday appointed a nominating committee to return suggestions as to candidates for officers and directors-at-large to be elected November 3. At the same time the board voted approval of a measure, reducing the number of directors-at-large from 10, as in the past, to six. The reduction will be effective this year.

The nominating committee as selected yesterday is: Holmes Bishop, Orange, chairman; R. J. McFadden, Placentia; J. J. Denny, Cypress; Leroy E. Lyons, Anaheim; and L. A. Bortz, Olive.

Because of the amount of work that his office handles, Executive Secretary R. D. Flaherty was instructed to resign from the secretaryship of all outside organizations with the exception of Region No. 1, state Farm Bureau. Flaherty is to retain secretaryship in that organization for as long as the chairman is selected from Orange county.

The Farm Bureau, through a formal resolution endorsed the request already made that the University of California conduct a study of marketing and distribution of oranges. This study will get underway within a short time according to expectations of the farm bureau directors.

Similar requests have been made by co-operative marketing organizations and other groups, outstanding of which was the request made at a meeting held here sometime ago when organizations controlling 95 per cent of the state crop was represented and joined in the request that such a study be made for the purpose of working out a feasible and permanent method for marketing California oranges.

The directors also endorsed the Amendment proposal No. 9, providing that the state finance the schools by a sales and income tax, and thus shift the burden from the counties. In addition to endorsing the proposal the board appointed a committee of three to secure speakers and carry on a campaign of publicity in behalf of the proposal. Members of the committee are, J. A. Smiley, chairman; N. M. Launer and E. E. Campbell.

MIDWAY CITY

In observance of the fourth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Sammy Joyce Taves, Mrs. Byron Taves invited in several neighbor children for refreshments of ice cream and cake Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Shell, who have resided in the B. B. Staker miller house on Van Buren street, for some time, have moved to Santa Ana, where they are to make their home with Mrs. Shell's mother.

Mrs. Perry Terry, former local resident, who recently underwent a major operation, is convalescing satisfactorily at the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Mrs. Gaylor has been ill this week.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Johnson, of Los Angeles, parents of Dr. Russell I. Johnson, were visitors in the Johnson home Tuesday evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson were dinner guests Tuesday evening in the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Young in Huntington Beach. They visited Fred Stout, of Huntington Beach, at the Orange County hospital Wednesday.

Charles A. Whitte, who has been confined to his home by illness for several days, was able to be up a while Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Whitacre, of Barber City, who some weeks ago rented the S. E. Davies house, have moved.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wright have returned from a two-day visit at San Diego, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dauphine, former Westminster residents.

and won't gain weight—

Try This!

The youngster who has no appetite, probably has stasis. A little syrup of figs will soon correct this condition—then watch the child eat—and gain!

Mothers should never coax a child to eat. Nature knows best. Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite—get rid of stasis. Children who don't eat are sluggish. Read what the "California treatment" is doing for sluggish, listless children in every part of the country!

A Pound a Week

Your child will eat well from the day and hour you conquer sluggishness. But that girl or boy with furry tongue and a bad breath should not be dosed with salts!

Begin tonight, with enough pure syrup of figs to cleanse the colon thoroughly. Less tomorrow, then every other day, or twice a week, until the appetite, digestion, weight, complexion, tell you the stasis is gone. When a cold or other ailment has again clogged the system, syrup of figs will soon set things right.

When appetite fails, tongue is coated, white, eyes are a bilious yellow, California syrup of figs will gently stimulate the colon muscles—and the child you used to coax to eat will fairly devour his food.

Just One IF—The claims made for California Syrup of Figs are true and it will do the same for you—IF you get genuine CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs. Don't accept any substitute.

NEW SCHOOL HEAD HONORED BY TEACHERS

With more than 300 teachers and guests present, a reception and banquet honoring Frank A. Henderson, new superintendent of Santa Ana schools, and Mrs. Henderson, was held last night at the Ebell clubhouse under the auspices of the Santa Ana City Teachers' league.

Mrs. Gladys Campbell, president of the league, headed the reception line and presided at the dinner.

During the dinner hour, officers of the organization and guests were introduced. These included Mrs. Jennie Tessmann, Robert Horn, Mrs. Margaretta Bolte, John A. Cranston, Miss Hubertine Kuenmann, new elementary school superintendent.

Cranston, former superintendent of schools, welcomed Henderson as the new superintendent and assured him of the loyalty of the teachers organization.

Henderson responded briefly, thanking the teachers for the honor. He called attention to the fact that he was in a school he was formerly associated with, which was "famous for friendliness." This motto is already being used in local schools, he said.

Miss Frances Corson gave a report of the N. E. A. 1932 convention, pointing out that the keynotes of the convention was the stressing of need for spiritual and inspirational instruction during these times.

The program which was presented following the dinner hour, included presentation of a group of vocal solos by Gladys Pugh, well known calatura soprano who was accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

The Olympic Eight, a group of male singers who also were accompanied by Miss Armstrong, were especially well received. The group sang six numbers. The personnel of the organization includes Alex Garroway, Will Gallienne, Fitz Gibbs, Henry Filer, Hugh Runkles, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, John Miller and Walter Vieira. Miss Armstrong is director of the newly organized singing organization.

Miss Hazel Nell Bemus was chairman of the committee on decorations and was assisted in arrangements for the function by the kindergarten teachers.

OLINDA

OLINDA, Oct. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Keith Ford, of Costa Mesa, and Mrs. Ford's mother, Mrs. Bert Ryan, spent the week end at Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolf's cabin at Lake Arrowhead.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Herbolt and Alfred Franz, also of Los Angeles, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Schubert and family.

SECOND SHIPMENT OF COTTON GOODS FOR NEEDY RECEIVED BY S. A. RED CROSS CHAPTER

The second shipment of cotton goods from the American Red Cross has been received for Santa Ana and the southern part of the county, it was learned today. The shipment consisted of 3438 yards of muslin.

The first shipment received here was 5000 yards of gingham. The first consignment of goods has already been distributed and distribution of the second shipment of goods was well under way today through the committee named by Terry E. Stephenson, chairman of the Santa Ana Red Cross chapter.

Used to alleviate the clothing requirements of the needy in the county, the goods received by the Santa Ana chapter are divided according to population among the other cities in the southern part of the county. The communities in the northern part of the county are cared for by the Anaheim and Fullerton chapters of the Red Cross.

Three other shipments are due to arrive in Santa Ana in the near future.

In line with the activities carried on for the distribution of cotton, the distribution of government flour through the American Red Cross and locally through the welfare department of the county, is still being carried on.

According to Byron V. Curry, director of welfare for the county, another two carloads of flour have been received here recently. Demands for the flour are increasing, he said, and he is fearful that the supply will not last for the allotted 90 days. Another requisition has been sent to the Red Cross headquarters for more flour.

The flour is issued to the needy of the county now instead of bread, effecting a saving on the amount of money needed to be expended by the county for relief purposes.

The number of new families applying for relief at the county welfare office has shown a decrease recently, Welfare Director Curry said today. He attributed this decrease to the active work of unemployed organizations in helping themselves.

Former Resident Called by Death

Joseph E. Kincaid, 45, a resident of Santa Ana until eight years ago when he moved with his family to Los Angeles, died in that city yesterday after an illness of two months duration. Masonic funeral services were held this afternoon in Hollywood.

He is survived by a brother, Charles W. Kincaid of Santa Ana, who is a member of the Spanish War Veterans and an officer in the Veterans of Foreign Wars. In addition, he is survived by his wife, Bernice Kincaid, one son, Harold and one daughter, Frances, all of Los Angeles, and a sister, Mrs. B. Rosenthal of Maricopa.

Equity Receiver Handles Affairs Of S. A. Concern

J. S. Hill and L. L. Carden, partners for many years in the operation of the Hill and Carden clothing stores here and in Pasadena, announced today that for a few months both stores will be operated under direction of D. I. Brosseau, business counselor, acting as receiver in equity.

According to the announcement, Brosseau was appointed to serve in this capacity while the two stores are undergoing readjustments made necessary because of economic conditions during the past year. No change in the operation or personnel of either the Santa Ana or Pasadena store is contemplated. J. E. Huff will remain at the Pasadena store and both Hill and Carden will remain at the Santa Ana establishment.

Previous negotiations whereby Carden would remain in Santa Ana and Hill take over operation of the Pasadena store have been cancelled as the partners deemed the change inadvisable at this time.

The partners said that Brosseau was appointed to protect the equities of all parties concerned in the business during the period of readjustment to changed conditions that is facing practically all business at present.

Magazine Poll On Election Shows Roosevelt Gains

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Roosevelt increased his lead over Hoover in the third week's returns of a presidential poll conducted by a weekly magazine, results of which were released today. Roosevelt gained a clear majority of the 798,089 ballots tabulated in the straw ballot.

Roosevelt now has 404,992 votes, or 50.75 per cent, and Hoover has 325,845 or 40.82 per cent of the total tabulated. Norman Thomas, the socialist candidate, is receiving 6.65 per cent of the ballots with the other five minor candidates dividing the balance of 1.78 per cent of the total vote.

Hoover is leading in the six states of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Rhode Island, which have a combined Electoral College vote of 54.

Roosevelt is leading in Alabama, California, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Mississippi, Montana, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, West Virginia and Wisconsin, which States poll 244 votes in the Electoral College.

Spanish Singers Tour County For Fiesta Del Oro

Romantic Spanish melodies sung by five girls in typical Spanish costumes and accompanied by a troubadour on a guitar, were heard in every city of Orange county today as a caravan advertising the first annual Fiesta del Oro, to be held Sunday at the Derby ranch west of Costa Mesa, toured the county.

The motored of four cars included a public address truck which made announcements concerning the event which will commemorate the period of hacienda days preceding the discovery of gold in California.

At the end of the procession, was make-shift to resemble a covered wagon. The third car was occupied by the Smith sisters of Costa Mesa, who will take part in the fiesta.

Sol Gonzales, director of the Spanish Troubadours, accompanied the cars which were brilliantly decorated in Spanish colors.

Raymer To Attend Taxation Meeting

George A. Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, is attending a meeting of the California State Chamber of Commerce which is in session today in the Hotel Alexandria in Los Angeles.

Legislative proposals designed to carry out the seven point taxation reduction program of the state organization will be discussed at the meeting.

The meeting was called by Justus F. Cramer, of Orange, chairman of the council.

Truck Driver In Jail for Speeding

Charged with speeding his truck in violation of the California motor vehicle act, Colley Perry, 22, truck driver of 2411 Allendale street, Los Angeles, was lodged in jail here late yesterday.

He was sentenced by Judge A. W. Swayze, of Orange, to serve 10 days when he could not pay a fine of $20 which was levied.

The man also is wanted in San Juan Capistrano township on a similar charge, members of the California highway patrol said.

ASKS $8441 FOR CRASH INJURIES

Damages totaling $8441.50 for injuries received in an automobile accident on Newport boulevard, June 28, last, were demanded in a suit filed in superior court by Marie C. Grady and Mary E. Coughlin. Mertie Bartholomew was named plaintiff in the suit.

According to the complaint Miss Grady was driving the automobile in which Miss Coughlin was a passenger. The car, the complaint alleges, approached the intersection of Newport boulevard and Mesa drive, and Miss Grady signalled to turn onto Mesa drive.

Bartholomew, according to the complaint, was driving at an excessive speed and attempted to pass the Grady automobile causing the cars to crash. Miss Grady received injuries to her left shoulder, neck fracture and internal injuries for which she is asking $5000 actual and $941.50 special damages.

Miss Coughlin received a concussion of the brain and numerous head and body injuries for which she is asking $2500 actual and $25 special damages.

Legion Cannon Moved To Honor Home

The Legion cannon, emblem of a new birth in the American Legion family, was moved again today.

This time it went to decorate the lawn of Allison Honer, well known Santa Ana builder, at 2415 French street.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Honer yesterday.

S. A. International Relations Group To Meet Tuesday

The Santa Ana Council of International Relations will meet next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Doris-Katherine Tea shop, 1330 North Main street.

Mrs. E. E. Smith of Anaheim, who travelled in Europe last summer with the Sherwood Eddy party, will address the meeting on "European Trends of 1932."

Anyone interested in international relations is urged to attend either the dinner at 6:30 or the general program starting at 7:15 o'clock.

POLICE ARREST MEN LOITERING BACK OF BANK

Three men, residents of Los Angeles, found loitering in the alley back of the First National bank building at Fourth and Main streets early this morning, were arrested by Santa Ana police officers and are being held in the county jail for investigation of grand theft.

The men gave the names of Michael Tometick, 22, Carl Gill, 19, and Robert Barnett Price, 24.

Police said they found a car in the men's possession, out of gas and that none of the three could identify himself as the owner of the vehicle. None had jobs or money. It was reported and they could not give a clear account of their actions, or why they were in Santa Ana.

They are being held today in jail pending an investigation the police department is conducting.

CROON TOGETHER AGAIN

With her Reno divorce trip all forgotten, Rudy Vallee, famous crooner, and his pretty bride, Fay Webb, have been reconciled.
Here you see them together in a Cleveland, O. hotel, shortly after they decided to give matrimony another chance.

Dinner Plans
Made by Guild

BREA, Oct. 7.—Brea Congregational church Woman's guild held a meeting Wednesday afternoon.
The treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Voorhees, reported pledges paid for the present month and a small balance on hand.

A hospitality and social committee, consisting of Mrs. Nettie Newley and Mrs. Robert Ross, was named.

Mrs. W. W. Hay, president, announced that Mrs. L. A. Hogue had presented the society a gas plate and Mrs. Nettie Negley had provided a table for same, making serving a large number of people easier.

It was voted to enter into the plan of Ray Roberts to display quilts in the store. Chairmen were appointed for the two fellowship dinners to be served by the members October 12 and 26.
Mrs. A. A. Voorhees and Mrs. Nettie Negley serving.

Plans were laid and committees appointed for the entertainment of Los Angeles delegates in Brea church October 18, when luncheon and dinner will be served to the visitors.

Elect Officers
Of Sunday School

WINTERSBURG, Oct. 7.—Officers of the Wintersburg Methodist Sunday school were elected Wednesday evening. Harry Letson, former assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, was elected superintendent, taking the place of Mrs. W. F. Slater, who has served for several terms. Paul Applebury was elected assistant superintendent.

A drive for the purpose of bringing the Sunday school attendance up to 200 was decided upon, each member of the school to be on the working committee. The present average attendance is 140.

Special meetings for the church before Christmas were voted and it is hoped to secure Rex Barr,
KREG speaker, to take charge.

Rush Threshing
In Talbert Area

TALBERT, Oct. 7.—Five threshing outfits are hurrying the lima bean harvest to completion in the Talbert vicinity and the last beans are expected to be in the warehouses by Monday.

An average of 15 sacks per acre is reported with 28 sacks per acre the highest yield. The threshers are working until late at night as the heavy fogs have kept the machines from operating until noon each day.
The beans are of very good quality this season, much better than last year, when the worms caused considerable damage.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Oct. 7.—Capt. and Mrs. R. M. Jacks, of Los Angeles, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. M. E. Peters, spent three days as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peters.

Mrs. J. W. James attended the "open house" at Orange County hospital Tuesday, going in company with a group from Garden Grove.

TALBERT LAND IS LEASED BY OIL COMPANY

TALBERT, Oct. 7.—The Boston Holding company has secured a number of lease options in the Talbert section, it was reported today. Loren Dale is representative of the company which wishes to secure 1000 or 1500 acres of land on oil leases.

Robert Glaser and Earl Lamb are understood to have signed options on 160 acres of local farm land.

The options, it is understood call for $5 per acre for the first year of the lease and $10 per acre rental fee per month for the second year of the lease.

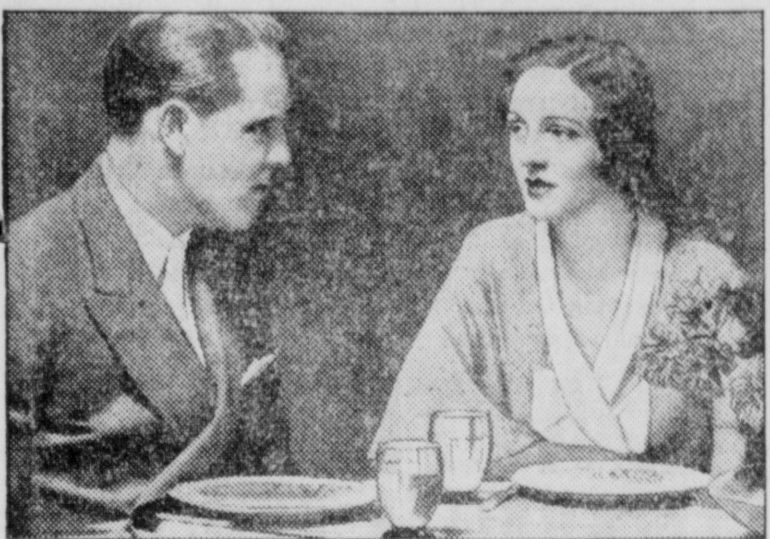

The Standard Oil company formerly held leases on much local land but wildcat projects failed to bring results and leases were turned back.

The company is seeking to lease water bearing land owned by the city of Newport Beach in this district, the proposition coming up at the council meeting this week. The city attorney was instructed to make a report on the matter at the next meeting.

Buys Interest In Seal Beach Paper

SEAL BEACH, Oct. 7.—Vernon Armstrong, publisher of the Seal Beach Wave and Post, a weekly, has sold a half interest to E. B. Deupree, former publisher of the San Juan Capistrano Coastline Dispatch. A linotype machine and other equipment from Capistrano has been moved to a location on Main street.

Get Rid of a Bad Headache in Few Minutes

Because of Quick Dissolving Property BAYER ASPIRIN Starts "Taking Hold" 3 or 4 Minutes After Taking

Due to important, scientific developments in the world-famous Bayer laboratories, almost INSTANT relief from headaches, neuralgia and rheumatic pains is being afforded millions.

Because of a unique process in making and tableting, Genuine Bayer Aspirin is made to dissolve almost INSTANTLY in the stomach. Hence it starts to work almost instantly. And thus "takes hold" of the average pain or headache in as little as three or four minutes after taking. The fastest, safe relief, it is said, ever known for pain.

Remember, it is Genuine Bayer Aspirin which provides this unique, quick-acting property. So be sure you get the Real Article—GENUINE BAYER Aspirin when you buy. Naturally you want the fastest, possible relief—and that's the way to get it.

To identify the genuine, see that any box or bottle of aspirin you buy is clearly marked "Genuine Bayer Aspirin." And that any tablet you take is stamped clearly with the name "Bayer" in the form of a cross. Remember—Genuine Bayer Aspirin cannot harm the heart.

NO TABLETS ARE GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN WITHOUT THIS CROSS

FOREST FIRE DESTROYS TOWN

News dispatches report several fires ravaging forests in different sections of Oregon and causing vast property damage in towns and villages. Photo shows what was left of Cochran, Ore., Tuesday, October 4 after the flames had passed.

FIREMEN STAGE BENEFIT OCT. 22

MIDWAY CITY, Oct. 7.—Plans for an entertainment for the evening of October 22 have been made by the Midway City firemen as a benefit for the fire department equipment. This will be a "hard times" costume carnival. An orchestra of at least nine pieces will be engaged for the evening to play for the dance. Both "500" and bridge will be included on the program and refreshments will be served.

The carnival will be held in the quarters of the Walter J. Hill factory building.

Fifteen prizes are planned to be given for costume winners on the dance floor and for the winners of cards. It is planned to sell 500 tickets to the benefit.

58,000 Sacks Of Lima Beans Placed In Smelter Plant

SMELTZER, Oct. 7.—Fifty-eight thousand sacks of beans, which is estimated as 90 per cent of the lima bean harvest which comes to the Smelter Lima Bean Growers' association house, are in, and within a few days the remainder of the crop will be finished as several threshers are working in the fields.

Some shipments have gone out from the local house during the three weeks the cleaner has been in operation but they are moving slowly. Thirty women are engaged on the belts at the warehouse, where the beans which are unusually good, are rapidly being cleaned.

Tustin Visitor Dinner Honoree

TUSTIN, Oct. 7.—Complimenting Miss Dorothy Miller, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who is spending several weeks with relatives here, was a prettily appointed 6:30 o'clock dinner held recently in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lambert, of San Juan street. Those present, other than the hosts and honor guest, were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lambert and daughters, Barbara and Lucille; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Lambert and daughter, Muriel; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Etzold and daughter and son, Jeanne and Paul Jr.

Another delightful affair staged in honor of Miss Miller, was a recent 6 o'clock venison dinner, with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Etzold, as hosts. Place cards were written for Miss Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Lambert and Mr. and Mrs. Etzold and daughter and son, Jeanne and Paul Jr.

5 New Members For Girls' Club

LA HABRA, Oct. 7.—The Junior Girls' club of the Woman's Improvement club initiated five new members at the meeting this week. Lenora Graham was hostess to the club at her home on Whittier boulevard and those initiated were Eunice Launer, Nellie Scofield, Evelyn Willard, Louise Soule and Antoinette Johnson. Miss Edith McClure and Miss Lovilla Williams were in charge of the initiation.

Miss Edith McClure was appointed corresponding secretary to take the place of Marguerite Williams, who resigned because of lack of time.

Following the last reading of the by-laws, the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. H. L. Graham, served refreshments.

Mrs. C. B. Henry Bridge Hostess

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 7.—Mrs. C. B. Henry entertained with a 1 o'clock bridge luncheon at her home at 145 North Pine street Wednesday. Bowls and baskets of mixed flowers were used for decorations.

BEACH CITY TO PRESENT NEW PROGRAM

Preparatory to that city's Industrial Exposition to be staged October 12, 13 and 14, the city of Huntington Beach will present a series of four radio programs over station KREG. The first of the programs will be broadcast tonight from 7:30 until 8 p. m.

These programs will offer a variety of entertainment in addition to a wealth of information relative to the beach city and the approaching industrial show. Many prominent residents of the city will participate in the program.

Tonight Mayor E. G. Conrad will represent the city's official family on the program and extend the formal invitation of the city of Huntington Beach to all of Southern California to attend the exposition.

In addition to the talk by Mayor Conrad there will be a three-cornered sports interview with Jack Africa, golf professional at the Huntington Beach public course, Coach L. W. Minor of the Huntington Beach high school team, and Dick Moore, star player on the same team.

Music will be provided by the Onson Orchestra, Agnes DeBusk and Cleo Smith, vocalists, and Eleanor Miller, violinist.

WEDDING CEREMONY TO BE BROADCAST

For the first time in the history of radio in Orange county a wedding will be broadcast from the local station. At 8:45 Lester Botts, 22, and Miss Fern Schorle, 19, will be married on the stage of a local theater. The ceremony, which will be performed by Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison, will be broadcast over KREG by direct wire from the theater.

The wedding is a featured part of the great Jubilee celebration being sponsored in this city by the Merchants' Division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

NOVELTY NUMBERS FOR KREG TONIGHT

Two novelty programs are scheduled for tonight over radio KREG. One is being presented by Montgomery Ward and Company and the other by Dr. E. H. Riesen. Ward's program will bring Lo-Lo, famous circus clown to the studio at 5:45 p. m. when he will tell another colorful circus story. Tonight and tomorrow will conclude the series of programs featuring Lo-Lo.

Dr. Riesen will present another installment of "Strange Facts" the broadcast that is becoming one of the big features of the programs arranged for every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening. This program will be broadcast at 8:45 o'clock.

JAYSEE PROGRAM TO FEATURE FRESHMEN

Featuring many new freshmen of the local junior college in a broadcast of popular entertainment features, the Santa Ana Junior college will go on the air at a new program time this evening. Owing to changes in the KREG program schedule the college will broadcast at 8 tonight.

The speech of the evening will present Associated Student President Gene Hall in a talk on student activities for the coming semester. Hall will be remembered as speaking on one of the programs presented during the last school year.

TALENTED ARTISTS ON SPANISH HOUR

Through the courtesy of the Globe Mills Senorita Vigue, popular vocalist who scored such a success when she appeared on a recent program over radio KREG, will participate in the Spanish Hour presentation tomorrow night.

In addition to numbers by Senorita Vigue there will be a group of songs by Senor Gorman Lozarraga, tenor, who will sing some of the latest composition of Augustin Lara, Mexico's most popular composer. Piano accompaniments will be played by Miss Ruth Frothingham.

41ST BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED BY CHURCH GROUP

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Celebrating the forty-first anniversary of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Christian church, a luncheon and program were held yesterday afternoon in the lower auditorium of the church, with a large group of members and guests attending. The Bertha Epley members assisted in planning and serving the 1 o'clock luncheon.

In keeping with the present study theme of the society, "The American Indian," walls of the auditorium were draped with Indian rugs of all sizes, Indian baskets and other curios, many of which belong to Mrs. Rebecca Pope, president of the society, were used in providing a background for the occasion.

Tells of Early Days
The luncheon program included a talk by Mrs. D. C. Pixley, a charter member of the church and society. She told of the early days of church work here, when all meetings were held in one room, and five women met to discuss organization of a missionary group. Continuing, she outlined the progress of the work up to the present day.

For the luncheon long tables were strewn with autumn leaves and brightened with tall red tapers glowing from attractive intervals. With the last course, a large angel food birthday cake was served. This had been decorated with more than 40 tiny red candles, whose wicks were lighted and in turn blown out by Mrs. D. C. Pixley and Miss Marie Bivens, the oldest and youngest members of the church women's societies. The cake had been baked by Mrs. Maude Mann. Miss Bivens attended Orange union high school and is a member of a third generation belonging to the Orange Christian church. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bivens, and Mrs. Bivens' mother, Mrs. G. A. Gates, comprise the three generations.

Guests Speak
Short talks were given by special guests of the day, Mrs. Glancy of Santa Ana and the late Raymond of Santa Ana, the latter a member of the Dorcas club of the Christian church of that city; Mrs. Syler of Fullerton and Mrs. Merrifield of Brea. Others introduced at this time were Mrs. Franklin H. Minck wife of the pastor of the Orange church; Mrs. Ferren, president of the Bertha Epley guild; Mrs. Dayton Ditchey and Mrs. Robinson, past presidents of the guild; Mrs. F. L. Ainsworth, who served as president of the Missionary society for over 20 years; Mrs. B. Atherton, a "Missionary mother."

Mrs. Rebecca Pope presided over the meeting. Musical numbers included "Send Out the Light" and "Speed Away," by the Christian church quartet. Members are Mrs. Leon Des Larzes, Mrs. W. M. Whitney, Mrs. C. A. McGill and Mrs. L. F. Finley. Mrs. Des Larzes sang "From An Indian Village," preceding her solo with a short talk on Indian music.

Mrs. Pope turned the program over to Mrs. C. L. Robinson, program chairman. Mrs. B. Atherton gave the Scripture reading and Mrs. Emily Reed led in prayer. Mrs. V. D. Johnson gave a short talk on "We Would See Jesus."

Reports Presented
Reports were given by Mrs. R. C. Burkett, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Moose, treasurer; Miss Anna Granger, literature chairman; Mrs. Frances Connor, World Call secretary. Miss Granger talked on favorite hymns, displaying a little hymnal which is over 100 years old.

Private Peet To Relate War Horrors

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Orange Union High school students are looking forward to the assembly of November 10, when Private Harold R. Peet, famous Canadian war veteran, will address them, using as his topic, "The Inexcusable Lie." The veteran is the author of the widely known book, "Private Peet."

Peet served during the entire period of the war and was gassed in the course of one battle. Since the close of the war he has devoted his life to bringing word pictures of war as it actually is before audiences.

In his talk the speaker will bring out the fact that war is glorified in many modern school books instead of being painted in terms of horror and suffering.

Mrs. Weatherbee Is Hostess When Card Club Meets

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Gladys Weatherbee was hostess at a dinner bridge this week, when members of the Deedee Bridge club were her guests in the Weatherbee home on South Glassell street. The table appointments were in pink and green and the centerpiece was pink roses and sweet peas, while place cards, nut baskets and candles were in the same colors.

High score at the bridge games was made by Miss Gertrude Klander and low by Mrs. Mabel Faulkner. Present were Mrs. Eula Weaver, Miss Gertrude Klander, Miss Ella Klander, Mrs. Joe Shell, Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, Mrs. Vernia Hertel, Miss Clara Glasbrenner, Miss Bertha Robinson, Miss Leona Blank, Mrs. Alpha Cave, Miss Billie Dunlop and the hostess, Mrs. Weatherbee.

VILLA PARK

VILLA PARK, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Anna Stuthoff and Miss Ethel Stuthoff, of Orange, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Morrow and daughters recently.

Miss Levora Raney is spending a few weeks at Palm Springs. Philip M. Hilber, of Hollywood, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Anna T. Deistenthaler.

Bobby Cruzen, who had the misfortune to have his arm broken recently, is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Mary Riley, of Spreckles, who has been the house guest of Mrs. V. K. Bathgate, is visiting her brother, Mr. Scott, of San Juan Capistrano.

S. W. Morrow, who has been quite ill for several days, is improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Henselman and daughter, Beverly, and son Wayne, were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Raney Friday.

Miss Moore, of New York, is visiting Mrs. V. K. Bathgate.

old. It is the property of Mrs. Pope.

"Seekers of the Great Spirit" was the topic and "We Would See Jesus" was the theme for the day. The Yakiwa Indian was studied, with members discussing the work of the Christian church Indian mission at Yakiwa, Wash.

Papers on the Indian mission work and the lives led by the Indians were read by Mrs. Pixley, Miss Emma Granger and Mrs. Edward Ely.

Mrs. A. R. Smith, Mrs. V. D. Johnson and Mrs. D. C. Pixley were members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair. The next meeting of the society is to be held the afternoon of November 3 at 2:30 o'clock in the church.

NEW OFFICERS OF METHODIST BODY INDUCTED

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—With the Rev. L. V. Lucas, pastor of the church, as the installing officer, heads of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church were installed yesterday in the Epworth hall.

The following officers will serve during the year: President, Mrs. Carrie E. D. Riddle; vice president, Mrs. Sherman Gilgoly; treasurer, Miss Lula Kenyon; recording secretary, Mrs. D. E. Claypool; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. C. Hotchkiss; extension, Mrs. W. E. Gorton; mite box, Mrs. H. Z. Sawyer; literature, Mrs. M. H. Elliott; music, Mrs. Clara Allen; stewardship, King's Herald, Mrs. Mary Gross; standard bearers, Miss Faye Bortz; Little Light Bearers, Mrs. Wesley Kuthorst; Wesleyan Service guild, Miss Esther Scriven.

Group leaders, Mrs. May Parsons, Mrs. G. C. Atkinson, Mrs. Wm. Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Myers, Mrs. L. Westover, Mrs. O. M. Coate and Mrs. Mary Gross; finance committee, Miss Lula Kenyon, Miss Bertha Adams and Mrs. L. L. Williams; social and calling, Mrs. Sherman Gilgoly, Mrs. Frank Ely, Mrs. A. Haven Smith and Mrs. M. M. Fishback; program committee, Mrs. Carrie E. D. Riddle, Mrs. J. E. Park and Mrs. Clara Allen.

As the topic of the year is to be "China," it was most appropriate that the speaker of the afternoon should be Miss Grace Lentz, returned missionary from that country, who is one of the two missionaries in China supported by the local society. Miss Ellen Suffern is the other and she is still in that country.

The aims of the society were announced as increased subscriptions to the missionary publication, "The Friend," and doubling of the membership of 125 to 250, as well as doubling attendance.

Miss Lentz spoke of present day conditions in China, relating how the old customs of China are in force in many places. She pointed out the danger of Communism but said that she believed that Christianity would be the victory between the two forces as the Chinese young people probe deeply into any theory before accepting it.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Sherman Gilgoly, Mrs. J. R. Kenyon and Mrs. Clara Whitehead. Miss Mary Bogue read an interesting paper and Miss Lula Kenyon gave the report of the year's work.

Mrs. Anna Dille presented an interesting talk on "Stewardship of Self" and duets were sung by Mrs. Clara Allen and Miss Elsie Parsons, with Mrs. Florence Donegan at the piano.

Mrs. Carrie Riddle gave a list of books on China for members to read in connection with the year's work.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS ARRANGE MEETINGS

FULLERTON, Oct. 7.—Members of the Ontario Parlor Native Daughters have invited Fullerton parlor to a celebration at the Sycamore Inn, on Foothill boulevard at 7 p. m., October 12.

It is planned to have Deputy Grand President Mary Noerenberg in attendance at the October 21 meeting. Mrs. Nellie Cline, past president, is in charge of the evening and has planned a surprise.

Mrs. Noerenberg of 1551 Buckingham Road, Los Angeles, will entertain at the regular meeting of the Homeless Children's sewing club October 27 at her home. A pot luck luncheon is to be served and all members are requested to attend and to take favorite dish.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wolley left Wednesday for their home in Little Rock, Calif., having spent the past two weeks with Mrs. Wolley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Goldrickson, 306 North Center street.

The 52nd birthday anniversary of Mrs. Jacob Yost was observed recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Yost, 265 South Center street, with sons and daughters of the couple planning the event as a surprise party. GARDEN GROVE GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Runk, of Santa Ana, accompanied by Mrs. Bella Northcross and Gene Ford, were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roepeke at Beverly Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Crowell have gone to Letchfield, Ariz., to make their home.

Officers Of High School Club Named

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Clubs at the Orange union high school were organized this week and officers chosen. Zara Sargent heads the Girls' Glee club, Frances Dewis is secretary and Wilma Stanfield is librarian. The president of the Boys' Glee club is D. C. Dillingham, secretary, Nelson Kogler and librarian, Cullen Gray.

The Los Sabios club has 15 members. Dorothy Berni was elected as president, Jean Jordan, vice president, and Virginia Humphreys, secretary. The club will meet the first Monday of each month. Dorothy Coe was elected president of the Ensemble club, Bill Elakie, vice president; Dixie Rose, secretary-treasurer, and Cora Alice Powell, program chairman. Percy Green, head of the music department, will be the first social chairman.

The German club, Die Froelichen, elected as president, Malinda Walker, Ada Schumacher is vice president and Lydia Mueller is secretary-treasurer. The Stamp club will elect officers at its next meeting and class officers are to be chosen next week, nominations having been made the first of the week.

TEACHERS CONVENE

BUENA PARK, Oct. 7.—A pot luck dinner was enjoyed at the Congregational church Wednesday by teachers of the junior department of the Sunday school. Problems pertaining to their department work were discussed and plans made for work to be accomplished were made. Those present were Mrs. Jesse Gill, Mrs. C. E. Ried, Mrs. Henry Frohn, Mrs. C. A. Stone, Mrs. Nellie Bastady, Mrs. Rose Hartman, Mrs. Louis Newman, Mrs. Bland, Mrs. J. B. Sullivan and Mrs. Eleanor Jones.

POST TO HAVE MARCHING UNIT ARMISTICE DAY

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—The Orange American Legion post will enter a band and a marching unit in the Armistice day parade at Fullerton, according to plans made last night at the regular meeting of the post. A letter of appreciation is to be sent to the city council expressing the appreciation of the post for the co-operation of that body in making the entries. George Franzen heads the Armistice day committee for the post. The celebration will be held next year in Orange.

Fifty-one members were present last night, the greater number representing the west side in an attendance and membership contest now under way. George Franzen is a captain of the west side and George Blokford of the East side. The post's quota has been set for 170 members and the contest is to be closed January 1.

Glen Young, of Tustin, commander of the Orange County council, outlined work to be done by the county posts during the coming year and urged that membership quotas be filled as rapidly as possible in order that other important work could be done along the lines of welfare and in combating the National Economy league.

Two new members were introduced, Joe Lihan and Russell Stratton. Two visitors, Noble Watson and M. McLois were present. The Orange post decided to notify the city police department to publish the fact in the newspapers, that it does not sponsor veterans soliciting from house to house unless they have letters from the local post.

George Stinson, "the singing cop," gave several vocal solos, including "Trees" and "O Solo Mio." He was accompanied by Mrs. Frances Adams.

Past Area Commander George Franzen presented Junior Past Commander Lynn Wallace with a gold past commander's badge, the gift of the post. Claude Potter, chairman of the visitation committee, reported that delegations from the Orange post had visited the Huntington Beach and the Anaheim posts.

Paul Meunch reported that satisfactory progress was being made on plans for an entry in the fiesta to be given by the Costa Mesa post Sunday.

Brotherhood In Dinner Oct. 11

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 7.—The first fall meeting of the Alamitos Brotherhood will be held next Tuesday evening in the social hall of the Alamitos Friends church near the corner of West Chapman and Magnolia road.

Miss Winifred Slater, who has been ill for the past four weeks,

'DAY IN STOCK BROKER'S LIFE' LEGION TOPIC

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—"A Day in a Stock Exchange Broker's Life" was described for American Legion members last night at the regular meeting of the post at the clubhouse with Dr. W. M. Tipple presiding. The speaker was Bert H. Lawver of Logan and Bryan, Santa Ana.

Mr. Lawver compared the stock exchange with the activities of the American Legion inasmuch as national and international affairs affect them both. He pointed out that the legionnaires of Orange were all more or less concerned in marketing conditions and that many of them are directly affected as they are orange growers.

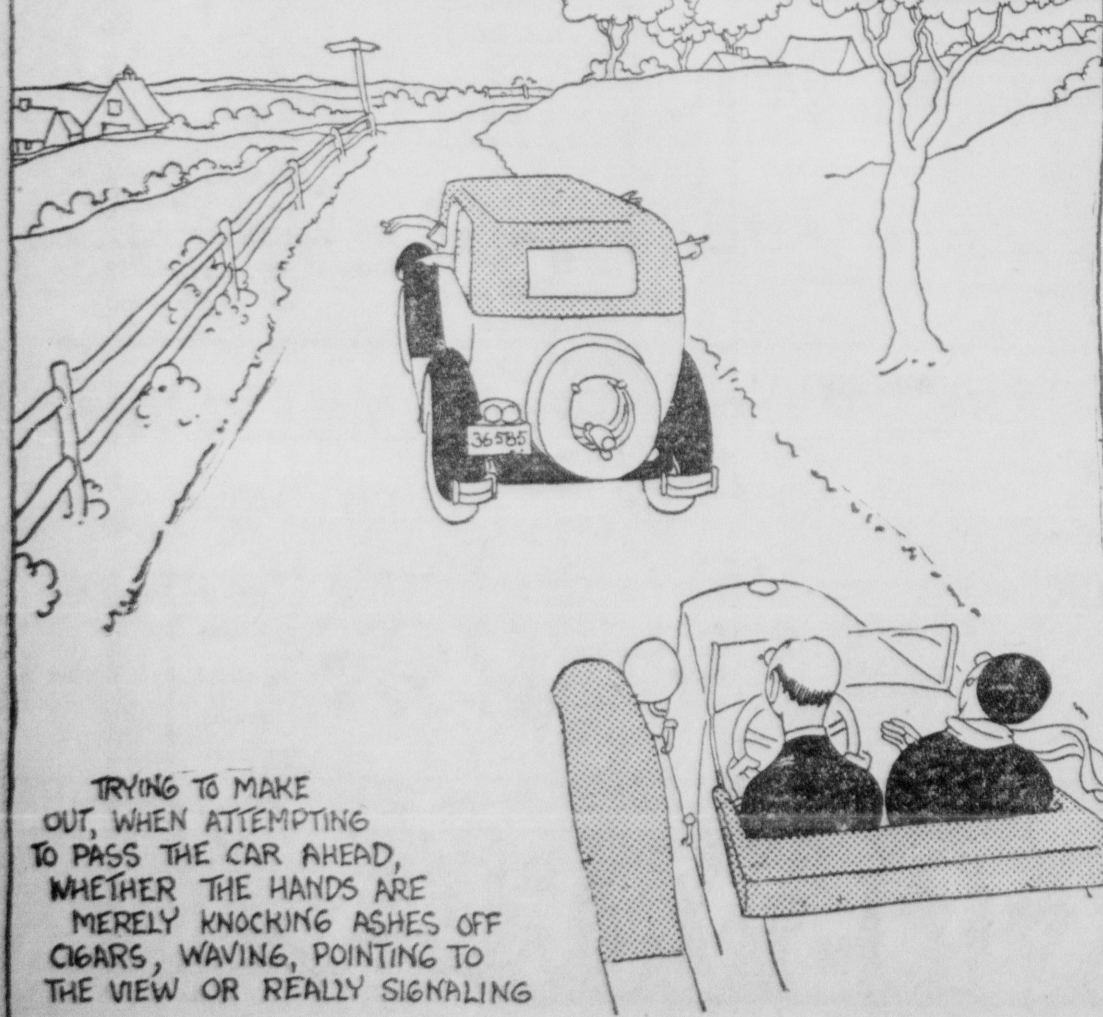

The history of the stock exchange was traced by the speaker, who said that it started 150 years ago under a buttonwood tree on Wall street in the city of New York. A typical day in a broker's office with the usual activities of market reports and news received was pictured by Mr. Lawver.

was taken to St. Joseph's hospital Monday afternoon.

Members of the Junior Christian Endeavor society enjoyed a skating party at Laguna Beach recently. Those in the party were the Misses Juanita Stanfield, Katherine Baxter, Henrietta Campbell, Grace Walworth, Evelyn Estes, and Mildred Moore. Harold Lundblade, Wayne Gray, Chester Underham, Edwin Lundblade, Elvin Stanfield and Jay Skiles. They were accompanied by Mrs. Vern Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Moore and son, Jack, and Alvin Stanfield.

ARLISS SCORES NEW COMEDY AT BROADWAY

George Arliss gives one of his men's best impersonations in "The Successful Calamity," which opened at the Fox Broadway theater yesterday.

"The Millionaire," and other big by the famous star will long be remembered here, but his act is his human touch in "The Successful Calamity" will go a long way in making this, his latest act, a success, probably his best.

The story deals with a millionaire, who comes home from Europe to be given the plaudits of the president for his shrewd negotiations abroad, but also to find that his family, so engrossed in their own affairs didn't even remember the date he was to return. He decides on a reckless plan—of posing as having lost his money in Wall street. The test comes to the family when they "learn" they are poor and so rich, finds them all standing to their posts, after a series of delightful scenes which make picture one of the most clever comedies seen here in a long time.

Final showing of the film "The Phantom Express" which opened yesterday at the Fox West Coast theater, will be seen today when the picture closes its Santa Ana engagement.

The story of a phantom express train which suddenly appears in the night on the same track with crack passenger trains, causing one wreck after another as the engineer of the real train tries to avoid a collision, the mystery of the ghost train is not solved until the closing few feet of the picture, giving the audience a real mystery story.

William Collier Jr. and Sally Blane have the leading roles.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR WIDENING OF L. A. STREET

ANAHEIM, Oct. 6.—That North Los Angeles street, the entrance way into the city, will be widened for a space 1800 feet is practically assured, Mayor Fred Kosel has announced following an informal meeting of the city council, and three-fourths of the necessary funds will be given by the state and county. This, he explained, would leave Anaheim with only one-fourth to pay.

Total costs of the project will be approximately $40,000. Representatives will arrive soon to further look over the proposed plan after which work will begin immediately. The area to be widened will extend from the turn in the road to Palm street.

The city will be asked to approve the plans but all contracts and arrangements will be taken care of by the state and county authorities.

Costume dance on hotel roof Oct. 31

ANAHEIM, Oct. 7.—One of the outstanding events of the Halloween season will be the annual costume dance given on the roof garden of the Hotel Angelina on Friday evening, October 21.

Mrs. Lorella Macbeth, manager of the hotel, is in charge of arrangements and announced today that invitations to the affair will be out in the near future. The bidden guests will include the residents of the apartment hotel and their friends.

Prizes will be awarded for the best character impersonations and the funniest costume and a number of especially attractive features are being planned.

FINE ARTS SCHOOL
PLANNING RECITAL

ANAHEIM, Oct. 7.—The annual faculty recital of the Orange County School of Fine Arts, looked upon by music lovers as one of the most attractive local musical features of the season, will be given on Friday evening, October 14, at the auditorium of the Anaheim Union High school. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

Always drawing a capacity audience, this year is expected to be no exception as an unusually fine program has been planned.

The faculty members appearing on the program are Calmon Lubovick, violinist; Tudor Williams, baritone; Daphne Goss Hellerman, dramatic reader; Franz Darvas, pianist, and Norma Gould, dancer.

B. & P. W. TO ATTEND BIG MEET

ANAHEIM, Oct. 7.—Four members of the local Business and Professional Women's club will attend the southern district meeting in Ontario tomorrow afternoon and evening. Those going are Robbie Anderson, Sarah Fay, Elsie Auer and Grace Bailey.

There will be a tea at 8 o'clock, a board meeting at 4 o'clock and a dinner and program at 6:30 o'clock at the Hotel Ontario.

ARRANGE PROGRAM
AT JUNIOR COLLEGE

FULLERTON, Oct. 7.—John B. Ratto, famous impersonator of the Redpath bureau, will be featured entertainer at the junior college assembly at 11 a. m. Tuesday in the auditorium of the school. Ratto has been with the Redpath bureau more than 25 years. The general public is invited to attend the assemblies.

Soviet Lecture
Set for Tuesday

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Malbone Graham, of Santa Monica, state chairman for international relations of the California division of the American Association of University women, will address the Laguna Beach branch at the home of Miss Nellie Ford Hills, 331 Coast Boulevard North, Tuesday evening on "The Human Element in the Soviet Situation." Mrs. Graham, author and lecturer, will relate personal experiences in Russia. Members may invite guests for the lecture, which begins at 8 o'clock.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Oct. 7.—Dwaine Moore, Bob Edwards, Miss Doris Moore and Miss Marguerite Peters motored to Covina to attend a ball game.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Houlihan, of Montebello, spent Wednesday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdy. Mrs. Houlihan is a niece of Mrs. Murdy.

LADIES AID HOLDS STUDY GATHERING

ANAHEIM, October 7.—Mrs. William Pickle led the study program at the Ladies Aid meeting of the Grace Lutheran church when they met yesterday afternoon in the church parlors on South Palm street. She was assisted by Mrs. Ray Grimm, Mrs. E. E. Heinzel and Mrs. W. A. Scheiss.

Mrs. Grimm and Mrs. Ray Grimm discussed "Our Eastern Enterprise" and Mrs. Scheiss gave a review on "The Growth of the American Lutheran Church in New York."

The next meeting will be on October 12 and will be an all day sewing session.

Anaheim Police News

ANAHEIM, Oct. 7.—Just an old man who was hungry? Raising bloodshot and weary eyes to look into those of his accuser, Dick Bruce, who found him stealing potatoes from the garage and putting one in each pocket, the old man promised to be on his way thinking that maybe there'll be "spuds" in the next town.

H. T. Outland of 205 West Center street had a red car this morning that smelled of too many tomatoes. So he reported to the police station last night about 11 o'clock after being pelted with the tomatoes by a group of high school boys who gathered at the corner of Citron and Center streets. Outland expects the boys to pay for the cleansing of his car.

Ray Aguilar, Carlos Tienade and Mary Rodriguez, all of Los Angeles, were arrested by the police early this morning for intoxication and possession of liquor. They were locked up for the night.

J. E. Sullivan of 607 South Dickel street was arrested last evening for driving while intoxicated. His companion, H. D. Wilkins, was released as not intoxicated.

CAMPAIGN READY

ANAHEIM, Oct. 7.—With the Y. M. C. A. financial campaign ready to begin Tuesday morning, October 11, Conrad Jongeward, secretary, announced this morning that the teams are lining up and that new names are being added to the list of workers constantly. The drive will open with a breakfast at the "Y" hut at the Salem Evangelical church.

RUSSIA TO BE DISCUSSED BY STUDY CLASS

ANAHEIM, Oct. 7.—Mrs. E. E. Smith will talk on "Russia," Tuesday morning at the general meeting of the Las Amigas study group that will be held at the Highway Tea Gardens with a luncheon following.

Mrs. Smith recently completed the Sherwood study seminar trip to Europe where she spent several weeks in Leningrad. There she found many interesting innovations and astounding progress.

"The Russian people are so filled with the completion of the five year plan and the beginning of another five year plan that they are afraid, actually afraid, that there might be outside interference," she is quoted as saying. "For this reason the smaller countries around Russia are feeling quite safe and happy."

Mrs. Fred Weisel, music chairman, will present Mrs. Walter Ross who will sing a group of songs.

MUSICAL TEA GIVEN BY FLOWER MISSION

ANAHEIM, Oct. 7.—The musical tea, given yesterday afternoon by the Flower Mission at the home of Mrs. Thomas H. Walker on East Broadway street, and opening the season's work, was attended by 25 members, 19 guests and the three new members, Mrs. Henry Schneider, Mrs. Newman Sanford and Mrs. Joe F. True.

Miss Freda Lundsten, soprano, sang three selections, accompanied at the piano by Miss Katherine Steward.

At the tea hour Mrs. Leonard Evans and Mrs. Leo Fries, the president, poured. The hostesses, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Earle Phillips and Mrs. C. C. Sidnam, assisted in the service.

The next meeting will be held on November 17 at the Presbyterian church with the other women's organizations. At 10:30 o'clock there will be a book review, at 12:30 o'clock a cover dish luncheon and in the afternoon each group will hold its own meeting.

WHEN YOU TASTE HILLS BROS COFFEE, YOU'LL REALIZE THE IMPORTANCE OF PERFECT ROASTING

Hills Bros' patented process insures a perfect flavor for every pound, by preventing under-roasting and over-roasting

"A little at a time" — Instead of in bulk — is the secret

TO TASTE RIGHT
Hills Bros. Coffee is correctly ground for best results by drip process or any other method.

If coffee is under-roasted or over-roasted, much of its charm is lost. Taste Hills Bros. Coffee, and you'll know what perfect roasting does. For Hills Bros. is always roasted to the degree that develops the finest flavor!

Instead of the ordinary, bulk method, Hills Bros. use their patented Controlled Roasting process. The coffee flows through the roasters in an even, continuous stream... a little at a time.

Batches of several hundred pounds naturally make accurate roasting difficult. But a little at a time, continuously — removes all chances of error! The coffee-berries are brought to the state of perfection!

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans, and can't go stale. The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness — the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can — it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh.

Order Hills Bros. Coffee by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

ADDED SHORTS
NEWS — "RAMBLING AROUND RADIO ROW" WITH KATE SMITH

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY ON THE SCREEN

One of the camouflaged towers on Jules Camou's fortress-ranch, as it looks today. . . . The Apaches were expert marksmen, but the checkerboard design deceived them.

Invented Camouflage a Century Ago To Save His Ranch from the Apaches

Fooling the enemy with paint was not originated by modern war strategists after all--- for wily Jules Camou used it against his Indian foes in 1832

By OREN ARNOLD

STRANGE and bizarre stories are told about old Jules Camou. Foremost of the Dons he was, a hundred years ago; a dictator, almost, of a great portion of Sonora, the boundary state in old Mexico.

The Dons are the landed aristocracy of old Spain, and of Mexico, and Jules Camou, strangely, was a Frenchman. He himself is long since gone, but more than 100 alleged heirs are still squabbling over his estate, and romantic yarns about him are becoming a vital part of Sonoran folklore.

For one thing, his crumbling old ranch house, 250 miles south of the American boundary, conceals a vast fortune in gold nuggets. This is hearsay, but it is substantiated by innumerable "proofs." And a first class lost-treasure story can affect people very materially, regardless of the actual facts.

But still another thing—not legendary at all—is that Jules Camou gave to the science of warfare a practice which most people had thought originated in the World War—the art of camouflage.

Apparently that name is just coincidence, but nearly 100 years ago, away down in the isolated fastnesses of Mexico, Don Jules Camou originated the same idea. He employed disguising paints—"camouflage"—for the protection of his ranch house fortress, and to this day you may still go there and see evidence of it.

REPORTS of recent events and discoveries on the expansive Camou Ranch have just been brought out by John McPhee, for years a Mexican border resident and an authority on Mexican history.

"Things are still popping down there," says Mr. McPhee. "Mexico is a civilized country on the whole, but there are parts of the big nation that do not show it. Some of the Sonoran country has changed but little since the day in which Texas won her independence.

"The Camou ranch, for example. It is a fascinating place for anybody who can see under the 'tourist surface.' It is a huge thing—a horseman can travel in a straight line for two days and still be on old Jules' land.

"Naturally it has much worthless land, virtually a waterless desert, but also it has much that is of great value, and almost everybody you meet, now, has some sort of claim as an 'heir' of the famed Frenchman. The courts at Hermosillo, the capital city of Sonora, are crowded with matters concerning the Jules Camou estate.

"Many of the persons who claim to be heirs know about the wealth of the ranch. I mean the real, the actual wealth, not the legendary. I know positively that rich deposits of ore are to be found there.

"WHY, I know of some peons who have lived for years on no income but that which they have earned from nuggets picked up on the Camou ranch.

"Too lazy (or maybe too wise!) to attempt consistent manual labor, they go out to the hills and come back with a handful of rocks. And the rocks will contain enough gold to keep them for weeks at a time!

"Why aren't the hills mined?

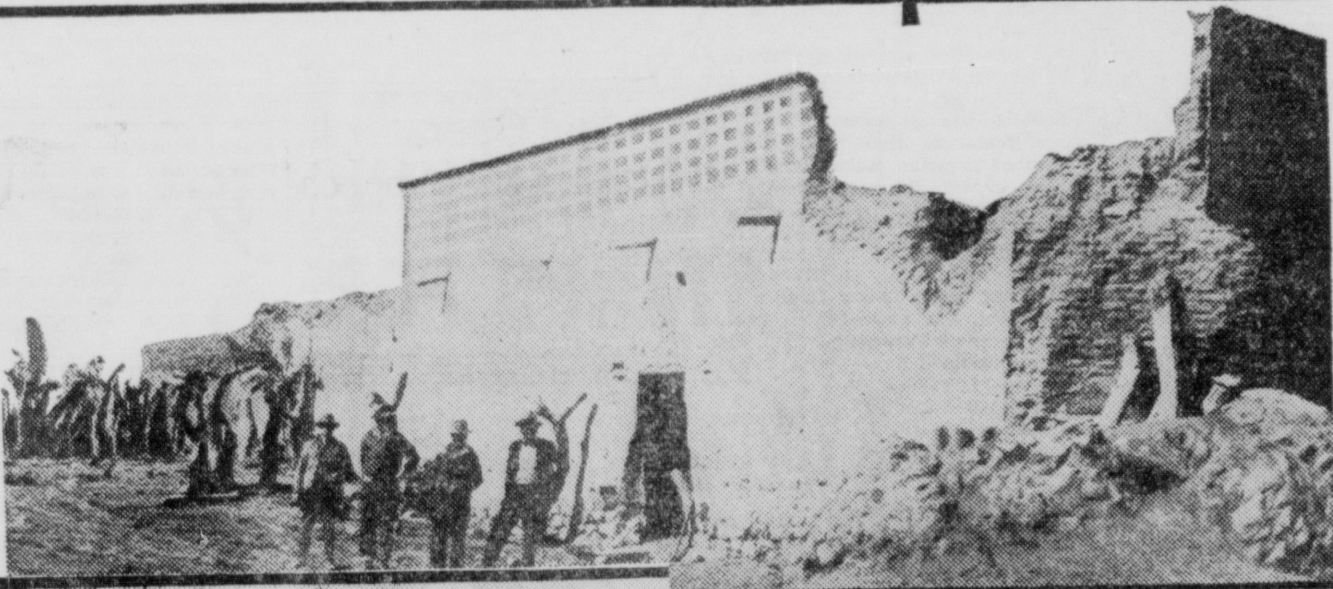

"Well, I guess they have been, some. They say that old Jules himself extracted a fortune from his mountains and that much of his treasure is still to be found. Certainly he couldn't have spent all he is known to have collected. He did what every other rich man did then—hid his money, part here, part there, and drew on it as needed."

And so people are still hunting for the Camou wealth. Naturally assumption would place it about the great ranch houses in which Jules and his retinue lived, the houses which were in effect a strong fortress there on the arid Sonoran cattle ranges.

A fortress was necessary in those days, because the inhabitants who were not for you were against you, and against you with no love or tolerance at all. Strength was law in Sonora, back in 1832.

And Jules Camou was law. Among the foremost of his enemies, the most nagging and most persistent were the Apache Indians, the same tribe that murdered and pillaged in the American settlements of New Mexico and Arizona for several decades.

THEIR enmity for Jules Camou grew partly from envy, for the Camou ranch held as many as 16,000 head of cattle at times. And his vaqueros held as his, exclusively, the few precious water springs that bubbled up on his domain. Plain resentment toward the foreigners who were constantly encroaching on the red man's soil was another cause.

This ever present hazard of the murderous Indians had prevented Jules Camou from building a dam that he had long needed. The small stream near his home—which like all western streams carried heavy water whenever the rare rains did come—could not furnish an abundance of water the year round.

But if it could be dammed to form a reservoir or pond, it would not only be a highly valuable water supply for household use, but would be a perpetual safeguard for his cattle also. In times of drouth, hundreds of head of fine cows had died of thirst. A reservoir would be a paying investment.

Camou, therefore, laid his plans to construct a dam, under adequate protection from the ever watchful, ever vengeful Apache.

"The industrious rancher focused his attention, first, on the erection of two almost impregnable watch towers," Mr. McPhee tells.

"These were adjacent to his home. Stationed in these towers, Camou reasoned, watchful eyes would immediately spot any unfriendly move among lurking Indians, and the builders of the dam could seek safety behind the thick adobe walls of the ranch house and prepare for battle to drive them off.

"A HUNDRED peons worked day and night. From the creek bed they struggled up the hill with heavy boulders and built two towers.

"Camou's ingenious design had placed the structures at opposite corners of the main ranch house, with openings leading to all parts of the building from the inside only.

"At a height of 35 feet the tops of the towers were sealed, and just as if the designer had overlooked a structural feature, holes five inches square were punched through the walls at random.

"From cactus shoots a crude ladder was constructed and stone seats were built in the tower. When completed, each circular room would hold about 50 men, each seated at a small port hole.

"Shrewd old Jules Camou then stepped out from his home a short distance and surveyed his work. Immediately he discovered that the tower openings, the port holes, were too visible. He knew that they would serve as shining bull's-eyes for Apache arrows or bullets.

"Indian warriors could kill a rabbit, even a bird, with an arrow; they would have little trouble shooting through dark port holes highly visible on a wall of light tan.

"THEN is when Jules Camou originated what we now call 'camouflage.' I don't know whether he named it or not, but it is at least a coincidence that the names—Camou and camouflage—should be so similar, isn't it?

"Camou already had caused his new towers to be painted gray, along with the houses, from paint manufactured from minerals found in his own hills nearby. But as he squatted on a rock a hundred yards distant to survey the finished job, he knew it was not finished, in truth; the port holes must be concealed.

"His ingenuity, then, clicked again. To the same hills he sent his men, not for dull shades of gray, but this time for multi-colored minerals and for wild berries whose juices had the brilliant staining effect of inks.

"Then with his colors he created a huge cylindrical checkerboard on his towers, a stripe of red, broken with squares of other colors. Each of the port holes became a square in the checkerboard, and when Camou again surveyed his towers from a short distance the holes could not be seen at all.

"Thus where any one Indian might before have seen four or five targets, he now could see only a confusing picture of colored squares.

"CAMOU trained his peon soldiers to fight from the towers and from the rooftops of the main house. Around the parapet he later painted the same checkerboard design, to conceal still more portholes. So that, when enemies did attack, they seldom saw anybody or any spot at which to fire. The Camou Ranch became a powerful fortress just through the confusing effect of color, of 'camouflage.'"

With guards constantly on the lookout within the tower, other men started building a dam. Hundreds of brown workmen carried heavy rocks from all over the surrounding area, mixed a form of cement mortar and plastered the rocks together. The cement they used, incidentally, has defied floods and disintegration for a century now, and is still good.

The dam is 400 feet long (that's a block and a half in a city) and is as high as a five-story building. It is still standing, and the lake covers 400 acres of land.

Late News From Orange County Communities

40 FULLERTON MEN TO SECURE TUNNEL WORK

FULLERTON, Oct. 7.—City Engineer C. M. Thorpe reported at the city council session this week that it is possible work on the tunnels for Metropolitan Water district will open soon and that from 30 to 40 men from Fullerton will be used on the job.

Permission was granted for the use of certain city owned grounds as parking places for Armistice day, through request of Harley Brewer. Councilmen voted to join in the parade in a car. The celebration is to be held in Fullerton.

Permission was granted Veterans of Foreign Wars for their drum corps to practice on the city grounds Friday night.

The report of the police chief, James Pearson, was that during September, there had been eight arrests and convictions on intoxication; six on possession; seven on traffic violations; one on disturbing the peace; two placing broken glass in streets; three, transferred to other department, and that 55 had had night lodging in the jail.

Plans are afoot to re-open the soup kitchen carried on last winter through the American Legion post, and the request for permission and for assistance from the city councilmen were placed in the hands of the relief committee. Ted Corcoran and William Potter, the latter acting for Bert Annin, with power to act. Action followed a request of Robert Seaman.

Councilman Corcoran suggested that the council should adopt some policy on spending funds for relief work. The policy and work of other municipality governing bodies is to be studied.

The old Galloping Ghost still get around on that gridiron, nearly nine years ago now, and little bit different from the one man who wondered if he could be able to make the freshman football team at Illinois out this time 11 years ago.

WAYS A FOOTBALL PLAYER The red-head from Wheaton, Ill., one of the happier examples of overdone saying, "Once a football player always a football player." He is one of the few who has made pro football pay. A Thorpe is the unhappy exception. Old Jim hasn't a dime.

Grange always played for money. Back in the days when he is a high school boy, his father nattered him for each touchdown in the amount of 25 cents. He probably always will remember earning $1.50 in a game between Wheaton and Downer's over high schools. He also ably can remember pretty well why for $12,000, his share in a receipt in his first pro game, Chicago, eight years ago, Grange himself only knows how much he has earned in actual play.

It is not the pay he received for time upon the football field at really counted in his case. He made his fortune from the teline velvet—such as $300,000 over picture contracts and a

RIVERSIDE, CHAFFEY, SANTA ANA CO-FAVORITES IN JAYSEE GRID RACE WHICH OPENS TOMORROW

From every nook and corner of the Orange Empire conference, reports that the 1932 championship football race will be the hottest in the history of the junior college competition.

An early survey made by The Register shows that prospects are bright everywhere, junior college teams are winning practice games, coaches are getting optimistic and players becoming anxious.

Following is a brief summary of the seven Orange Empire entries, listed in the order of Riverside, Chaffey, Fullerton, Citrus, Pomona, San Bernardino and Santa Ana.

RIVERSIDE
Seeking their third consecutive eastern division title, Riverside, coached by Jess Mortenson, enjoy a bye in the Orange Empire conference this week, but travel out of the state to meet Utah Agriculture college in a stiff clash game at Salt Lake City today open their conference season October 15 in a home game at Pomona.

Gene Gruber, 165-pound fullback reported for Santa Ana drill today, is competing with Ron Nichols for the Tiger fullback position, while Andy Rogers, transfer from Fullerton, is giving Orville Nichols a fight at quarter. McClintock and Newhouse appear to have the inside track at halfback. Among the veterans are 21 Captain Fred Crozin, Gibson, Harold Church, Emil Skilling, Don Hilar, "Turky" Stewart, Bud Leand and Bruce Scoggans in the line. O. Nichols and Seal are second-year backfield candidates. Hastings, giant 220-pounder from Iowa, is the heaviest man on the squad. Others prominent are Redfern and Garth, former beach III wingmen; Joe Kratch, all-Citrus; Belt league tackle for two years; and St. Arle, all-city league fullback from Fairfax, Los Angeles.

CHAFFEY
With five powerful teams in its drill, Coach Bert Heiser relies from ear to ear as he ponders Chaffey's chances in the Orange Empire conference this season.

Eleven lettermen, including Captain Kirkpatrick and John Sasuspe, fullbacks; Morris and Perry, halves; Doll and Calhoun, ends; Klumb, Godde and Allen,

FULLERTON

CITRUS
The smallest college in the circuit may have one of the strongest teams this fall. Coach Al Claves will rely on a well-balanced line as well as a shifty backfield to win for Citrus at Fullerton tomorrow.

POMONA
Prospects at Pomona have risen and fallen so much that the Jasons team of the conference, its first assignment rather tough but on home grounds, Pomona meets Chaffey tomorrow in a game which should shed light on the

CHAMPION HAS INTERNATIONAL FAME AS PILOT

The king of kings, as far as short track motorcycle racing is concerned, in the person of Lloyd ("Sprouts") Elder, world's champion, arrived in Santa Ana this afternoon with his three English Ridge machines in tow for tonight's elaborate program of 18 races at the Municipal Bowl.

More than 3500 fans are expected to pack the stadium to see the tall dare-devil in action. He has thrilled more than 75,000 fans in Southern California during the past six months.

Elder comes to the Orange county track with a record unparalleled in the history of two-wheeled competition. For three years he ruled supreme in England, Australia, Germany, Italy and France. His record for the Garden Speedway in Germany, for the Paris Bowl in France, and for tracks in London, Buenos Aires and Sydney still stand. He claims records at all Southern California tracks. He is said to round the turns with his motor in a steady broadside, many fans calling him the Frank Lockhart and Barney Oldfield of motorbike dirt track races.

Tonight he faces 40 other riders in an avalanche of speed supposedly unprecedented in the annals of county competition. Placing a desperate defense against the champion will be Minky Wain of his imported Oerman D.K.W., Dick Springston and Ted King of Santa Ana on other fast creations, "Big Bo" Lisman of Long Beach, Wilbur Lamaraux of Pasadena and numerous others who have won fame on the short tricky ovals.

Not to be overlooked are two returning stars of the game, "Mutt" Kelly of Portland and Ted Morrow of Fresno. Kelly will be remembered for a spill on the far turn here in which he sustained a fractured arm, while Morrow is returning to the Bowl following an enforced absence which resulted from a spill at San Diego at Navy field.

Standing alone, determined to resist the invasion is the "Lone Wolf" of the Bowl, Ray Grant of Portland, who heretofore has proven virtually invincible against all attacks here.

Gates will be thrown open at 8:30. The first event will be under way at 8:15 when Starter Andy Anderson waves the flag sending the boys underway for a four-lap dash. Several novelty events are included in the program.

Many Los Angeles sport celebrities are expected to attend including Babe Stapp and Ralph Eburn of Ascot fame and Harry Miller, designer of racing cars who has become an ardent motorcycle race fan. It is rumored that Miller is designing a motorcycle racing engine.

WALN BEATS ELDER IN L. A. MATCH RACE
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Minky Wain was victorious last night over "Sprouts" Elder, world's short-track champion, in a two-lap feature motorcycle race here last night.

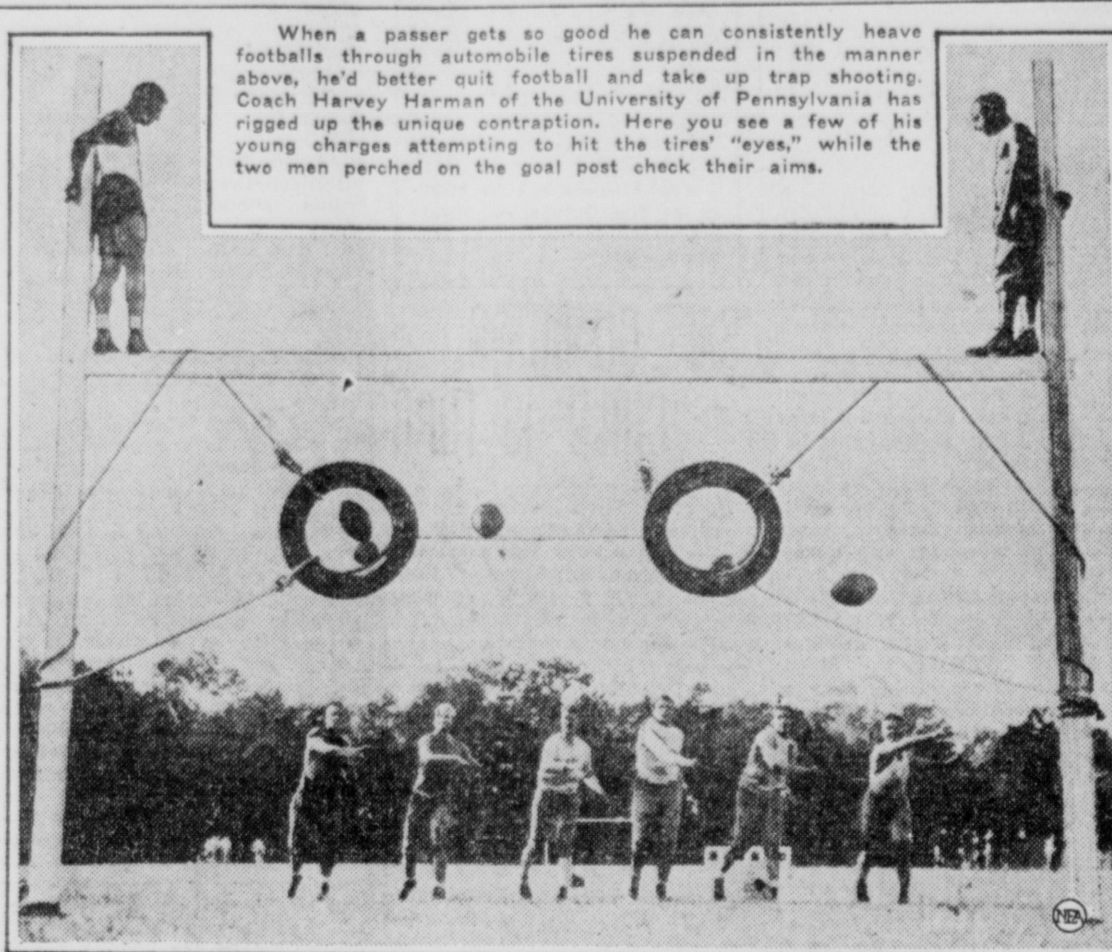

Elder, however, came back to win the feature handicap and three other events. Cordy Milne also won four races.

A spectacular pileup occurred in one race when four motorcycles collided. Jimmy Gibbs extricated himself from the snarl and won the race.

PHELAN'S POST IN JEOPARDY IF HUSKIES LOSE

BY RICHARD C. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(UP)—The 1932 Pacific Coast conference football season settles down to "serious business" tomorrow with an interesting array of classic contests likely to draw record crowds.

Of the two conference games the annual battle of Oregon and Washington at Portland holds the spotlight. It finds two promising teams struggling to bring the mythical conference title to the Northwest.

There are rumors in Seattle that the Huskies must win tomorrow if Jimmy Phelan, now coaching his third year at the Seattle school, is to have his contract renewed, come Thanksgiving Day. For two weeks, "Genial Jimmy" has been pointing the Huskies toward a victory over the Websters.

Oregon Slight Favorite
On the strength of their convincing victory over the powerful Santa Clara Broncos last week, Oregon ruled a slight favorite to repeat the 13 to 0 touchdown they landed the Huskies last year.

Oregon State, crushingly defeated last week by Stanford, faces another arduous afternoon at Los Angeles when they encounter Howard Jones' rambling U. S. C. Trojans in the only other conference tilt of the day. Troy began its march toward another year of National fame in overwhelmingly defeating Washington State and the strong Utah university teams.

A "Roman" holiday is in prospect in the San Francisco district, where the four strongest teams of that locality clash in the outstanding non-conference affairs. St. Mary's pointing toward National honors, goes to Berkeley for her 45th annual game with California. Stanford faces the Santa Clara at Palo Alto.

Smith Points For Stanford
"Clippy" Smith's veterans upset the Golden Bears two weeks ago and have made it no secret that they are pointing toward a victory over what appears to be the strongest Stanford team in several seasons. Glenn Warner's Cardinals had comparatively easy going in crushing Oregon State last week, but the wily "Pop" expects to unveil several new trick plays tomorrow.

"Navy" Bill Ingram's Bears will go into their fray with the Gaels as "under-dogs." The bright pre-season prospects at California have suffered severe setbacks in the past two weeks by a series of injuries to several of the squad's mainstays. Ingram made several changes in his first string this week in the hope of developing an offensive that would function.

Washington State has a "breath-er" in store tomorrow in its engagement with the small Willamette team.

Likewise, Coach "Bunny" Oakes should have an opportunity to try out the several changes in his Montana squad tomorrow in their game with Carroll college at Missoula.

Golden Bears' 'Big C' Is Painted Red

BERKELEY, Oct. 7.—(INS)—University of California's vigilante committee, headed by Joseph Kane, daubed the finishing golden touches today to the "Big C" on Charter hill.

The campus was agog yesterday when students saw the "Big C," not the customary radiant golden hue, but a brazen red.

Kane openly charged students from St. Mary's college were responsible for changing the color of the big concrete letter.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Oregon State college arrived today for its game tomorrow with the University of Southern California which is favored to win.

There was some apprehension, however, in the Southern California camp because five regulars were on the injured or sick list.

Coach Howard Jones was in doubt as to who would start at the quarterback position.

With two new guards in the lineup and other changes probably made necessary by the loss of several outstanding men through sickness or injury, Jones' team again will present a revised list of starters.

With Larry Stevens out of the game with an infected foot and John Dye out with the flu, Hueston Harper, played his first varsity football but well known in collegiate athletic circles for his second place in the L. C. 4-A shot put last summer, will probably get the call at standing guard. Howard Tipton will have the difficult job of playing running guard for Aaron Rosenberg after only five days of practice. Tipton was shifted from a reserve halfback position this week when it was found necessary to keep Rosenberg in the hospital with his attack of flu.

Billwood Jorgensen, red-headed sophomore center; Captain "Ray" Brown and Ernie Smith at tackle, and Ray Sparling and Ford Palmer at end are certain starters, as is Orv Mohler at quarter. Homer Griffith will probably be at full, with Cal Clemens at right half and either Bob McNeish, Gordon Clark or Al Rehorn at left half.

Besides losing Dye, Stevens and Rosenberg for Saturday's game, the Trojans will be without Dick Barber and Bob Eskine, fullback and right tackle respectively, who have injured knees.

EXPECT 63,000 TO SEE BENNY, M'LARNIN BOX

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Nearly 63,000 fight fans are expected to swarm into Madison Square Garden tonight to watch semi-bald Benny Leonard pit the resurrected powers of a glorious past against the youth and stamina of Jimmy McLarnin, a modern ring hero.

For this unusual 10-round bout the odds are 3 to 1 that the 36-year-old former lightweight champion can't beat competition's most ancient law: "They never come back."

The bout should determine definitely whether Leonard, who wrested the lightweight title from the great Freddy Welch in 1917 and retired undefeated in 1924, can extend his 13 months comeback campaign toward Jackie Fields' welterweight crown.

It may reveal whether McLarnin, baby-faced battler from Vancouver who twice humbled rugged Billy Petrolie, has gone into a decline despite his 24 years; whether his poor showing against Lou Brouillard last summer was merely an off-night, and whether his hands, broken more than a year ago, still carry the explosives that made him famous.

The bout will give fans an opportunity to compare modern fighting style with the brilliant ringcraft of the past decade.

Leonard will weigh about 150 pounds; McLarnin about 146-152.

WOMEN GOLFERS OF DISTRICT ORGANIZE

Organization of a Women's Association of the Public Golf Courses, has been completed following a meeting at the Willowick Golf club here.

Officers of the organization include Dorothy Noble, Willowick, general chairman; Fay Talbert, Huntington Beach, general captain; Polly Potter, Long Beach, handicap chairman.

The calendar of the association include several tournaments during the fall months and team matches which will be played every two weeks starting October 31.

The first association tournament will be held October 13, 1932 at the Long Beach Country club. Entries will be taken until 12:30. There will be no green fee but a sweepstakes entrance of 25 cents. Handicaps will run 1 to 15 and 15 to 20, inclusive.

In the medal round at Willowick yesterday Clara Hooten won low net.

Rain Not To Stop Saints And 'Rabbits'

Rain will not stop the Saints and the Jackrabbits here tomorrow—no matter how hard it rains. The Santa Ana-Long Beach scuffle is an official Coast Preparatory league contest and must be played as per schedule regardless of adverse weather conditions.

Saints and Hares meet at 12:45 p. m. too, but in a Class B curtain-raiser to entertain the early birds. The "big game" begins at 2:30. Officials will be Eddie Leahy, referee; Jim Tunney, umpire; Jim Blewett, head linesman; John Fox, field judge.

Every seat, 2400 of 'em, in the Saint "permanent" stands are reserved for tomorrow's classic. They will be available at a downtown ticket office, Victor Walker's sporting goods establishment, until noon, saving fans the inconvenience of lining up at the Poly field windows. Temporary bleachers, holding about 1200, will be erected on the running track in front of the grandstand.

There will be only one other Coast league contest tomorrow. Alhambra goes to Glendale for what should be a comparatively easy assignment for the Moors, outstanding favorites for the conference championship. Pasadena draws a bye, and so does San Diego because Fullerton, which was to have met the Hilltoppers, has withdrawn from the league to play free-lance. Poly field will be well populated with scouts.

The last game Santa Ana lost was to Long Beach in 1930. That was the day "Red" Franklin and Russ Sweet, Jackrabbit halfbacks, ran back two kickoffs for touchdowns and beat the Saints, 24-12. Since that amazing afternoon, Santa Ana has won 17 successive games, and conference and Southern California championships.

Several outstanding candidates for all-conference honors will pass in review. Santa Ana has two likely prospects for the mythical team in Captain "Red" Kidder, fullback, and Francis Conrad, quarterback. If they make a good

CONCEDE SAINT MACHINE EDGE AT POLY FIELD

Tomorrow's the day they're going to examine the health of a champion—Santa Ana Hi—and learn whether the champion is still a champion, or just a hollow shell after all.

Long Beach Poly, the school from which Santa Ana stripped the Southern California prep title, is coming to Poly field at 2:30 p. m., and though local observers have made the Saint a two-touchdown favorite its advantage at best is merely synthetic and perhaps only sentimental.

They do say that Long Beach will thunder into town with another one of its best football squads, inexperienced as it may be, and that Santa Ana will have to prove itself a worthy champion if it wins at all, let alone by a couple of touchdowns.

There is no way to compare them except that Santa Ana beat Compton in a real game, 6-0, a week after Compton had outgained Long Beach in an informal inter-squad scrimmage. Santa Ana won from an Orange team of questionable strength in its other pre-league start. Long Beach, choosing opponents of supposedly greater ability, tied Hollywood 0-0, shaded Manual Arts, 15-0.

Use Same System
This Santa Ana-Long Beach argument will be particularly interesting if for no other reason than it matches schools which have dominated interscholastic football in Southern California for three seasons. Long Beach won the Southern California championship in 1929 and 1930, Santa Ana in 1931.

Another intriguing feature of the eighteenth meeting of the ancient enemies is that both use the same style of play—the Notre Dame shift, as taught by that late great maestro, Knute K. Rockne. Santa Ana is in its second season of the Rockne magic. Long Beach adopted the system in spring practice this year.

Thus imbued with a common knowledge of the other's running attack, it is entirely conceivable the teams will have to resort to air lanes for yardage in which case a thrilling afternoon is in prospect because if there is one phase of offensive football the Rockne system emphasizes most it is the forward pass; and both Santa Ana and Long Beach are supposed to have passers and pass-catchers in abundance.

Both sides are in good physical condition. Santa Ana casualties are Dave Webb, second string center, who has a cold, and Willie Jones, third string halfback, who has a wrenched shoulder. Center Herb Duncan, who missed the Compton game because of an ankle injury, is ready for the whistle.

Long Beach has all its regulars intact, although Fullback Herb Williams, one of its two lettermen, has a weak ankle that may keep him out of the starting string. Advice from Long Beach are that he will see action sometime during the affair.

Today's tentative starting lineups failed to reveal anything surprising.

According to the best information available, Coach "Tex" Landreth starts a Santa Ana eleven containing Jack Mitchell and Clarence Bolton at end, "Bud" Boyle and Fred Devenney at tackle, Howard Rash and Ford Underwood at guard, Duncan at center, Francis Conrad at quarterback, Bob Mitchell at left half, Floyd Montgomery at right half, and Captain "Red" Kipper at fullback.

Coach Orian Landreth was reported to be sticking with his original plan of using two complete teams, and alternating them by quarters. The starting crew will probably have Don Bristow and Kenny Davis at end, Dick Parker and Hayes Arnold at tackle, Herbert Bush and Dick McMillan at guard, Ed Calahan at center, Charles Skillington at quarter, Ray Duprey and Al Downey at halfback, and Jim Nelson at full.

Landreth's first group is supposed to be bigger and stronger, but the second backfield is reputedly faster and more versatile. It will contain among others Johnny Takahashi, 127-pound Japanese halfback who is very fast and shifty; "Red" Ragsdale, another midweight speed merchant; Hugh Williams, the injured fullback who is one of Long Beach's two veterans, and Cornelius ("Baby") Austin, colored guard, a transfer from Jefferson HI where he played regularly last year. Austin is a minister's son.

Among Saint reserves sure to see action are Willard Noel, 188-pound right tackle, possible starter; Myron Newton, Walt Hendrie and Bob Wimbush, light, quick ends; Jim Klepper and Al Hood, guards; Sam Tucker, quarterback; Art Strancke, fullback, and Lee Hamilton, half. There is more than a bare possibility that Coach Oliver will start Tucker at quarter and Conrad at left half. He has experimented with this combination every day this week in secret practice.

Saint Strength Uncertain
Local observers have withheld opinion of the 1932 Saints until after the Long Beach contest, the Orange and Compton games shedding little light on the strength or weakness of the new Oliver creation. While in some quarters it is felt that the Saint regulars will lose little by comparison with the great '31 outfit, there is no expectation that it's reserve strength is anywhere near as good as last year's. The 1931 team was stocked two or three deep for every position. Oliver can't go two or three deep this term. In fact, there is still a question whether he can go one deep at two positions—right end and left half.

Santa Hendrie and Newton, have been a subject for much speculation. A few days ago the ends were supposedly the strongest part of the Saint machinery. Then "Tex" Harris was ruled ineligible and Oliver began the feverish task of breaking in a new man. Right End Bolton was shifted to Harris' left end. J. Mitchell, Hendrie and Newton, all inexperienced, were employed on the other wing.

Bob Mitchell's lameness is the only thing that makes left half uncertain. He has two weak ankles and they've slowed him considerably. He is expected to start, however, and play as long as he can keep ahead of the ball-carriers because he is a good blocker and one of the most conscientious members on the squad.

Peculiarly enough, Santa Ana's strongest line point is at tackle where it was once supposed the Saints would be weakest, due to the graduation of Lawrence Lutz and Miles Norron, a splendid pair. Boyle, Devenney, Noel, Sparks, Covington and one or two others have improved so rapidly that tackle is the one place where Oliver is now stocked "two or three deep." Good tackles are welcome on any team, especially of the high school variety.

Secret practice whispers: The Saints will work in new

SPORT SCRIBES RUN AMUCK AS BASEBALL OVER

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(UP)—That homely little implement, the salt shaker, is an invaluable aid when reading the baseball news these nice fall days. It comes in handy after nearly every story.

Since the world series ended baseball for the time being and threw the gentlemen who write about the sport out of work, so to speak, we have been treated to all and sundry sorts of reports. It would not surprise us one whit to pick up the Morning Bugle tomorrow and learn that Mahatma Gandhi was to lead the Cincinnati Reds next year, but the Cincinnati Reds because the city's franchise has been sold to Cos Cob, Connecticut.

Owners To Be Considered
Mind you, some of these reports might pan out, but the smart person will view them with a slight suspicion until the players and owners involved and, of course the mighty Keneasaw (Mount Wilson Observatory) Landis, have had their say.

During the past week or so the baseball writers have: Cut Babe Ruth's 1932 salary; Ripped the Philadelphia Athletics from stem to stern, or from A to Z as the boys say; Nominated everybody from Jim Bottomley to Ots Skinner as manager of the Cincinnati Reds; Sold the St. Louis Cardinals franchise to Montreal and the Boston Braves to a person named Charles F. Adams; Swapped "Hack" Wilson and "Mickey" Finn for Pitcher Ray Benge; Brought Wes Ferrell from Cleveland to New York; Named Clark Griffith to manage the Senators;

Accused Babe Ruth of heart trouble and named him as playing manager of the Giants; Placed Jimmy Dykes in charge of the White Sox; Placed John McGraw in charge of the White Sox; Rid the Cubs of Burtleigh Grimes, Bob Smith, Stanley Hack and Johnny Moore in exchange for a lefthanded pitcher and a slugging hitter.

Grimes Sure To Go
Of all these reports only one is dead certain to come through. We refer to the one that gets Burtleigh Grimes out of Chicago. Old Burtleigh is sure to move somewhere. Article 9, paragraph 15, of both the Constitution and Magna Carta make it impossible for the old dispenser of spit balls to stay with one club more than one year. Having played practically all of the major league clubs, it wouldn't be surprising to see Burtleigh go in hibernation, grow a set of mutton chops, and join the House of David outfit.

Talk of Ruth's salary cut is nothing more than the opening shots in that annual American sports extravaganza, the battle of the palms. Before you know it, so quickly does time fly, Colonel Jake Ruppert will be headed south to meet the Babe.

BAER WOULD FIGHT SCHMELING IN L. A.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Max Baer, California's gift to the heavyweight pugilistic world, today agreed to fight Max Schmeling, German fighter, on "ridiculously low terms" in Los Angeles next February.

Anell Hoffman, Baer's manager, declared that San Francisco also had bid for the proposed match, but that Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, preferred to have the battle here.

"Get Schmeling," Hoffman told Jack Doyle, Los Angeles promoter, "and you can have Baer on your own terms. Such a fight would draw more money in Los Angeles than anywhere else. The small $175,000 Schmeling-Walker gate indicates to me that the bout would do better in Los Angeles than in New York. Jacobs is not tied up to any Madison Square Garden contract."

Doyle has opened negotiations with Jacobs to bring Schmeling here to fight Baer and indicated that Jacobs was coming west on a "pleasure trip" that might be combined with business.

The winner of the feature tussle probably will be paired with the undefeated Long Beach mat star, Glenn Wade.

Al Raffert takes on Ad (Bombor) Herman in the semi. Two on-fall bouts show Pete Ladjint vs. Archie Rauta and "Scotty" Sullivan vs. Tony Marconel.

RIVERSIDE AND S. A. FAVORITES ON JAYSEE GRID

True strength of Coach Harry Van Cleave's squad.

Jack Keough, brother of "Zeke", Chaffey's former star, and Dale Triplett provide Pomona with two exceptional quarters, and other backfield candidates, comparatively light, give the Jasons a shifty combination which should perform in proportion to the support a strong forward wall offers. Wallace Raley, Merton Wade, Bud Grady, Ervan Spottawood and Lindsay Daugherty are the halfbacks; Bill Mansfield, Paul Whaley and Vere Raley the fullbacks. Heavy and experienced Fullback Mansfield from San Bernardino should be of great help to Pomona, since most of the Jason backs are small.

Pomona has one of the hardest schedules in the conference. After the Chaffey game it meets Riverside and Santa Ana, two of the strongest teams in the conference, away from home, and then plays Fullerton, San Bernardino and Citrus after a "breather" on October 29.

SAN BERNARDINO
Defeating Bakersfield 7 to 6 after Bakersfield had trimmed California Poly 32 to 0, Coach Art Schaefer's San Bernardino Indians will be everything but weak when they invade Municipal Bowl tomorrow night to play Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana Dons.

The past week has found the Indians brushing up on their pass defense, which appeared rather weak against Bakersfield. San Bernardino dropped its first practice game to Santa Monica 6 to 0, but the Indians have improved tremendously, as their victory over Bakersfield indicates.

Coach Schaefer has an idea that his aerial attack, built around Willard Black and Dick Sugars, respective halfback and end, will work against Santa Ana, as well as other conference opponents. He also has confidence in his punning attack, and he likes Municipal Bowl, which he inspected following the Santa Ana-Loyola game last week.

Against Santa Ana the San Bernardino inventor is expected to start the following combination: Crilley, quarter; Black and Ver-cellino, halfbacks; Levering, full; Sugars and Hilleman, ends; Ely and Ones, tackles; Buehler and Edwards, guards; and either Becker or Miller, center.

SANTA ANA
Out of a list of 59 candidates Coach Bill Cook of Santa Ana has developed an eleven which has gone undefeated in its practice sessions, the Dons now holding victories over the freshmen of U.S.C. and Loyola.

With its best backfield in years and a line that is rounding into good form, Santa Ana has been rated along with Riverside and Chaffey as one of the contenders for the 1932 title. Coach Cook, less optimistic at the present time, rates Fullerton, San Bernardino, Pomona and Citrus on even terms with his Dons, yet admits that his prospects are very, very promising.

Harold Welty, Hideo Higashi, Fred Bell and Vally Smith compose the strongest backfield combination, although Bill Bouldin, Jim Dauri, Walt Meyers and Charles Bowden are right on their heels for starting honors. Bouldin, quarterback also is learning the fullback duties, in order that Cook may alternate him with either Welty or Smith.

Paul Bruce, Ray Hoar and Bruce Handy are taking care of things at center; Fredericks, Williams, DeSmet, Kluthe, Olsen, Benton, Wallace, Stoddard and Yould still are in the running for first-string guard positions; Koral, Conkey, Heffern, R. Smith, Shelley are vying for a battle at tackle, while at end the Don mentor has several good combinations, including Jim Lash and Tom Carley, Earle Harris and Toby Greenow, Clarence Lewis and Fred Brooks.

Most critics are giving Santa Ana upwards of two touchdowns on San Bernardino here tomorrow night, but Cook seems to think that if the Dons win they will be doing well. He had scouts at the San Bernardino-Bakersfield game, and was not encouraged at the reports which he received.

Tomorrow's schedule—San Bernardino at Santa Ana (night game); Chaffey at Pomona; Citrus at Fullerton; Riverside at Utah (practice).

MR. M'LEMORE RETURNS WITH HIS 'EGGSPERT'

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(UP)—One week ago we said it was time to take the old Herr Professor, sage of the Catskills, out of the football and set him to picking football winners.

Today we are just as firmly convinced it is time to put him back in the mothballs, and maybe spray a little potassium cyanide on his head for good measure. For he was terrible last week. Of his 29 picks, seven wound up behind the eight-ball, giving him a percentage of .550. And in the early part of the season when setups are as plentiful as they are in a locker room, his work was inexcusable.

He, of course, doesn't see it that way. When we walked into the collar button factory where he is working as a tester, he answered us testily when we unhealed him.

Not So Hot, Huh?
What's the matter, he demanded, "ain't 550 okaydokey?" "Not so hot," we told him. "Oh yeah," he said, "what did Babe Ruth hit this year? Around 325. And I guess he's a bum. And yet when I hit the ball twice as good as the Babe you raise the shingles off the house." The professor took time out to place his stamp of approval on a new fangled button that can be used as a tire jack in an emergency, and then continued: "So lay off me, see. The way you squawk anybody'd think you bet on my charges." We told him we did just that. The old Herr Professor laughed as he handed me tomorrow's list. "Here's a dollar," he said.

Here They Are:

Columbia vs. Princeton—Columbia by a couple of touchdowns. Northwestern vs. Michigan—Northwestern by a shade.

Colorado N. vs. Utah Aggies—Colorado.

Yale vs. Chicago—Yale comes to life.

Tulane vs. Georgia—Easy for the Greenies.

Southern California vs. Oregon State—U.S.C. by a mile.

Stanford vs. Santa Clara—Hoover may not win but his alma mammy will.

California vs. St. Mary's—St. Mary's but don't ask me why.

Notre Dame vs. Haskell—I should be telling you!

Dartmouth vs. Lafayette—Dartmouth.

Nebraska vs. Iowa State—Nebraska.

Georgia Tech vs. Kentucky—Georgia Tech, but close.

Navy vs. W. and L.—Navy.

Ohio State vs. Indiana—The Buckeyes.

Missouri vs. Texas—Missouri.

N.Y.U. vs. Rutgers—Ed die for dear old Rutgers—but I wouldn't pick 'em.

Vanderbilt vs. Bowling Green Teachers—No contest.

Colorado Aggies vs. Colorado Mines—The Aggies.

Auburn vs. Duke—Auburn takes the Duke.

FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Walter Eugene Kerrick, Riverside salesman, arrested Wednesday night by Santa Ana police officers when they are said to have found a half gallon of whiskey in his car, was fined $100 in the Santa Ana police court today.

He paid a portion of the fine and the remainder will be paid in installments, according to the records in the case.

HIGH SUMMER

by Booth Tarkington

SYNOPSIS FOR PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

The Brendle, Enderton and Fuller families had just opened their cottages for the season at a fashionable New England seashore resort. According to Mrs. Wendell, Mr. Trainband had been a jobster fisherman, was the year-round, now that his employer was back there would be less meditative leaning on the hoe handle. The Brendle family consisted of husband and wife, Miss Kitty and Master Melroy. Mrs. Wendell, who presided in the kitchen, recalled Mr. Trainband with the latest family news. Mr. Brendle had given Mrs. Brendle a pearl necklace which would outshine anything in the summer colony; the Brendles had a new limousine and a French chauffeur; altogether the "ice cream folks" were going to have a very "high summer." According to Mrs. Wendell, the Brendles were going to take their rightful place in the colony, which was in the very forefront. While Mr. Trainband was in the garden a little later, Melroy, 14, but striving to look older, asked him to keep an automobile he was going to get in a shed beside the Trainband house. "Nope," had been the reply.

INSTALLMENT 3

The word fell distressfully upon Melroy's ear; he looked at Mr. Trainband and Mr. Trainband looked at him. Both swallowed and continued to look at each other; but between these two beliefs there was no true sympathy. Mr. Trainband's youth his parents had rarely gratified any desire of his; he had never owned an automobile; he had no expectation of owning one; and neither his training nor his experience had taught him, or so much as even hinted to him, that it was life's business to satisfy the desires and aspirations of youth.

It was, indeed, evident to him that Melroy had a passionate wish for an automobile, a wish largely incited by the fact that other summer boys near his age possessed these vehicles; but Mr. Trainband was as truly indifferent here as he was in the matter of Melroy's mother's pearls. Mr. Trainband, in fact, perceived the Brendle family as if from behind a cloud of non-comprehension. Had he been possessed of their prosperity, his tendency would have been to conceal rather than to display it; his pleasure would have been to conceal rather than to display it; his pleasure in it would have been in knowing that he had it, not at all in making evident to others that he had it; least of all could he understand a competition in such display.

True, he beheld this competition annually and saw that numbers of the summer residents entered into it with zest and as much refreshment to themselves as that vicariously derived by Mrs. Wendell, who had no prosperity whatever of her own but mystifyingly triumphed in the triumphs of those for whom she spent her days in labor. Upon the faint horizon of Mr. Trainband's information there was fitful knowledge that the Brendles, the Endertons, and others of the resort were not over-rare specimens in the general exhibition of the life of his native land; that such families, enjoying the display of luxury perhaps as much as its ease, were to be found in all centers of population.

To his view they were not rational fellow beings with himself; his feeling for them was as icy as the midmost zone of interstellar space. Not in his single lifetime could he have understood the money they spent for the greater pleasure of their young nor the lengths to which these young were permitted to go for their own gratification.

"Nope," said Mr. Trainband. Melroy was unaccustomed to be baffled even by refusals so dismally definite. "Well, but look here, Trainband—" "Nope," Mr. Trainband turned his back, made moist his hands, and, with the air of a man henceforth permanently given to industry, began to wield the hoe. "Nope."

"Well, but—" "Nope." Melroy stared disgustedly at the angular but rhythmically bending figure before him, perceived in its postures a hard, old New England obduracy with which his few seaside summers had already made him somewhat familiar; then he wisely abandoned his effort. He went away, muttering an unpleasant word or two at intervals, and walking doggedly, passed from the rear domain of the Brendles, presently came round a corner of the enclosed laundry yard and into view of the terrace, green lawn, and flower-edged paths that lay before the house. Near the terrace a long, blackly glistening automobile, built for the luxurious comfort of two people only, stood upon the white driveway, and, as Melroy made his appearance near by, a girl of nineteen came forth from the cottage and moved briskly across the terrace toward this waiting car.

She was of an agreeable aspect both in face and figure; her uncovered dark hair was charmingly rippled, probably by artifice; her hazel eyes, though shadowed by dark lashes, were bright with pleasure; and her cheeks showed a high color plainly natural. Only to her lips had a foreign tint been added—one somewhat violent, it is true; yet this bit of over-vividness was not inharmonious with the almost startling gaiety of the Parisian "sports clothes" she wore. Her step, as she came from the house to her waiting car, was so light it seemed more a skip, and her voice when she called to her brother, was of a dulcet slenderness: "Oh, Bull!"

He looked at her with some approval, feeling that she appeared to be, even as a sister, fairly creditable to him. "What you want?" "Nothing!" Miss Brendle laughed as she jumped into the car. "Isn't it great to be back here again with all summer ahead of us! You look cute as a bright little pin in your new clothes, Mel—" "I mean 'Bull'!" Kitty Brendle said hastily. "Listen!" he interrupted, his displeasure not abated. "Don't call me 'cute,' either, or get so glibly about bright little pins or—" "I won't again. I didn't mean to be tedious," the amiable girl said cheerfully. "Want to go along with me, Bull?"

"No, I don't," he replied, but had a second thought and added more graciously, as he climbed up to sit beside her: "Well, I'll let you take me as far as village. I got some fair there I got to 'tend to'."

These affairs of his, as the event proved, were concerned with the hardware store next door to the village post office, and when he descended here his sister expressed a passing curiosity. "You aren't going to try to buy a rifle, again, are you, Mel—Bull, I mean?"

"Well, anyway, don't get into trouble the way little Tommy Foster did when he traded all his splendid birthday presents for one of the junked cars they keep in that lot behind the store!" Melroy, halfway across the sidewalk, started slightly and turned upon her with severity. "Listen! I didn't request you to hang around here and watch every slightest action I perform, did I?"

"No," she laughed. "I'll go away as quickly as I can, Bull!" She was not quite so good as her word, however, for, although her brightly shod small foot obediently pressed down a lever, she did not at once set the car in motion. Instead, she sat, apparently gazing into the wide window of the store for some moments after Melroy's figure had blurred within the shadowy interior. Her eyes held cognizance neither of his faintly gleaming brass buttons nor of the metallic articles on display at the window; the wide glass showed was reflected there, shining in the sun and of a shape proving even to those but little expert in such matters that several thousand dollars had seemed an appropriate expenditure to place Kitty Brendle in this detail of her proper setting.

She had that thought, though not in the precise arithmetical figures of the dealer's tag; what expressed itself to her was the manufacturer's gilding name, and even this, of course, was but background. What pleased her was the vivid, pretty image of herself in such a car, enlivening its elegance with the brilliant clothes she wore. Yet her true thought was less vain than might appear, for her pleasure was not in the effect upon herself of the gleamy reflection but in her belief that this was the portrait she presented to others. Then, a few minutes later, with these pleasing moments, and the village too, behind her, the general audience in her consciousness became particularized and concentrated into an individual. Approaching her upon the country road down which she sped, there came another car—one almost twin to hers and as easily recognized by Kitty Brendle as was the youth who drove it. Moreover, as the distance between the two machines quickly lessened, so did the high color of her cheeks as quickly increase its area. "Oh, my!" she whispered to herself.

The approaching driver reduced his speed, lifted his left hand palm outward to signal for a conference, and, when she had made evident her acceptance of this overture, brought his car to a stop beside hers. "Hello, Kit," he said with careless graciousness, a manner that any stranger might instantly have perceived to be characteristic of him. He was a handsome, well-tanned boy of twenty-two; his symmetrical figure was that of an athlete; his dark hair had been tousled by the wind, not unbecomingly; and in the slight languor of his brown eyes an older person might possibly have perceived some hint of an underlying preoccupation with the fine appearance of both face and figure—even a consciousness that the breeze was incapable of doing half badly by the hair.

"When did you Brendles shuffle into the old place?" he asked, but

HOOVER LEADS ROOSEVELT IN VOTE AT BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 7.—President Hoover led Governor Roosevelt by 18 to 5 in a straw vote taken Wednesday at the White House cafe when the Wednesday Luncheon club held its first session of the year. There was one vote for Thomas, Tallant Tubbs received 16 votes against three for McAdoo. Not a vote was cast for Bob Shuler.

In the absence of Postmaster Brayton S. Norton, chairman, Dr. L. F. Mallow, secretary-treasurer, presided. He announced that Chairman Norton, who has held the post for two years, has refused to be a candidate for re-election next Wednesday. Dr. Mallow asked that members present their choices next week for the club's only two officers. The club has no dues, does not sponsor any movements and no solicitations are permitted.

G. B. Dunham, former secretary of the chamber of commerce, announced that the Red Cross Relief committee, which is headed by Mrs. Dunham, was greatly in need of men's working shoes and socks and trousers. An effort is being made to supply shoes to men who get a chance to work but who cannot on account of unfit footwear.

One hundred sacks of flour and a large quantity of lima beans are in storage at the relief office, loaned by the water district. The lima beans came from the district's water-bearing land in the lower Santa Ana River basin, and were accepted in lieu of rent from a farmer who grew the crop but did not realize enough cash to pay the rent. The beans were donated by the water district. Mr. Dunham said families could be fed with flour and beans but that a grease ration was needed and other fats for this use. Men's and boys' clothing also is sought.

Mr. Dunham also announced that of the 134 Laguna Beach students attending Tustin High school that eight could not pay the $5 deposit required against breakage and that the P. T. A. is attempting to raise the $40, which will be returned.

SELECT JUDGES FOR LEGION FIESTA DEL ORO EVENTS; BIG RANCHES COOPERATING

With the stage all set for the first annual Fiesta Del Oro to be held Sunday at the Derby rancho west of Costa Mesa under the auspices of the Costa Mesa post, American Legion, judges for the contest for queen of the fiesta and for many of the competitive events were announced today.

The Legion committee, consisting of L. C. Slothover and John Wilcox announced today that H. W. Whitney, retired, of the United States Army, Terry E. Stephenson, Santa Ana postmaster, and William M. Pheron, son of a pioneer Orange county family and authority in historical and archeological research, have been chosen as judges of the events.

Perhaps the most difficult task at the fiesta will be the selection of a queen at noon during the program. Many of Orange county's prettiest girls are entered in the contest and the judges are expected to have a real problem on their hands in choosing the winner.

The three judges not only will choose the queen, but also will make the awards in the horse-racing, fancy riding and roping, best Spanish and pioneer costumes, best covered wagon and stage coach exhibit and other similar events.

Ranches Cooperate
Many people from outside points are expected to be attracted to the fiesta through the efforts of the Costa Mesa post, American Legion, realistic picture of old California in the Fiesta del Oro.

From the great Irvine, Moulton, and Diamond Bar ranches, riders and exhibits have been entered for the event. Many pioneer families are contributing articles and vehicles in their effort to help and all these will be assembled in the greatest early-day exhibit and occasion the county has known for many years.

Probably few residents of the county realize the historical importance of the Derby rancho where the fiesta will be staged for the benefit of the unemployed of Costa Mesa.

Originally what is now known as the Derby rancho was part of the only Spanish grant in Orange county, the other grants having been made from the Mexican government after independence had been won from Spain. It was then known as the Santa Ana-Santiago rancho and was granted by the Spanish crown to Don Antonio Yorba, a retired army officer in 1810. Part ownership was apparently vested in his nephew, Juan Pablo Peralta. Originally the confines of the great ranch embraced much of what is now central and northern Orange county including the present site of the city of Santa Ana, it is reported.

Several of Don Antonio's descendants, now living at the little settlement of Yorba in Santa Ana canyon, will be in attendance at the Fiesta del Oro next Sunday.

Buried Gold Legend
At a date following the granting of the rancho one Don Diego operated the rancho raising thousands of cattle there. A glamorous legend surrounding the place is that Don Diego sold cattle, hides and tallow to the sum of $240,000, gold, and as he was not known to have placed this hoard anywhere else for safe-keeping it is believed he buried it upon the rancho.

Shortly after the present owner, George W. Derby, a wealthy oil operator of Bakersfield, purchased the rancho in 1910 he was approached by a pioneer of San Bernardino for permission to seek treasure on the place. The permission he granted was somewhat disastrous to the old adobe hacienda for its foundations had been undermined by the treasure hunters. A tunnel was also run into the face of the bluff upon which the house stands overlooking a great stretch of river-bottom land toward Huntington Beach. So far as is known no treasure was found so it may still be on the ranch awaiting a discoverer. The ranch now consists of 540 acres.

One admission charge which is very nominal admits to all the glamorous features of the day including a Spanish barbeque at noon and a program of singing and dancing by 100 caballeros and señoritas all in colorful costumes of early California. Indications are that there will be a large gathering from every part of the county. The

STATE TO PAY $3736 FOR AID COUNTY BLIND

Orange county will receive $3736 from the state for the aid of nine blind persons during the current state biennium, according to an announcement made public today by Mrs. Rhea Crawford Spilvalo, director of the state department of social welfare.

In the entire state, in order to provide relief for 1619 blind persons, approximately $600,000 in state funds will be expended during the two-year period.

Under the 1929 blind relief act, persons totally blind or not possessing a useful degree of vision may receive a maximum of $50 monthly, half of which is paid by the state and the remainder by the counties. Thus, it was pointed out, the counties will be compelled to match the $600,000 in state funds, making a total of $1,200,000 to be expended in blind aid in the two-year period.

The per capita cost of the blind aid legislation was estimated by Mrs. Kathleen C. Michael, chief of the division of blind, at five cents a year for every person in California.

With 1619 persons receiving state aid in the two-year period, 1155 sightless state wards on March 30, 1931, the report indicated the number of persons receiving state aid is increasing at the rate of one person daily.

The increase is believed to be due partly to economic conditions which forced many blind persons, formerly able to care for themselves, to seek aid.

INDIAN CEREMONIAL DATES ANNOUNCED

Announcement of the dates set by the Mission Indian Federation for the annual ceremonial dancing at Riverside was received today by Thomas E. Williams, head of the printing department at the Santa Ana High school and Junior college.

Thursday, October 13, has been designated as "open day," and its entire schedule of events will be open to the public. A barbeque dinner will be held from 12 to 2 p. m. and dancing will continue from 11 a. m. until late at night. The ceremonials may be viewed at the old Tibbets home, now known as the Council grounds, at 3029 Prospect avenue, Riverside, according to the announcement.

A three day period indicated as "Captains' Days," and covering Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 10, 11 and 12, will be devoted to private ceremonials, voted to private ceremonials. Sacred dances will be held each evening at 8 o'clock, although Thursday's presentation will be the only exercise of this type open to the public.

County Ministers Meet Here Monday

All ministers of Orange county have been invited to attend a luncheon to be held Monday noon at Ketter's cafe, the meeting having been called to make plans for the united action toward the retention of the Wright act. The move is being made to get out the Christian vote at the November election.

The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, heads the committee making arrangements for the luncheon, plans for which were made at a recent meeting of the Santa Ana Ministerial union.

SMELTZER
Loe McLaughlin and Dr. Edward Hawkins, of Pasadena, spent several days at the Los Patos Gun club while on vacation.
Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips entertained as guests for two days, B. F. White and nephew, Walter White, of Los Angeles. Tom Bowen, of Santa Ana, was a guest in the Phillips home Sunday.
day's receipts over expenses will be given entirely to welfare work among Costa Mesa's needy.

ered the plains about Harbin, Manchuria, and thousands of others have died since in an epidemic of cholera. Here you see one of the main streets of Fudjadian, in the Harbin district, under water. Trains could not get within 300 miles of Harbin, rail center for northern Manchuria. Bandit raids on available food supplies, after the flood had destroyed almost 75 per cent of stocks, left the population facing starvation.

MAKE PROGRESS IN PRELIMINARY CHEST REPORTS

With more than 100 volunteers already at work in the establishments department; the first report of returns coming in this afternoon from the schools department, and the advance gifts committee scheduled to bring its activities nearly to a close by Monday night, the welfare and relief fund appeal of the Community Chest is making rapid progress leading to the intensive campaign which opens on October 17.

The two large departments which will conduct their appeals during the intensive campaign, are rapidly getting their volunteer organizations completed. Both in the residential department under the direction of Miss Mabel McFadden, and the business under Charles Pritchard, there will be larger armies of volunteers than for any previous chest fund raising project. There are to be around 130 women working with Miss McFadden, and about 140 men with Pritchard.

Two additional departments will put their portions of the welfare and relief campaign underway on Monday, with the thought of completing the work by the end of that week. Organization is well lined up in these divisions which include the public employees and the employees of the public utilities and larger transportation companies. Floyd Banks, chairman for public employees, held a meeting of his key men today and Barry McPhee, chairman for the utilities group, is holding his committee meeting on Saturday.

Meet Tomorrow
Working with Mrs. Paul Bailey, the leaders in the residential department will complete the lay-out of captains units for their intensive work at a meeting on tomorrow morning. During the early part of the coming week sectional meetings will be held with women volunteers in order to discuss and arrange details of the work of the intensive campaign for each unit.

Churches of the city have been invited to make Sunday, October 16, Community Chest day. Many of the departments which have either started their appeal or are to do so prior to the intensive appeal, will call upon employees in different fields to make pledges for the fund of from one to one and one-half per cent of income. This same schedule of giving will be asked of others as a minimum during the intensive appeal.

Twenty pounds of sweet potato is a lot of sweet potato in any kind of package, but when it comes all in one potato that is something to tell about.

Cotton Bennett who is working the ranch of Mrs. E. F. Minter, corner of Bristol and Ocean avenue, was digging sweet potatoes for the family table Monday. He opened a hill that had seven potatoes in it. Six sweet potatoes in a hill is unusual and when one of them weighs 20 pounds it is amazing. The other six potatoes were considerably above average, the smallest being as big as a doubled fist, Bennett reported.

As a matter of record Bennett measured the largest and found that it was 29 1-2 inches in diameter and 34 3-4 inches in length.

Did the Bennett family eat the sweet potato? Of course not! It was turned over to the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to be photographed and told about in booklets. Who can beat it?

EATING WHILE IN GLASS HOUSE NERVE TRYING

People who live in glass houses should never eat where they can be seen if they do not want crowds of interested people watching their every move, according to Miss Edna Kirby, Paramount motion picture actress who is living in the show windows of the J. C. Horton Furniture company store this week.

Miss Kirby admitted yesterday that eating breakfast, lunch and dinner before the gaze of the multitude sometimes gets on her nerves. She said: "I never eat self-consciously with all the crowds staring at me except when I'm eating and that is when the largest crowds gather."

"I think they must not regard me as a real live person until they see me actually partaking of food and then it dawns on them that I must be human after all. Yesterday while I was eating lunch I glanced up and right in the front row was a young man gazing intently at my mouth. You can imagine what joy I had eating with him watching every mouthful."

Miss Kirby admitted that another trying period in her daily life is at 9:15 p. m. when she is getting ready for bed. That is another high point in attendance for each day. She said yesterday that while living in show windows she has found the reason for the worried look on the face of goldfish. They are wondering where they can go when they want to be alone.

BATH HOUSE FIRE CAUSES $500 LOSS

Hundreds of bathing suits and bath towels were destroyed when fire broke out in the Newport Beach bath house late Wednesday, the damage being around $500.

Prompt action of the Newport Beach fire department under the direction of Chief Frank Crocker prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. The fire was believed due to spontaneous combustion. The bath house is owned by H. M. Perez, a former Newport city councilman.

Makes Statement On Deer Episode

T. J. Neal, local sporting goods dealer, today denied that he was with J. W. Parkinson at the time Parkinson shot a deer which rangers at first declared was a doe. "I was hunting in another canyon at the time," Neal said. "The deer that Parkinson killed was a four-point buck, but we were unable to bring it out because of the dense brush. A ranger later found the buck Parkinson killed when an investigation was made after Parkinson was arrested, and has the horns and hide at a ranger station. A doe's carcass was found near the place where the buck was killed and this resulted in the charges against Parkinson."

Draws 18 Jurors For Orange Court

County Clerk J. M. Backs drew a new panel of 18 jurors for service in justice court at Orange yesterday. Jurors drawn for this duty were: Harry Douglas, Mrs. Jesse Campbell, Roy Snodgrass, Mrs. Vernon Estes, L. A. Durler, Ralph E. Welch, M. E. Riven, Charles R. Evans, Claudia Wendolph, Angeline Courtney, Ervin H. Meyers, Mrs. Thomas Griffith, Mrs. Cecil P. Bonebrake, Miss Mae E. Burkett, Mrs. Alma H. Coffey, Alfred Higgins, Otis C. Ingie, and W. E. Crest.

SANTA ANA TO JOIN IN OBSERVANCE OF NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Continuing a policy followed out in other years, the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce will cooperate in the observance of National Fire Prevention Week from October 9 to 15.

Recognizing the tremendous effect of fire losses upon the nation, the president of the United States each year issues a proclamation appealing for aid in reducing the losses.

John Henderson, chairman of the committee in charge of the program for the chamber of commerce, could not be reached today, but it was announced by George Raymer, secretary of the chamber of commerce, that a direct program of education will be carried out in the schools and elsewhere, with prizes to be given schools for cooperative measures.

In past years, Santa Ana has ranked high among the cities with low losses from fire and has achieved national recognition through fire prevention programs and small economic loss due directly to fires.

An appeal is being made to the public by local, state and government officials to put forth a great effort this year to curtail the tremendous fire losses of the nation, which are causing a loss of almost a half-billion dollars in property and more than 10,000 lives.

H. S. Engineers to Make Frisco Trip

Santa Ana high school's engineers, who operate a lunch stand to secure finances for their yearly projects, are planning a boat trip to San Francisco during Christmas vacation.

With Charles L. Tibbets, their adviser, the engineers previously have visited Yosemite National park, Big Bear and Arrowhead. A trip to Yellowstone National park was tentatively arranged last year, but the distance was thought too far for the two weeks which the club had planned to spend away from Santa Ana.

Camp Custodian Not Cell Inmate

Because the name of Ulrich is a peculiar one and very few persons possess it, there is an impression around Newport Beach that a man by that name arrested several days ago and sent to jail here for speeding is William Ulrich, custodian of the municipal campground at Newport Beach.

Ulrich wants it distinctly understood that he is not the man. Even his preacher came down to see if he was in jail, he said. The man arrested was E. E. Ulrich, who resides at the Bay Shore camp on the Coast highway and not at Newport Beach.

Mrs. Jack Valley To Resume Ebell Book Reviews

Ebell society members may participate for their entertainment Monday afternoon, October 10, the first of the half a dozen reviews of current books which Mrs. Jack Valley of Los Angeles, will give through the club year.

Mrs. Valley has attained an unusual popularity with her concise and comprehensive summing up of the salient points of each season's output of books. She always attracts a large attendance of Ebell women when giving a program here, and the announcement that she was to resume her series for the current club year, met with a general enthusiasm.

The present political situation will form large in Monday's program, for Mrs. Valley will include in her first group of the afternoon, "Masses Versus Classes" by Benjamin A. Mason; "Smash the Political Machine" by Harold Rowntree and Beatrice McCree; the latest "Stunt" Chase book, "A New Deal"; and Morris MacKer's "This Country of Ours." It was the latter book that yielded the quotation chosen by the reviewer to express the general trend of her selections, "American people are courageous, amiable and unformed."

Books to be reviewed will include the latest books by Ellen Glasgow, Willa Cather, Edith Wharton and Honoré Willis Morrow; Pearl Buck, W. R. Bridge and Dawn Powell. Ebell society will convene at its usual meeting hour, 2 o'clock, with Mrs. Paul Bailey in the president's chair.

New Glendale Arrival Is Luncheon Hostess

A small group of guests spent a pleasant afternoon this week in the home of Mrs. Raymond A. McMahon, who was their hostess Wednesday at a bridge luncheon given in her home on South Main street.

Accepting Mrs. McMahon's hospitality for luncheon and bridge were Mesdames Francis T. Homer, Mrs. George A. Frazier, Mrs. Harold J. Anderson, Mrs. M. Schley and Mrs. E. J. Frazier, all of Glendale, and Mrs. E. Mara and Mrs. H. E. Castaneda of Los Angeles.

The McMahons moved to Santa Ana from Glendale about a month ago. Mr. McMahon having been transferred to this city by the Southern California Edison company to assume charge of the substation at South Main street and Sunflower avenue.

Auxiliary Team Has Sewing Luncheon

Mrs. Lee Post entertained members of the American Legion auxiliary drill team Wednesday afternoon when she was hostess at a covered dish luncheon in her home on West Tenth street. The afternoon was devoted to sewing.

Those present were Mesdames Ruth Anderson, Ann Lelmer, Inez Huber, Ida McCarthy, Rose Ann Hardcastle, Emma Penn, Evelyn Imhoff, Myrtle Swarthout, Frances Sullivan, Ruth Jellis, Mabel Thatcher, Roberta Mercer; the Misses Pearl Christiansen and Gladys Young and the hostess, Mrs. Post.

YOU and your Friends

The Rev. Samuel Edgar, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, and W. G. Martin left today for Fresno to attend a meeting of the Presbytery. They were accompanied by the Rev. A. M. Thompson of Hemet, and expect to return home early next week.

Mrs. C. W. Burns, 911 Spurgeon street, with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burns have returned from Los Angeles where they attended funeral services Tuesday for the late W. R. Bacon, Los Angeles pioneer and well known attorney. He was the father of J. S. Bacon, son-in-law of Mrs. C. W. Burns, and his death came suddenly on Saturday, October 5. Funeral services were held in the chapel at Rosedale cemetery, and included cello numbers played by Edward H. Burns.

Mrs. O. W. Schroeder was hostess to a group of friends recently at an enjoyable day spent in the San Bernardino mountains where she has a cabin under construction. In the party were Paul Bingle of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strimberg and three children, and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hershey and daughter Ruth, Balboa Island, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Schnabel of Los Angeles.

Word was received here today that Miss Lula Hodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hodge, 207 North Flower street, has been pledged to Beta Lambda Mu, social sorority of the University of Redlands. Miss Hodge is a member of the junior class and is active in Christian work on the campus, belonging to the Student Volunteers and the Y. W. C. A. She is vice president of the Student Volunteers.

New Card Club Group Lunches in Nearby Beach City

Members of a 500 club whose organization is so new that it has not yet been given a name, were delightfully entertained Wednesday by Mrs. Grace Moranville R. as guests of Mrs. Moranville at the club members assembled in a popular tangle shop in Huntington Beach, there to enjoy a 2 o'clock luncheon menu in a private dining room gay with autumn flowers.

They remained for the afternoon, joining in a 500 contest in which Mrs. W. R. Summers scored high and Mrs. Grover C. Spray, low, each receiving an appropriate reward.

The group will meet alternate Wednesdays through the winter months with each hostess entertaining at luncheon. In two weeks the club will be entertained by Mrs. Joseph B. Irwin in her home at Irvine park.

Members of the club include Mrs. Moranville, Wednesday's hostess, Mrs. George Horton, Mrs. Peter Vlahos, Mrs. Charles E. Dixon, Mrs. Grover Spray, Mrs. W. R. Summers, Mrs. Robert West and Mrs. Joseph B. Irwin. Mrs. Moranville also entertained a few guests, including Mrs. Gordon Talbert.

Spanish-American Club Has Social Affair In Pythian Hall

Although organized about three months ago, the Spanish-American club held the first of its program of social meetings on Wednesday night when members and their families to the number of 425 assembled in Pythian hall.

Membership in the club is limited to descendants of the Spanish settlers of Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and California. Thus in its history, the club goes back to the period of the Conquistadores in New Mexico and the founding of the Missions in California, antedating Plymouth Rock and the eastern colonies of the United States. The early romantic days of California will be perpetuated and it is planned to revive the friendliness and festivities of the Dons and the great ranchos.

Officers of the club are N. D. Meyer, president; Vincent Nieblas, vice president; Charles C. Carrillo, secretary; Eloy Lucero, treasurer; A. A. Velarde, sergeant-at-arms; Sol Gonzales, Antonio Lopez, Marcus Forster, Fernando Mendoza and J. V. Borona, board of directors.

These officers gave short talks on the entertainment program interspersed with vocal, instrumental and dance numbers, all arranged under the direction of Sol Gonzales. The remainder of the pleasant evening was devoted to dancing.

Announcements

Santa Ana Country club members were reminded today of the first dance of the season to be held to-night at 9:30 o'clock in the clubhouse. Music will be provided by Louise Shirey and her orchestra of San Pedro.

Women of the Moose are having a benefit card party Tuesday evening, October 11 at 8 o'clock in the Moose hall. Admission will be articles of non-perishable food to be used in preparing baskets for distribution at Christmas time.

The Fifth Household Economics section of Ebell society will hold its first meeting of the year Tuesday, October 11 at 12:30 o'clock in the clubhouse lounge. Luncheon will be served, with cards following. Hostesses will be officers of the section, including Mrs. E. C. Diehl, leader and Mrs. George Raymer, Mrs. Howard Stone and Mrs. Paul Bailey. Those who cannot attend are asked to notify Mrs. Diehl.

October Program Renews Promise of Worthy Barn Season

Smoke curled once more from the corn cob pipe of the Widow Cagle, the cane of Alec Wiley again thumped across stage boards, and The Bad Man's gat flourished with reminiscent gusto when those glamorous stage personalities came to life for half an hour on the stage of The Barn last night for the express benefit of Santa Ana Community Players venturing out for their October meeting.

Delightful Music
But reunions with earlier Community Play stars were not all of the entertainment fare offered, for the musical program was one of outstanding beauty, with Ollime Enlow Matthews and Earl Fraser as the artists. Both are members of the Players' association and have appeared in formal plays as well as on countless Barn programs, both in musical features and the drama.

For their violin-piano numbers last night, they chose a modern suite of popular Spanish numbers by De Falla, whose phrasings and unusual rhythms were distinctly modern. Each of the four movements was delightfully individual, "The Moorish Flute," a lullaby, "Nana," "Cancion" (Song) and "La Jota," a spirited and vivid dance.

The sketch, "Souvenirs" in which the cast was induced in an all-star one, followed the musical numbers, and the opening scene showed Gladys Simpson Shafer, Players' director, and Mrs. Marshall Harlow, technical director, meeting to thresh out problems of selecting suitable play material for the coming season.

To their seeming surprise, they were given assistance by those who have appeared in various successes during the dozen years of the existence of Santa Ana Community Players. Each member of the cast had been at pains to secure the costume in which the original role had been enacted whether one season or several seasons ago. The flowing black robes of "The Servant in the House," the lace ruffles of "The Devil's Disciple" in Revolutionary days; the fluttering mannerisms of "Dulcy," brought appreciative murmurs of recognition from the audience.

Lines were in character with each personality and introduced excerpts from the several plays in which the present cast had appeared.

A spontaneous ripple of applause greeted the entry of A. E. Hoenschel as "The Servant in the House," the demonstration being significant of the esteem which personality and character held in the memory of the Barn audience.

Members of this all-star cast included: A. D. Hoenschel as "The Servant in the House"; Edith Cornell as the housekeeper of "Enter Madame"; Juanita Wright Fletcher as Lady Jean Houghton of "The Little Church Around the Corner"; Arthur Collier as "The Yellow Jacket"; Esmeralda Card Beeman as the Widow Cagle of "Sun Up"; Clara Kate Owens as Diane of "Seventh Heaven"; Margaret Gaebie as Miss Hardcastle of "She Stoops to Conquer"; Gladys Simpson Shafer as "Dulcy"; Warren Fletcher as "The Devil's Disciple"; Joy Brisco as Maggie of "What Every Woman Knows"; Frank Lansdown as Alec Wiley of the same play; and Frederick Elliott, substituting for R. R. (Dusty) Miller as The Bad Man.

"Souvenirs" provided a spicy ending to the program, which also included a review of Rudolf Bessler's stage success, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," in which Katherine Cornell achieved such a triumph. The review was given by Eleanor Young Elliott.

During a brief business period Frank Lansdown, appearing in the costume of the Barrie play, informed those in the audience of the types of membership to which they were eligible and passed cards on which each was given opportunity to indicate the kind of membership desired and the particular work which he was willing to assist.

Play Choices Told
The Players were reminded of the dates in November and February for which "The Swan," by Molnar and George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" have been chosen for presentation under the direction of Gladys Simpson Shafer. The annual Tournament of One-Act Plays will fall in April.

Warren K. Hillyard made a plea in behalf of the Community Chest, whose drive opens this month, and Miss Florence Brownridge called attention to the Carnival dance to be held under the auspices of the Junior Ebell society Friday, October 28.

Mrs. Shafer's program committee for last evening included Mrs. Charles Hyde Jr., Miss Louise Maloney, Eleanor Young Elliott, Mrs. Arnold Lund, Ollime Enlow Matthews, Miss Margaret Gaebie, R. Carson Smith, Warren Fletcher and Robert L. Brown.

Eteri Club Members Meet for Dinner

The meeting of Eteri club held this week in the home of Mrs. Lewis J. Gall, 1338 West Ninth street, was attended by 37 members and guests. A covered-dish dinner was served to precede an interesting program and business session.

Miss Irene Hunter presided over the meeting and had charge of Bible study. Several of the members agreed to give full time to consecration service. Mrs. Jones of the John Brown evangelized party, was speaker of the evening.

Miss May Will Assume Sponsorship of New Sorority

In organizing a Santa Ana chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, national literary and social sorority for young women, Mrs. Josephine Hollenbeck, temporarily in the city in the interests of the organization, has secured the services of Miss Beulah May as sponsor for the group. Miss May's own artistic talents, which find expression in painting, sculpture, and various forms of writing including especially verse and plays, seems to her friends, to make her an unusually happy choice for sponsor of such an organization.

Invitations to join the sorority as charter members will be extended to some two dozen young women of Santa Ana and its vicinity. At present there are 17 Beta Sigma Phi sororities in California, functioning under the direction of such prominent women as Mrs. James Ralph Jr. wife of the governor of the state; Mrs. Gundrum, state regent of the D. A. R., and Miss Eleanor Miller, who has been a member of the state legislature for the past ten years. In the east, where the sorority is especially popular, sponsors include Mrs. Vachel Lindsay, wife of the famous poet.

Mrs. Hollenbeck came to Santa Ana directly from Pasadena where she just instituted two chapters.

Pegasus Club Writes Varied Poems for Program

An interesting program consisting largely of poems written by club members was given Thursday afternoon at the meeting of Pegasus club held in the home of Mrs. Charles Brisco, 421 East Bishop street. "Just Around the Corner" was the topic for the day.

Mrs. Brisco, who was in charge of the program, had decked her home with dahlias and other bright-hued flowers for the occasion. Mrs. Justus Birtcher opened the meeting with her verses, "A Call to the Polls," after which Mrs. C. C. Fuller read a parody on "The House by the Side of the Road" and two additional poems, "Guiding Light" and "Around the Corner."

Other verse contributed was by Mrs. Hugh Neighbour, "Fall"; Mrs. Frank Lansdown, "The Thief"; and Mrs. Earl Morris, "Around the Corner." Mrs. George Bond told of a recent trip she had taken, giving it the title, "Around the Coast." She also read a poem, "An Optimist."

Miss Marjorie Lusk contributed poetry and an original story which she recently had published in "The Christian Endeavor World," titled, "Bohemian Annie Padd Her Debt." Mrs. Caleb Jackson gave a paper on "Around the Corner." Mrs. Brisco talked on "The Little Church Around the Corner in New York City," singing the song, "Yok City," and the climax of her talk. The words of the song were written by Mary Davenport and the music by Blanche Albright. She concluded the program by singing, "Little Lost Youth of Me" by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

Special guests present were Mrs. Malcolm Macurda and Mrs. Brisco's mother, Mrs. Peck. A business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Earl Morris. Mrs. Harry Havely will be hostess at the next club session.

Junior Fine Arts Club Meets in Whittier

Members of the Junior Fine Arts club elected officers and took part in an interesting program at their recent meeting held in the home of Miss Kathryn Benham in Whittier. Robert Dooler presided over the meeting, later turning it over to the club parliamentary, Mrs. Luella McGuffee.

Mrs. Carl H. Lykko was named secretary, and Miss Geneva Hartung, treasurer. Other officers had been elected previously. The program included reading, "Nize Baby" by Miss Nava Faye Gerdes; "The Highwayman" by Miss Berta Gowan; a song, "At the Meeting of the Wyandotte Maedenu club of the Y. W. C. A., held in the Y. W. rooms. Miss Eyre is professor of psychology at Scripps college. "Growing Personality" was her topic.

Following the dinner, Mrs. John McCoy, formerly Miss Blanche Thompson, was presented with the traditional cup and saucer which the club presents its brides. A business session was in charge of the president, Miss Katherine Spicer.

Club Cabinet Plans
Making plans for club activities of the next few months, cabinet members of the Wyandotte Maedenu club of the Y. W. C. A. met Wednesday evening in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe for a dinner session. Miss Katherine Spicer is president of the group.

Political discussions, book reviews and miscellaneous programs are to make up the schedule between now and Christmas, it was decided. Tentative plans for the Spanish kitchen, the annual benefit dinner and program to be held in November, were made.

Those present were Miss Nancy Elder, advisor and the Misses Marie Smith, Mary Ford, Katherine Spicer, Eliza Venn, Ruth Du Bois, Helen Mayes, Beulah Dugden, Rowena Newcomb and Dorothy Dresser.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Putting Up Some Reserve Stores

I have been doing something this morning that may be of interest to you: that something is making a lot of the filling used for Spanish omelette and putting it away for future use.

Not that the filling is confined alone to omelette use, but that is the way in which I can best describe it to you. Six quarts of this mixture will be a joy through the winter. It can be used for omelette fillings, for masking the top of meat leaves, for brown gravies in stews, in oyster sauce with baked beans, and in half a dozen other ways probably. To make it use:

- 1 flat crate of tomatoes (about 8 quarts)
- 12 large green peppers
- 12 large onions
- 1 or more minced redhot peppers
- 4 cup sugar
- 1-3 cup salt
- 6 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 6 tablespoons any steak sauce
- 1 cup salad oil
- 2 heads minced celery
- 1 large bunch parsley, minced
- 4 cloves garlic, minced fine

Peel the tomatoes and onions, seed the peppers and chop fine. Start them simmering with the oil and seasoning, then add the minced celery, parsley and garlic. Cook over a low flame until the mixture is smooth and well blended (about 8 hours very slow cooking), then bottle. The oil does the trick!

TODAY'S RECIPE Jelly Roll Pastry

- 2 cups pastry flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2-3 cup chilled shortening
- 4 tablespoons cold water
- 1 tablespoon shortening, extra

The kind of shortening used doesn't matter. Some prefer lard, others won't have it in the house, preferring one of the many good vegetable shortenings.

Whatever kind of shortening is chosen there is one rule every cook must observe, and that is to thoroughly chill the ingredients. Not only must shortening be chilled but also the flour previously sifted into the mixing bowl. It is this care that gives one perfect results in pastry making.

Assuming that the flour has been sifted with the salt and well chilled, the next step is to cut the chilled shortening, leaving it the size of peas. The water is added a few drops at a time, cutting it into the flour until it barely holds together.

Turn onto a floured board and form into a mound, roll this mound into a long narrow strip, dust with flour and shave the extra tablespoon of shortening over the roll. Roll up, just as you would a jelly roll cake, cut the roll in four parts, using one for each crust.

Never roll fresh pastry and rolled out leftovers together. Keep all the scraps for another pie crust or roll them out, sprinkle with cheese and make cheese straws for salad.

There are nearly 2000 energy calories in the recipe, or 400 to each person. No, my arithmetic isn't wrong, dear reader. I'm thinking of the extra calories we must account for in the trimmings cut away from the pie crust.

Have you ever had a French egg face pack? Do you know what it is? Do you know what it can do for your tired facial muscles and muddy skin?

If you want the answer to all my questions you may have it by writing me for a copy of PARTY GOWN COMPLEXIONS, the current leaflet, and please don't forget to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing it back to you. That is the only charge made this week.

Saturday's recipe will be Graham Cracker Pudding, a sun-shus uncooked, chilled dessert, designed for any and all types of ice boxes, or none at all.

ANN MEREDITH.

Two Books of Poems Discussed Before Ebell Group

The lives and newest work of two California writers were reviewed for the benefit of Modern Poetry section members of the Ebell society Tuesday when Miss Beulah May and Mrs. Robert C. Northcross dealt, respectively, with the recent poems of Hildegard Flanner and Sarah Bixby Smith. The section met in the E. M. Nealley home on Tustin avenue, Tustin.

Miss Flanner's book of poetry, entitled "Time's Profile," was discussed and excerpts quoted therefrom, at the close of Miss May's presentation, while Mrs. Smith's book, "Passer," was more easily interpreted as a result of Mrs. Northcross' sketch of the writer's California upbringing.

Robert Frost's comment regarding the poetry being currently published in America was quoted by Mrs. Northcross in the course of her talk, the latter basing her material upon statements made by the poet at a recent meeting of the University of Southern California Honor Society, which Mrs. Northcross attended.

Members were advised that the next section meeting would be held with Miss Martha Ritchey on East Fadden street Tuesday, November 1.

Guests at this week's assembly were Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, curator of Ebell society, and Miss Katherine Mathews of Houston, Tex., a houseguest of Mrs. W. H. DeWolfe, a member of the section. Members present for the opening were Mesdames S. B. Marshall, leader; Robert C. Northcross, W. H. DeWolfe, M. C. Maloney, Dan E. Maloney, Alice Hill Hatch, Aldrich H. Worswick, Edith Thatcher, Lillian Pritchett; the Misses Beulah May, Vaneche Plumb, Mabel Whitling and Martha Ritchey, and the hostess, Mrs. E. M. Nealley.

Quilting Club Takes Part in Birthday Celebration

A surprise party honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. A. R. Mitchell was given recently by members of the Nimble Thimble Quilting club, who were hostesses in the home of Mrs. O. C. Markwood, 126 South Lyon street.

Mrs. Mitchell and her mother, Mrs. J. H. Thompson, had been invited to the Markwood home for luncheon, and on arriving there found members of the club assembled to take part in the affair. As a special surprise to Mrs. Mitchell, members of the group were working on a quilt which had been placed for her by Mrs. Thompson.

Rainbow hues were in evidence at the table where luncheon was served. There were two birthday cakes, one of which had been baked by Babs Markwood, 6-year-old granddaughter of Mrs. Mitchell.

Those present were Mesdames J. H. Thompson, Laura McNeal, Edna Halloway, Eleanor Fish, Lula Johnson, Helen Humphrey, C. C. Markwood, Virgil Brown, Laura Gongol, A. R. Mitchell, Miss Violet Johnson, Master Dick Markwood and Babs Markwood.

Outdoor Groups Has Gym Session

Members of the Outdoor group held their first gym session in the First Methodist church hall Wednesday morning, after which they went to Irvine park for tennis and other sports. They enjoyed a covered dish luncheon at noon.

Those present were Mesdames R. H. Snyder, Emma C. Wagner, Vera Batum, Clara Walton, Esther Grant, A. A. Moulton, Fred Curran, Clarence Orille, Harry Gardner, Fred White, Edna Machander, R. R. Russick and Miss Clara Richards.

The group will meet again Wednesday morning, October 12 in the church.

First Benefit Party Given by School Group

Holding their first card party of the season, members of the Catholic P-T-A. entertained with a benefit affair Tuesday evening in the St. Joseph school annex. Many autumn flowers were used in decorating the hall for the occasion.

Both bridge and 500 were played, with Mrs. Nick Brook and Dr. P. B. Gillespie scoring high at bridge. Mrs. Davies and S. E. Grotz were consoled. Anthony Kneip and Leo Schmiedeberg scored high and low in 500. Miss Helen Klatt won door prize and Mrs. Urbin Engelmann received a large cake which had been made by Mrs. S. D. Rule.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Members of the committee in charge were Mesdames J. P. Murphy, Urbin Engelmann, A. F. La Gave, William Maag, Herbert Hueskamp and E. J. Vosskuhl.

Choral Club Resumes Stated Rehearsals

Cadman choral club members began their season's work Tuesday night with a rehearsal in Santa Ana conservatory of music, followed by a pleasant social hour with Mrs. E. L. McKamy as chairman.

Members were congratulating themselves upon being able to continue work and study under the direction of William Clare Hall, and his plans for the year were received with enthusiasm. Mr. Hall has had years of experience in directing choral clubs in Chicago, and fitted himself for the work by study in New York and abroad. In Paris he had the advantage of studying with Jean DeReske, one of the world's famous teachers.

Parent-Teachers

Willard
With 72 members attending, the first meeting of the Frances Willard P-T-A. was held Tuesday afternoon in the cafeteria. Lyle Mitchell, principal and Mrs. Grace Lund, vice-principal, welcomed the large group.

A subject of the school curriculum had been posted at each table, with heads and faculty members of the various departments in charge. There the parents had an opportunity to discuss school problems with the teachers. There were nine tables devoted to discussions of administration, general science, English, social science, mathematics, home economics, music and art and industrial arts.

Mrs. T. R. Trawick, president, appointed Mrs. Catherine Marble and Mrs. Mac Robbins to serve on the city P-T-A. food committee, of which Mrs. Merrill Hollingsworth is chairman. Mr. Alvin Novotny, parliamentarian, gave a report on the city council P-T-A. dinner held last week.

Mrs. Hollingsworth announced a course of lectures on "Parental Education" to be given by Dr. Regina H. Westcott-Wiemann each Friday morning from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. in the Willard auditorium. Tea was served at the close of the business meeting.

Newly Wedded Couples Figure Prominently In Recent Party

When Mr. and Mrs. James Ford entertained a group of ten guests in their home on Nineteenth street, Costa Mesa, it not only was the first party which they have given since their recent wedding, but it also served as a farewell to another newly wedded couple, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Gosdin, before their departure for a winter in Arizona.

Mrs. Ford was Miss Eva Vinson of Costa Mesa, and her wedding to Mr. Ford took place in this city less than a week ago. Mrs. Gosdin was Miss Viola Hickey of Balboa, also an early autumn bride.

Friends gathered to compliment the two young couples, enjoyed a buffet supper followed by dancing and cards. Congratulations to all four were interspersed with farewell good wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Gosdin who left Tuesday for Arizona where they will visit Mr. Gosdin's father, an Arizona rancher. Mr. and Mrs. Ford accompanied the travelers as far as San Diego on their automobile trip, and returned yesterday to Costa Mesa.

Bridge Group Resumes Monthly Meetings

Members of the Native Daughters card club resumed their monthly meetings this week when they were guests Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. E. U. Dickenson, North Baker street. Mrs. Herbert Bray assisted in entertaining.

The black and orange of the Halloween season were used in all appointments for the evening. First and second prizes for the card play were won by Mrs. Bray and Mrs. West. Mrs. Ethel Boone was consoled. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Those present were Mesdames Ethel Boone, Lillian Gant, Mildred Gray, Henrietta Smith, Catherine Burns, Marguerite Mize, May West, Genevieve Hickey, Edith Hayward, Eleanor Blythe, Gertrude Elwood, Olive Schafer and Marian Crum, together with the hostesses, Mrs. Dickinson and Mrs. Bray. Mrs. Seba will be hostess at the next meeting of the club, to be held November 15.

DR. DEXTER IN PEACE PLEA AT CLUB SESSION

PLACENTIA, Oct. 7.—At the opening meeting of the Placentia Round Table, Wednesday, Dr. Walter Dexter, president of Whittier college, talked on "Challenge of the World Civilization" to one of the largest assemblies in the history of the club.

Special guests of honor were two members, Mrs. Albert Launer, Southern District president, and Mrs. William McLelland, chairman of Southern district program committee. Mrs. Louis Jacobsen, president, presided.

Mrs. Ralph Irwin was in charge of the luncheon program, and conducted a "beginning with his-links" program. Mrs. Launer talked on "The Way Ahead." The luncheon committee was made up of Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Mrs. E. K. Kirby, Mrs. E. E. Miller, Mrs. Lloyd Pendleton, Mrs. H. F. Bender and Mrs. Gus Barnes. Members of the executive board, Mrs. Jacobsen, Mrs. L. T. Gillilan, vice president; Mrs. W. D. Solesbee, second vice president; Mrs. J. T. Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. Gerald G. Young, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Wallop, treasurer; Mrs. L. A. Nemo, critic, and Mrs. Emily Cuff, parliamentarian, were hostesses.

Robert Brown, accompanied at the piano by Alan Revil, both of Santa Ana, provided the musical program. They were introduced by Mrs. Florence Arnold, chairman of the music committee.

In his discussion, Dr. Dexter declared that "When the people placed a call to the government to do for them what they had failed to do for themselves, they were jeopardizing the cause of democracy; they were sounding the end of democracy," and that the challenge is, "how can the individual succeed without disrupting society, or without hurting other individuals, and how can society progress without stifling the individual."

According to his argument, war is the culmination of all that is worst in society, and the worst of all trespasses against the individual, and the way to adjust that and to make the world safe for the individual and for world civilization is to "de-spiritualize, de-intellectualize, de-socialize war" through proper training of youth.

Dr. Dexter paid high tribute to President Hoover in his talk, declaring that the Kellogg peace pact work is one of the most history-making events of the present age. He pleaded that we keep faith with the youth of the world, and with the soldiers who were in the world war to "make the world safe for democracy."

SUNSET BEACH

SUNSET BEACH, Oct. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Nell spent several days in Hollywood.

Mrs. A. Tucker entertained several friends at her home on Ocean front recently.

Miss Florence Young, of Glendale, and Miss Maxine Durnott, of Surfside, were recent guests of Miss Florence Cresswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nell entertained at a luncheon Thursday. Mrs. J. Lloyd Denny entertained a group of friends at a dinner party at the Rustic Inn recently.

Among those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stasch, T. S. Rlogar, Charles Smith, F. L. Denny, Joe Bush, Ben Friedland, Walter Nettles, Mrs. A. R. Samas, and Miss Nelle Onson.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Oct. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burke who have been residing in the A. E. Moersching house since their recent return from the east, have moved to the house in the McCoy tract owned by Mrs. Alice Chandler.

Mrs. Marie Hare, principal of the Alamitos school, and Mrs. Anna Campbell and Mrs. Mary Thorn-dyke, teachers in the same school, who are of Westminster, attended the county teachers' meeting in Santa Ana Saturday.

Dee Campbell, who has been at home from his gold mine at Randsburg, returned there Tuesday.

Merton Penhall, of Cypress, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Penhall, of this place, visited there Sunday, being out for his first ride since the beginning of his serious illness several weeks ago.

Mrs. Juanita Nelson and her brother, Lamar Montgomery, are enroute to Springdale, Ore., to spend two weeks visiting in the home of their brother, Jim Montgomery, former local resident.

Mrs. Esther Grandy and young daughter have left for Antelope valley in company with her brother-in-law and sister. Her husband will go there later to bring them home.

Mr. and Mrs. Everette Stewart and son, Robert, and Mr. and Mrs. Pate, of Bellflower, spent Saturday as guests of Mr. Stewart's aunt, Mrs. Minnie Trout.

Mrs. Sherman Buck, of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Lilly Shafer Moore, of Wintersburg, visited Mrs. Nathaniel Walton in the J. H. Walton home recently. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith and three children, of Barstow, were entertained as guests the same day in the Walton home.

Mrs. George Abbott is spending several days in Huntington Park with Mr. Abbott's daughter, Mrs. Mattie Wilson.

Edward Arrowsmith and son Ernest Arrowsmith, of Garden Grove, were business callers in Westminster Monday.

Mrs. Mary Johnson, daughter of Mrs. E. R. Bradbury, who became

SWANS DOWN SPICE CAKE

2 1/2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon mace
1/2 teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 cup butter or other shortening

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sour milk
Sift flour once, measure, add soda, baking powder, and spices, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, mixing well; then flour mixture, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased pan, 8x8x2 inches, in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes.

DATE CAKE

(2 eggs)
2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup boiling water
1 cup dates, seeded and chopped
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg white, stiffly beaten
Sift flour once, measure, add salt and baking powder, and sift together three times. Pour water over dates and set aside to cool. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, then flour and date mixture alternately, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Fold in egg white. Bake in greased pan, 8x8x2 inches, in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 minutes. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

PIE CRUST

2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold shortening
1-2 cup cold water (about)
Sift flour once, measure, add salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening until mixture looks like meal. Add water, a little at a time, mixing with knife or spatula until dough cleans bowl of all flour and pastry. Use as little water as possible. Roll dough 1/4 inch thick on slightly floured board. Fit loosely on pie plate. Turn edge and prick with fork. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Makes two 9-inch pie shells.

ORANGE CHARLOTTE

1 package Orange Jell-O
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup orange marmalade
1/2 cup cream, whipped
Dissolve Jell-O in boiling water. Chill until cold and syrupy. Place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Add salt. Fold in marmalade and cream. Pile in sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. Serves 8.

PEACH BAVARIAN

1 package Lemon or Orange Jell-O
1 cup boiling water
1 cup peach juice
1/2 cup cream, whipped
1 cup crushed peaches, sweetened and drained
2 or 3 drops bitter almond extract

Dissolve Jell-O in boiling water. Add peach juice. Chill until cold and syrupy. Place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Add salt. Fold in marmalade and cream. Pile in sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. Serves 8.

1 pound ripened Chocolate Fondant
1 cup Baker's Coconut, Southern Style
Melt fondant in upper part of double boiler, keeping water in lower part just below boiling point. Add coconut, stirring enough to mix thoroughly. Drop from teaspoon on waxed paper. Mixture should be stiff enough to hold its shape. If too soft, cool a little before dropping. Makes 3 dozen drops.

FUDGE FOR MOLDING

To make Chocolate Fudge for Molding, make 1 recipe Chocolate Fudge, cool to lukewarm (110 degrees F.), and add 1/2 cup Fondant. Beat until fudge has lost its gloss and is of consistency for molding. Place in covered container until ready to use. Makes 1 pound 6 ounces.

RELIANCE FUDGE

(Using corn syrup)
2 squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate, cut in pieces
1/2 cup cold milk
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
2 cups sugar
Dash of salt
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
Add chocolate to milk and place over low flame. Cook until mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add corn syrup, sugar, and salt, and stir until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Continue cooking, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 degrees F.). Remove from fire. Add butter and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees F.), then beat until mixture begins to thicken and loses its gloss. Pour at once into greased pan, 8x4 inches. When cold, cut in squares. Makes 15 large pieces.

CREAMY COCOA FUDGE

(Using evaporated milk)
1/2 cup Baker's Breakfast Cocoa
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup granulated sugar
Dash of salt
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup nut meats, coarsely broken
Combine cocoa, sugars, and salt; add milk and water, and place over low flame. Stir constantly until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Continue cooking, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 degrees F.). Remove from fire. Add butter and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees F.), then beat until mixture begins to thicken and loses its gloss. Add nuts. Pour at once onto greased platter and when thoroughly cold, knead until smooth. Pat out into greased pan, 8x4 inches. When firm, cut into squares. Makes 18 pieces.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

Receive Carload of Fresh Haddock from East Coast

The arrival this week of a carload of fresh New England haddock, consigned to Safeway-Wiggly markets in Southern California, is a new record in merchandising was established according to Clarence Dale, manager of all Safeway-Piggly markets in this area.

The fresh fish was caught in the waters of the Atlantic, immediately shipped by refrigerated express direct to California, arriving here in less than five days from Boston.

Noting that there were many requests of visitors to Southern California, who had once upon a time fished for haddock on the East coast to whom the fish was made available to secure this famous New England fish for our markets, and yesterday.

Other markets in Southern California have this fish. Dale explained, as the purchase was made by Safeway-Piggly markets.

Lamb

Our Lambs are strictly grain fed. The cuts are nice and plump—very bright in color, no dark, small, shriveled, tasteless lambs at this market.

Veal

Our Veal is the best on the market—well fed, nice veal color with nice white fat—no half starved, straw fed veal here.

THE TINYMIES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The tin man grew and grew and grew and Scouty said, "I hope he'll do the kindly act we think he will, when he is finally done."

"Our friend, the tinsmith, says his man will carry us. Gee, if he can, we all can cross that yonder stream and set out for new fun."

"Don't worry," said the tinsmith, "you will all be tickled when we're through. I have a can of magic oil that does some wondrous things."

"It's magic never disappoints and when we all the tin man's joints, he'll speak to us and shake his head and move his arms like winners."

"Oh, my, let's hurry," Duncy cried. "I've often had a funny ride, but being carried by a tin man surely will be new."

"His funny legs are finished now, so he can walk along, somehow. It won't take long to finish him, 'cause there's not much to do."

A smile spread on the tinsmith's face. Said he, "We'll put the arms in place and then you lads can trim bright."

"I'll run and get my oil and then I'll join you in your work again. Just looking at our tin man makes me laugh. He is a sight."

Soon Windy said, "Gee, look at that. A funnel is the tin man's hat. We've put the thing on crooked, but it makes him look quite smart."

"A gallon can's his body. Gee, he's just as fat as he can be. I guess we've made him strong enough so he won't fall apart."

The tinsmith came back with the oil and said, "Now, Duncy, do not spoil the looks of our old tin man when you spread the oil about."

"Just oil each leg and then each arm. Use plenty! It will do no harm." Then Duncy oiled as if he knew how, without a doubt.

Charles fed his army with ammunition.

BONERS are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

Lord Clive captured the Fiji Islands in 624 B.C.

In the Elizabethan theatre the men played the ladies' parts and as they had very few clothes it was very awkward and so the girls often became boys.

Trafalgar Square was where the Battle of Hastings was fought.

Napoleon defeated the Marauder at the Battle of the Pyramids.

Turkey, rolling in intrigue and misgovernment, was a crumbling ash overlaid with the cloak of an extravagant luxury indulged in by tyrants who seemed to believe their country could never be squeezed quite dry.

Clara Barton was born in England, and is one of the most famous women America has produced. (Copyright, 1932, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

HOME OWNING—REASONS WHY

Realization that one gains nothing by renting; the thrill of ownership; the real desire for a home; protection against the next depression which is sure to follow; investment. More families have started on the road to financial independence through home ownership than in any other case of labor and material are low, making this an excellent time for home building. Select your choice home site along Flower, Holliston Drive, either north or south of 19th St., where your investment is protected and sound. Planning and financing can be arranged in this or other locations as we build any where. Watch for the Orange and Yellow signs.

REGISTER BREAKS RECORDS SANTA ANA A FOOD CENTER

This week the Santa Ana Register breaks several records. These records have to do particularly with food advertising.

In the first place, we have a larger amount of food advertising in one day (today) than we have had in any other day in the whole history of this publication.

In the second place, we have had more food lineage this week than in any week in the history of The Register.

In the third place, it is probable, according to the best figures that we have, that The Register will hold the national record for food lineage among the six-day-a-week papers. There will be more than one million lines of food lineage in The Register during the year.

Considering the times, The Register has carried a fine amount of other lines of advertising. But Santa Ana has become one of the food selling centers, or in other words, one of the best places to buy foods in all of the country. Because of the quantity sold in Santa Ana markets, it can be sold at a smaller margin than in any other community, certainly, in the county. And as a consequence, for money-saving purposes, there are an increasing number of people from the entire county who come to Santa Ana to buy their foods, and incidentally to trade along other lines.

This specialty in food service aids every other merchant in the city, because there are very few buyers who drive into Santa Ana, who confine themselves to any one line of purchases.

We want to congratulate the merchants of the city on the manner in which they have specialized in this work, so as to attract the customers.

We would say to the customers throughout the county that you will find Santa Ana merchants ably equipped to serve you in every respect, and eventually we may have a strong reputation in every other line as we have in foods. We are glad to know that The Register is serving the merchants and the buyers in aiding toward bringing them together in such a mutually profitable way.

INSULLS FUGITIVES

Samuel Insull, the great public utility king of Illinois, is a fugitive from justice somewhere in Europe, and his brother, Martin J. Insull, is in a jail cell in Ontario, awaiting orders for extradition to Chicago.

The Insulls for many years have been tremendous financial, and the leading political factors in Illinois, and particularly in the city of Chicago. They pyramided their business enterprises and securities, through control of many corporations and influence with financial institutions, until it toppled over, ruining thousands of people, and from the situation the Insulls fled.

It is probable that they will have to meet the trial, and should Mr. Insull be forced to live in a country from which he cannot be extradited to this country, this will be punishment. To be banished from your own country, or as in this case your chosen country; to be unable to meet your neighbors and friends; to realize that you can never set foot again on the land you love, seems to us would be greater punishment than to return and face whatever had to be faced in the city of Chicago.

Our business interests in this country are being tried by fire. Many well-regulated, well-conducted and sound institutions have been forced to the wall. Those which have been unwisely, and certainly those which have been criminally run, are meeting or have met their doom. Surely there should be lessons learned from these years of experience that will be valuable for all the days to come.

People have been inclined to believe in the wizardry of men, and to doubt their own minds in considering financial conditions. But these kinds of miracles do not occur. Our shrewdest men, and those who have the best reputation for long-sightedness, fall like others for the expert salesman.

COL. RAYMOND ROBINS STILL UNLOCATED

It is very remarkable that Raymond Robins, who vanished completely on his way to an appointment with President Hoover, has not yet been located.

Another remarkable fact about it is that there is so little agitation in the country concerning it. Mr. Robins was a nationally known figure. He was a noted religious leader, a well-known progressive, and a man of considerable political power.

He suddenly dropped out of the world of human kind, and about what efforts are being used to locate him, or to learn the reason for his disappearance, there has hardly been a line that has been put on the wires of the country. His wife appealed to the President for help to locate him. We note she is to be the guest of the President and his wife at dinner.

Mr. Robins made a constant and valuable contribution to modern interpretation of religious truth. It hardly seems possible that a man like him could drop out of known existence, with all the means of information and communication that we have in this country, and the disappearance would be as complete as if he dropped alone from an airplane in the midst of the Pacific. If he is alive, where is he? If he has been done away with, why?

HOOVER'S SUCCESS IN DES MOINES

According to the best information, it appears that Hoover's meeting and address at Des Moines was a great success, from a political point of view. The strategy was wise; the courage to go into the farm belt at this time was magnificent, and the reaction has been better than the party leaders had hoped.

We note there is a suggestion made that he may make one or two more trips. The President showed a fighting spirit. He has a personal consciousness of having done his duty. He does not believe that anything more could have been done, and he is aroused over the insinuations and suggestions that some other plan would have been better.

According to general belief, he has a long way to go. But many a national election has been won in the last two weeks of the campaign.

JIMMY WALKER WRITES "FINIS"

Well, Jimmy Walker withdrew his name from the New York City Democratic convention as a candidate for Mayor in the interest of party harmony. He declared the party was bigger than he was. We are not greatly surprised at this confession. Though we would be surprised if he had announced such a decision if Tammany had been in favor of his running for reelection. We can hardly believe that he came to this conclusion of his own volition. Somebody must have told him.

But anyway, he is out, and instead of nominating McKee, they nominated John P. O'Brien. Well, we Irish are anxious to have them keep it in the family anyhow.

Businesslike Doctoring Needs Ethical Advertising

The San Bernardino Sun

Edward A. Filene, the Boston merchant, wants to apply business methods to the medical profession. It is not doing itself justice, he thinks, and is not reaching enough people. The doctors don't get enough income; the people don't get enough service. The medicals have a first-class product to sell—health. They should organize and sell it.

"If the great number of people who doctor themselves could be led into the habit of professional medical care," says Filene, "cost of treatment could be reduced well within the means of the average family; medical care as part of the family budget would be stimulated; families would be able to pay their doctor bills promptly; the medical profession would be placed on a more sound financial footing; American industry would benefit by untold hundreds of millions annually, and billions of dollars would be eliminated from the economic waste of the nation."

It is not doing itself justice. Let them organize and go to it. And if they are going to make a real business of selling their stuff, they'll have to advertise—ethically, of course.

National Merits That We Should Not Forget

The Riverside Enterprise

An American girl, returning from a lengthy trip abroad, announces that it's grand to be in a country.

Where they give away matches;

Where a private bath is the rule, not the exception;

Where you can speak the language as well as the waiters;

Where the taxi drivers reply "Okay" instead of bursting into a long and unintelligible harangue;

Where ice cream doesn't taste like cornstarch pudding;

Where it doesn't require a conference with the manager and chef to get orange juice for breakfast;

Where the mattresses are not stuffed with hay and cornstalks.

Yes, there are still a few things to be said for the poor old U. S. A., even in its present plight.

Moby Dick and the Airplane

San Francisco Chronicle

Shades of Moby Dick! The United States Department of Commerce has granted a pilot's license to Harry Olsen, a harpoon gunner who is now on his way to Cape Town, where he will install his folding-wing plane on the deck of a whaler. Shooting whales from the sky is something old Captain Ahab never dreamed of.

Had airplane whaling been invented in Ahab's time he might have saved his leg. But American literature would have lost one of its greatest romances, Christopher Morley would have missed the fun of leading its revival and John Barrymore of playing the leading role in two film versions. It is just as well that progress doesn't move too fast.

They Who Get Spanked!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE DRAWBACK

I should like to try conclusions with a tiger,
And to chase the snarling creature up a tree;
I should like to choke and kill a
Seven-hundred-pound gorilla,
If so massive a gorilla there may be.
I should like to stand unarmed upon an ice floe
With a large and evil-tempered polar bear,
And to make him cringe and cover
Till I had him in my power
By employing a prolonged hypnotic stare.

I should like to dive beneath the tropic ocean
Where the octopus and barracudas lurk,
And to cause to reel and stagger
With my keen and trusty dagger
A morose and man-devouring two-ton shark.
I should like to loot the eyrie of an eagle,
Or some equally ill-tempered bird of prey,
And, despite his indignation,
Make him bow in resignation,
Cease from screaming, and abjectly fly away.

In my heart abides a love of stern adventure;
I am keen for every bold and daring deed;
I would love to run the chances
That abound in the romances
Which have always been my chief delight to read.
With a thirst for every form of mortal combat,
Every feat of derring-do have I been dowered;
I'd achieve a reputation
That would ring throughout the nation,
If it hadn't been that I was born a coward.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Nor are prize fighters the only ones made popular by their ability to take it. Look at the microphone.
Well, Mr. Roosevelt, if all trading must be given full publicity, give us the low-down on that one with Mr. McAdoo.
Japan's land grabbing makes us madder every time we try to think of that silly name she gave Manchuria.
Ignorance isn't such a bad thing. It's the only thing a man ever has that he's completely satisfied with.
Another objection to birth control is that you'll have nobody to look pop-eyed in 1960 when you say: "Back in 1932 I could of bought—"

IF HE CAN GET UP AT 3 A. M. AND BEGIN A LONG DRIVE WITHOUT A GROUCH, HE IS A FISHERMAN.

Still, if the Chicago Cubs hadn't bet on the naughty horses, they might have won the pennant too easily and killed all interest.

Dr. John Dewey says facts can't be put in a glass case. For that matter, it seems almost impossible to put them in a law case. It doesn't surprise us to learn that undisguised bandits entered a New York bank. A few like that managed a New York bank for some years.

AMERICANISM: Telling ourselves the dole would break us; giving more to vets in one year than England spent on the dole in eleven years.

People once fled from a drunk when somebody yelled: "He's got a gun in his hand." And now they aren't afraid even when he has a steering wheel in his hand.

If a woman forgives a man's past, it's because she loves him; if a man forgives a woman's past, it's because he doesn't care a darn for her.

A good fellow is one who gives others the money his children need because they beg for it and his children don't.

A MAN DOESN'T REALLY LONG FOR A CHILD.
HE JUST WANTS HIS WIFE TO QUIT TREATING HIM LIKE ONE.

It's funny how a man's religion can make him kind and courteous to everybody except his own household.

It isn't hard to be a financial wizard. You just hunt up a few thousand suckers and offer them something for nothing.

In the old days a man who made a million was fixed. Now he has to make another million for the Government before he has anything to keep.

If it wasn't for his car, many a poor farmer couldn't reach the place where his kind are meeting to demand relief.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "HIS WEALTH WON'T MAKE HIM A SOMEBODY." SAID THE GOSSIP. "FOR SOCIETY NEVER WILL FORGIVE HIM FOR STEALING IT."

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

HUMANIZING RELIEF

It is hard to keep any human enterprise human.
When we organize a venture we tend to formalize and freeze it.
This has always been true of charity.

I am quite aware that of the amazing advance that organized charity represents over the old intermittent individual giving at the street corner or the back door.

Nevertheless we have always to fight to keep organized charity human and warm, a force to foster rather than frustrate the self-respect of the needy.

Now, of all times, in this time when want gnaws at the hearts of millions, we need to keep red tape at a minimum and to make every effort to keep our gigantic processes of relief warm and human and helpful.

The other day the press carried the story of a man of 75 who went to a hospital for help.

Examination showed that the pain in the stomach, of which the old man complained, was due to a lack of food.

"You need food," the hospital authorities said.
And they proceeded to send the old and starving man to a charity organization.

When he arrived at the charity organization headquarters, the old man cut his throat and his wrists.

He was rushed back to the hospital.

"You didn't want me yesterday," he said to the doctors. "Now maybe you'll take me this way. I've no job, no folks—nobody left. Why should I care?"

I am quite aware that there must be some organization and some regulations and that books must be kept. I happen to have a large hospital under my executive jurisdiction. I know that a hospital cannot always play soup kitchen to every wayfarer.

I wonder, however, if the hospital's question had followed its diagnosis of the pain in the old man's stomach with a bowl of warm soup before sending him to a relief agency, whether this particular tragedy might not have been prevented.

Men are losing more than their jobs today; their self-respect and human dignity are all too often being endangered.

Let's keep our relief processes as direct and as human as possible.

THE SILENT HOUR

Did you ever notice how big a part silence played in everyday living? If you live in a big city you will laugh at me. Silence is not so noticeable there. If you live in the country, or if you were born transplanted to a city, you will understand.

The dawn comes silently. There is a deep stillness in that early hour, deeper than that of midnight. Usually the stars seem chatty at that hour and the moon is positively loquacious. But the dawn is still. Then along about middle day there comes a hush. The chickens lie quietly under the lilac bushes, the cat naps in the sun. The cows lie under the trees. It is rest hour. Everything in nature understands how to keep silent. Only people keep on fussing and fuming and refusing to rest, or to be still.

We need to be still. Every one of us needs to observe a period of quiet during the day. When one is working hard it seems difficult to get even five minutes of quiet. Sometimes it is impossible. That does not do away with the need for it. If one keeps the idea in mind the chance comes. It is important that we take it when it is offered.

Go by yourself and keep still. Don't even try to find something to think about. Let your mind be as blank as it will for five minutes or so. After that thoughts will come and it is best not to fight against that but to devote one's energy to controlling the thoughts and making them the kind that will stimulate courage and effort. If you can't keep discouraging thoughts out of your mind long enough to feel rested, have a little book of meditations handy. Pick your own. I like Boswell's Johnson, Pepys' Diary, any good anthology. Just a paragraph, an anecdote, a prayer, a line of thought. And silence.

I thought about this because, as I go through schools, I hear people working loudly. I feel the pressure of work and of eager hurried minds. I long for a moment of silence, a quiet period, when the teachers and the children can be still and listen to themselves as they talk to themselves.

I know a successful teacher who arranges her program so that every Wednesday shall be a quiet day. She speaks no more than is absolutely necessary. She will make a gesture rather than speak. The lessons go on in quiet, each child working for himself. This is possible because the class is ungraded, but couldn't the graded classes have set periods for silent individual work?

Mothers need a period of quiet daily. It is better to stop work at a fixed time, or as near it as you can manage, and go by yourself and keep quiet than to keep on going, keeping on working, talking, thrashing around the world until you fall into bed. The quiet will restore your body and refresh your mind. If it can be only five minutes, make it so. By and by you will discover how to lengthen the period with benefit to yourself and the family.

Teach little children to stay by themselves for a part of each day and so lay the foundation for this quiet hour. If you do not introduce him to himself in this way he is likely to feel lost unless surrounded by a sea of noise filled with splashing people. Quiet is as necessary as action. Try to acquire it, especially in these hard days.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

YANKS WIN IN ARGONNE

On Oct. 7, 1918, Americans won a hot battle for possession of the north end of the Argonne forest, taking Chatel-Chierry and the commanding positions on the Aire.

The British advanced on a four-mile front north of the Scarpe and captured Oppy and Blache-St. Vaast.

The French took Berry-au-Bac and a French naval division entered Beirut.
